THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

ESTABLISHED 1875

VOLUME 65 — BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY — THURSDAY, JANUARY 9, 1941 — NUMBER 31

GROWERS FAVOR MARKETING PLAN

OF COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATION OF BURLEY PRODUCERS—PLAN CALLS FOR COOPERATIVE SELLING.

One hundred twenty-five tobacco growers attended a county meeting Tuesday at Burlington to discuss a Cooperative Tobacco Marketing Association, according to H. E. White, County Chairman. Growers present favored the signing of the marketing agreements of the Cooperative Association of Burley Producers.

The marketing contract calls for the cooperative selling of the crops of its members in connection with the present auction system. Those grades bringing parity prices will be sold, while those grades not bringing a parity price would go into a growers' pool with the Government making a cash advance based on a three-fourths of parity non-recourse loan to the producer. If the association later sells the tobacco placed under the government loan for an advance, the grower will receive the advance less handling charges.

Speakers on the marketing program were G. P. Summe, Marketing Specialist of the University of Kentucky, Judge Mullins and Senator Paul Sidebottom, of Grant County.

A number of contracts were signed at the meeting. Additional contracts can be secured at the County Agent's office at Burlington or from local committeemen.

EXTENSION OF DIXIE HIGHWAY

IS PROPOSED BY HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT—WOULD BE CONSTRUCTED EAST OF FLORENCE.

Kentucky State Highway Department engineers were making surveys Tuesday of a proposed extension of the four-lane Dixie Highway from Elsmere in Kenton County, around Florence to a junction with U. S. 42 in Boone county.

The work, being done under the direction of District Engineer Marion D. Ross, is being planned to cut out numerous "dog-legs" on the tree-lined road through Florence. Present plans call for the new route to bear east from the present end of the four lane highway and pass 100 feet to the east of Florence.

It would then curve to connect with U. S. 42. The Dixie Highway U. S. 25 will run south, and U. S. 42 west from that point.

With the co-operation of property owners in providing rights-of-way the new section of the road will be constructed this year, according to reports.

A black-top surface will be placed on the Dixie Highway between Florence and Richwood.

A SAFE PASSAGE

It is surprising that, due to the war, we have not felt a more decided lack in imports. It is only natural to have to conserve, to put into reserve, or perhaps do without entirely, those things which come from lands engaged in war. There are a great many imports that have been reduced in quantity, many articles that come not at all and a great deal that have found their way here. But do we stop to wonder what might happen to our spice trade, whether we would soon do without pepper and cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg. The ancients usel to put their sailing boats around the Cape of Good Hope and so across the Atlantic, as this was a successful way to ply their spice trade. And so today, this same route is used to bring us our spices. There is a safer route on the Pacific side from the Dutch Indies, through the Panama Canal to New York, whence cometh 85 percent of our spices. So far the passage has been in safety and consequently the spice prices are moderate. However, a Boone County reader reminds us that during the World War there was a shortage of sage and the wholesale price of it reached 65 cents a pound. Sage is one of the few herbs that is a bit difficult to get today. All of this talk dealing in spices and herbs brings tales of adventure to our mind as the imagination deals with a boat sailing around the Cape laden with nutmegs and cinnamon, ancient days of slaves and whaling vessels, cat-o-nine-tails, pirates and pieces of eight.

BE QUIET

An acquaintance remarks, "so many people dying of heart trouble." We comment and forget all about it as we hurriedly go on with something or other. Always there is something or other and pretty soon the tired body and exhausted heart just stops doing something or other and we go into print as a lesson for someone else who won't heed the warning. Why can't we relax and take care of this inner self by allowing it a quiet time once in twenty-four hours! Surely we can commune with ourselves once a day for a brief interval. Our hearts wouldn't be so overworked and weary if we would take some time to pay attention to this inner self. They tell us our pace is so rapid that our heart isn't able to withstand the strain. How anxious is the business man to keep his office in running condition. The housewife works to keep her home in order. We all wash our bodies that we may be clean and all the time fail to keep order within ourselves. Being so busy doing something or other we haven't time to just sit and think. Let us begin tomorrow to give ourselves a quiet time and if we want to sit and think of courage for the day, blessings to be wrought or just not think at all—that will help the heart and the spirit of man.

JUST A-WONDERING

You never take time to wonder what one hundred years will bring to your world, you are so busy trying to keep up with the one of today. Think back of what has been given us in the last hundred years and you are compelled to visualize for the future. It was the beginning of the developing of photography and quite a sensation there was! Today the photo is one of the most common of sights and almost every home has its own camera. Will the airplane bring oblivion to the railroad track as man and mail fly from here to everywhere? Will it put the auto where the horse is today? A strain on the imagination perhaps but you can even picture yourself coming back in phantom shape to Boone County and finding they had repaire and paved streets and sidewalks, torn down unsightly billboards, erected neat mail boxes and cleaned up the alleys. You can't tell what a hundred years will do!

—o—

A STARTER

So you want to develop your personality? A wise man says to get up as soon as you awaken and to be wide awake when you do get up. This will be difficult for the fellow who doesn't get going until after his morning cup of coffee. We are advised to start the day with a smile, and as wise as it may be, it is often difficult to squeeze out anything so cheerful until about noon. As a good day-starter, say something nice to the wife or the maid. Don't start in with the cheery words to the maid and run out of them when you get to the wife. There is sound sense in breathing deeply the good, fresh air into the bottom of the lungs. This is something easy and we will try that. But there will be many a man who won't bother about developing personality.

—o—

GOOD FOR RADIO

We remember when there were plans made by radio chains to give the listeners of America the chance to get the war in Europe by taking them into the very thick of things. They interrupted regular broadcasts by flash news which was exciting and sensational. This quited down. We are glad that nothing further was done to bring Boone Countians to the front-line cries. But radio has gone far to carry to its listeners a vivid picture of the situation and has played a prominent role in informing us of experiences thru contact with individuals. You can be well read through your newspapers but you miss the tone of the voice, the eloquent words of kings and prime ministers. It brings the halting words of children speaking to parents on English soil, of personal interviews with people in air-raid shelters in underground London. No picture can photograph, no newspaper edit, what the radio brings in human spirit of reliance and courage.

—o—

BLOOD AND THUNDER

When we are so aware of war you wouldn't think that the reading public would choose mystery stories for relaxation. This is true however, according to public and rental libraries over the country. The most sought after book is the one of mystery and intrigue and detectives. The earth may shiver with threats of bombs but that doesn't keep the lover of mystery from grabbing the latest edition of crime and horror. Due to increased interest in this type of story the field is drawing better writers and higher grade books. To keep the reader enthralled to the last page something beside murder must be offered, and that is technique. Speaking of books we have an opportunity to insert a plug for journalism. There are a couple of splendid books on the current best-selling list that deal with the country editor and the small-town newspaper.

—o—

SOUNDS GOOD

The Board of Motion Picture Reviewers has made a point of recommending films that will "stress social behavior and idealism of our youth." They desire future pictures to deal "powerfully and artistically with the challenging social problems." There is a step forward in the film field. Great strides have been made to provide the public with fine pictures. There is criticism of the number of state boards of motion picture censorship who suppress films without just cause. The picture industry has its place in forwarding movements, be they of bringing nations closer, of national defense, or influencing the youthful mind. America strengthens her home ties through uniting people in the common bond of amusement and education. Boone County supports the betterment of social conditions and the lifting of American ideals through the film.

INSPIRATIONAL

There has not been a single day since the world began when the sun was not shining. The trouble has been with our vision.

It isn't true that money makes a fool of everybody, but it does give a man an excuse to display his true self through a medium of exchange.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

CHRIST'S VALUATION OF PERSONALITY

LESSON TEXT—Luke 14:1-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?—Matthew 6:25.

People, people, and more people! Have you ever said, "I'm just so tired of people. I wish I could get away from everybody"? Most of us have felt that way some time and have possibly needed and deserved a rest. We must not permit that feeling to so color our thinking, however, that we lose our interest in men and women, boys and girls.

Jesus had His times of prayer and quiet communion with the Father, but for the most part we find Him out among people. He loved them and consequently dealt faithfully with them, showing tenderness to those who needed it, and often being severely plain and direct in dealing with those who were hypocrites. He valued human personality highly, hence He gave Himself in sacrificial devotion to winning, guiding, controlling and, above all, saving men.

The lesson presents some interesting contrasts.

I. How and How Not to Use the Sabbath (vv. 1-6).

Jesus was at a formal gathering with invited guests (v. 7) in one of the chief houses of the community, on the Sabbath Day. That such a gathering was held on that day was a sign of the degeneracy of the age. "The same thing is being done on Sunday by Christian people today. They go to church (if convenient) in the morning and devote the afternoon and evening to recreation and social" occasions. We agree with Dr. Morgan that "the whole thing is a sign of spiritual decadence." That's how not to spend the day of rest and worship.

Another wrong thing was that they used the occasion to try to entrap Jesus. He was at the feast, not to "have a good time," but to minister to their spiritual needs. They brought the sick man in to tempt Jesus to heal on the Sabbath Day. He used their trickery to condemn them and to silence them (vv. 4, 6).

Declaring God's truth and His love for man by worship and by work for Him—that is the right way to use the Lord's Day. Let's get back to its proper observance.

II. What and What Not to Do for Advancement (vv. 7-11).

Getting ahead, even at the expense of others, seems to have been quite the thing in our Lord's time, as it is today. Looking at that smug, self-satisfied crowd of "grabbers," Jesus made good use of His presence at the feast to expose their folly and selfishness. Again we agree with Dr. Morgan that one should not "try for the chief seat. Why not? Because the place of honor is for the honorable man; and a man who struggles to sit in the place of honor proves thereby that he is not an honorable man." Think it over!

The way up in spiritual things is always down. Humility, which is so despised by the world, is precious in the sight of God, and will be rewarded by Him. The principle stated in verse 11 is and always will be true. The young man or woman who really wants to get ahead will do well to let it control both thought and deed. It is a far better rule for the New Year than any resolution you may have made—and probably forgotten by now.

III. Who and Who Not to Invite for Dinner (vv. 12-14).

Is the Lord interested in such a matter as that? Indeed He is! Everything about life concerns Him, and, as a matter of fact, this is a very important point. Here an attitude toward life is revealed which is vital and fundamental.

Hospitality is a virtue highly regarded by the Bible (see such passages as Rom. 12:13; I Tim. 3:2; Titus 1:8; I Pet. 4:9). To debase it by asking only those whom we expect will ask us in return, is really to destroy it. It is not hospitality at all to limit our invitations to those who invite us. Obviously we are not to cut them off simply because they do ask us. That is not the point. We are not to let that be the controlling factor.

Ask those who cannot pay you back, if you really want to get a blessing out of it. There is so much need in the world that we who follow Christ have little time to spend merely entertaining those who have no need. God will recompense. Dr. J. W. Bradbury in The Gist of the Lesson well says, "There is a good reason not to seek recompense here; there are more enduring and valuable recompenses hereafter (Matt. 6:1-6, 16-18). When we get no recompense here for the good we do, we ought rather to rejoice than be sad. It assures better recompense hereafter."

He goes on to say, "The professing church has often followed the world's method rather than Christ's (James 2:1-6)." Sad—but true. What shall we do about it?

Folks have stopped asking what we are coming to and only want to know—when.

We insist upon knowing the facts and then refuse to believe them.

The Foot Comfort Counselor

Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S FOOT COMFORT
9th and Madison Covington

The average person takes about twenty thousand steps a day. That's nearly eight miles, so good feet are necessary to you too.

To show you how important they are, let's renew a little anatomy. The human skeleton contains 208 bones. Each of your feet is made up of twenty-six bones. In both feet . . . fifty-two bones, or one fourth of all the bones in your body. Nature meant your foundation to be a pretty important part of you. When your feet hurt, you hurt all over because your nervous system, like a telephone system, is all inter-related.

When you cramp nerves in your feet, the pain may be felt by reflex nerve action at knees, hips, and even in your back. For instance, there's a story told about a certain famous doctor whose patient complained of a shoulder pain. The doctor could find nothing wrong with the shoulder so he asked the patient to sit down and take off her shoes. He then proceeded to manipulate the delicate bones of her feet, much to the lady's disguest. Said she, "There must be something wrong with you doctor, my feet don't hurt, it's my shoulder."

To which the doctor replied, "Yes madam, but when you step on a dog's tail, which end barks?"—Adv.

CARE OF FUR

With a fur coat, or coller and cuffs of fur that are soiled, get white corn meal and brush it thru the fur—as the fur grows. This brushing will clean it very well . . . If your fur piece is very soiled, and you wish to run the risk of gasoline, take your fur piece outside and with a clean cloth dipped into the gasoline, rub fur well. Brush the fur finally with a whisk broom and permit to air until no odor remains.

Florence Girl Wins Place In Important Volume To Be Published

Miss Mary J. Tanner, Florence, Ky., is one of the authors whose poems are included in Poets of America, 1940, Democracy Speaks, a 700-page volume just published. More than 12,000 poets living in every part of the United States and Canada competed for a place in this important volume; only a small percentage of these were found to write poetry of sufficient merit to be accorded a place in the book. The volume contains the work of little-known authors as well as that of writers who have been published in many magazines and books. A similar volume is now being compiled and poets who are interested in having their work considered for the new book should write to the publishers for information: Avon House, 1107 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

Home Visits Made By County Health Nurse

The Boone County Red Cross Nurse spent most of the time during December making home visits to parents of school children in regard to corrections of physical defects found when schools had health inspection.

Besides the regular work for January the Red Cross will assist any or all schools in the county with the Blue Ribbon Program, as outlined by the State Department of Health.

This will require considerable detail, and in order to do a good job, the backing of parents, teachers, Parent-Teacher Associations, and all concerned is needed.

The High Cost of Getting Well

Within recent years much has been said about the high cost of getting well. After giving this problem a great deal of study, we have devised a simple plan whereby the patient may get the best health service at a very nominal cost, without sacrificing any laboratory tests or x-rays which may be necessary in his particular case.

We shall be glad to explain this plan in detail if you will call at this office.

SATURDAY

Keeping abreast of the times is one of Hollywood's major endeavors. With war abroad the main topic of conversation from breakfast to midnight snack, it is only natural that the film city turn its attention to producing flix with the present conflict as the theme.

The property list for such pictures as Paramount's "Mystery Sea Raider," featuring Henry Wilcoxon, Carole Landis and Onslow Steven is typical.

The script didn't call for it but, while Tyrone Power was leading a team of oxen through a swamp for an outdoor scene in Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "Brigham Young," by Louis Bromfield, he suddenly dropped out of sight.

Featured in "Brigham Young," which stars Power, are Linda Darnell and Dean Jagger.

COMPLETION OF TRAINING PLAN

DRAWING NEAR — CLASSES IN CONNECTION WITH DEFENSE PROGRAM WILL BE HELD.

An effort is being made to complete plans for classes in mechanical classes in connection with the defense program sponsored by the United States Government. The following courses are offered: Electricity, Maintenance and repair of motors, etc.; metal work, shaping both cold and hot metal; wood work, emphasizing form work and carpentry; automobile mechanics.

Any young man between the age of 17 and 25 years, is eligible to take any of the courses offered. The courses are free, as all the expense is borne by the Government.

It requires a minimum of ten persons to organize a class. If you are interested in any of the above named courses, send in your name and state your preference of courses giving a first and second choice. If there are more enrolled for any course than can be cared for at one time a new class may be started at the end of eight weeks.

We are in need of instructors in some of these courses. If interested in instructing some of these class, please get in touch with some member of the committee.

This project is under the direction of the Board of Education, assisted by a citizen committee. The teacher of Vocational Agriculture, Mr. Jas. R. Huey, will supervise the work. The committee is composed of H. R. Forkner, Courtney Kelly, and A. E. Stephens. Send your registration to D. H. Norris, Superintendent of Schools, Burlington, Ky.

Farmers Urged To Plan 1941 ACP Practices

Farmers should make all possible headway on their 1941 Agricultural Conservation Program this winter and plan ahead for carrying out soil-building practices in the spring in order to get the work done before the end of the 1941 program year on June 30, 1941, Mark Cook, chairman of the Boone County Agricultural Conservation Association, advises.

With the earlier closing date this year, farmers will not be able to defer their conservation work under the 1941 program until after harvest as they have under previous programs.

Spreading of lime and phosphate and seedings of legumes and grasses in late summer and fall this year will not earn credit under the 1941 program, Mr. Cook points out; therefore a larger perventage of the soil-building payments must be earned this winter and spring.

Most farmers in Boone County have already carried out some practices in their 1941 programs. He suggests that farmers top-dress meadows and pastures with lime and phosphate this winter or get these materials on their farms ready for application on spring seedings.

Boone County farmers have ordered 200 tons of limestone and 396 tons of superphosphate for use in the 1941 program, and he advises other farmers who plan to use these materials to order them now in order to avoid delays because of seasonal rush.

Mr. Cook also points out that plans should be made now for spring plantings of forest trees and other practices which require materials not now on the farm.

Conservation And National Defense To Be Discussed

The problems of agricultural conservation and their relation to the general welfare of the nation and national defense will be the theme of discussions at the agricultural conservation section of the annual Farm and Home Contion at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture on January 30, Mark Cook, chairman of the Boone County Agricultural Conservation Association, said today.

Five discussions of these problems by state and national farm leaders are planned for the session. In addition, he said, a part of the session will be devoted to general discussion by those attending. M. D. Royse, Winchester, Chairman of the Kentucky AAA Committee, will preside at the meeting.

At the morning session, opening at 9:30, Professor George Roberts of the Kentucky College of Agriculture will speak on "Conservation of the Land and National Defense;" John D. Craddock, member of the State AAA Committee, will discuss relations between "The Farmer and the Business Man;" and "Problems of Agricultural Adjustment Created by the War and Our National Defense Program" will be outlined by O. V. Wells of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

In the afternoon Karl Olsen of the National Defense Commission, Washington, will present some observations on "The European Situation and Its Relation to American National Defense," and O. M. Farrington, state executive officer of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, will talk on "American Agriculture's Contribution to the Defense of Democracy."

BEN FRANKLIN

February is celebrated as a month of famous birthdays, but January 17 is as an anniversary of a figure that is perhaps as noted as Washington and Lincoln. This man was Benjamin Franklin and like Lincoln was a self-made character. He achieved the heights in the scientific and inventive world, was a noted humorist and through his tactfulness, served his country as a diplomat in England and France. His name is linked in each American school-child's mind with the famed Constitution of the United States and the issuing of the Declaration of Independence. His hand in those was to calm and smooth the differences involved over the formation of both. Franklin as a legislator had his own ideas for a government. He sponsored a plan, in the beginning, for a seven-year presidential term with no re-election and also, no salary for the office of president. He was for one legislative chamber. These facts of Franklin's political life are perhaps not as well known as his "Poor Richard."

He did not stir his people with speeches as did Lincoln, but he issued great wisdom in proverb form that is quoted as benefitting modern life as was true many years ago. "It is hard for an empty sack to stand upright" and "If you want to know the value of money, go and try to borrow some" represent the man Franklin, who knew people, for he was one of the masses.

MANY MORE BIKES

With many automobile factories turning to the manufacture of war materials, there comes into conversational circles the subject of transportation and from there we hit upon the topic of the increasing revival of the bicycle. As many Boone County residents realize, more bicycles are manufactured today than in the days of the tandems. But back in the gay '90s they didn't have the present day traffic problem to cause such a disturbance and commotion. In fact, there is such inconvenience in some cities over the bike that they enact laws to govern the situation. Ohio has two large cities trying to iron out traffic trouble by making ordinances that permit children under 14 to ride on the sidewalk. The older cyclists are ordered to remain in the street within five feet of the curb, except when passing vehicles. They must move in single file in the direction of traffic. Cyclists must observe traffic laws that also govern the auto driver. There are schools that instruct the bike rider in road conduct. This sort of school is effective in reducing accidents. There is a court which tries bicycle cases and sentences offenders. Parents are often called in to impress them with their responsibility in the cyclist traffic problem.

IT'S OVER NOW

Fortunately there was no great need of urging every non-citizen living within Boone County to comply with the law of the U. S. which required every alien within this nation to register and be fingerprinted during a four-months period. That drive has ended and those who failed to obey are subject to a thousand dollar fine. Surely there would be no reason for overlooking this law, as wide-spread notice as was given concerning it. If a man should very deliberately keep from registering, then we are anxious that he be hunted and punished, for the advantage of securing the protection of Uncle Sam is premium enough for the small amount of inconvenience of registering at the nearby postoffice. The non-citizen who cares so little for this country should not have a claim upon it. The total number of registrations is slightly over 5,000,000 and far surpasses all estimates. America is truly a haven for all nationalities.

"THANK YOU"

It helps to instill a sense of appreciation in the young by having them write "thank you" notes to aunts and uncles and cousins. Few children like this and will think of many excuses to avoid doing it, in fact don't we all? But we oldsters in Boone County appreciate receiving these notes and cherish them as a mark of progress of this youthful member and marvel at such handiwork at such an early age. We tuck the note away and welcome the opportunity of showing it off to our friends as an example of how smart the children are, in our family. But if we want to impress upon the childish mind the fact that receiving of gifts calls for notes of appreciation afterwards, we must first set them an example!

DOES FORD PAY GOOD WAGES?

HERE ARE SOME FACTS about Ford Labor.

During the year ended November 30th, 1940, the Ford Payroll throughout the United States averaged 113,628 hourly wage earners, not including office employes, students, or executives. They were paid $185,105,639.12. On this basis, the average annual wage was $1,629.05.

According to the latest available government figures, the annual average wage of all workers in employment covered by old age insurance law was $841.00.

If the 45,000,000 workers of this country received the same average wage as Ford employes, they would have had additional wages of more than $35,000,000,000, thus increasing the national income about 50%. Think what such an increase would mean to the workers of this country and to the American farmer, whose prices are based on the national income.

Wage scales in the Ford Rouge plants are divided into three classifications:

Unskilled . . .
Minimum hiring wage . 75c per hour

Semi-skilled . . .
Minimum hiring wage . 80c per hour

Skilled . . .
Minimum hiring wage . 90c per hour
Higher wages are in consideration of ability and years of service.

Minimum wage scales for unskilled labor at the Rouge plant are the highest in the industry. Top wages for skilled labor compare favorably with, or are higher than, wages in other automobile plants.

Now some facts on Ford labor conditions:

Not only are sanitation and other health conditions the best in the industry, but Ford also leads in safety devices for the protection of employes. Proof of this is found in the following comparison of compensation insurance costs:

The national average rate in automotive manufacturing plants as computed by the National Association of Underwriters is in excess of $1.50 premium on each $100 payroll. The Ford cost of workmen's compensation is less than 50c.

This indicates that the chance of injury in a Ford plant is much less than in the average automobile plant.

The Ford Motor Company has no age limit for labor, and in fact deliberately attempts to keep older workers working. The average age of Ford workers at the Rouge and nearby plants is 38.7.

A recent check-up shows that nearly one-half the workers at these Ford plants were 40 or over, falling into these age groups:

25,819 between 40 and 50
14,731 between 50 and 60
3,377 between 60 and 70
417 between 70 and 80
12 between 80 and 90

In addition to the so-called regular employes, the Ford Motor Company has hired, and now has on the payroll, at the same regular hourly wage, thousands of workers who are blind, crippled or otherwise incapacitated for normal productive work. They are not selected for their ability to build cars or to maintain the plant. They are on the payroll because of Henry Ford's belief that the responsibility of a large company to labor goes beyond the point at which the unfortunate worker can no longer produce profitably.

The above are facts. They are open to anyone who really wants to deal in facts. Anyone who wants to get a job . . . buy a car . . . or place a national defense contract on the basis of fair labor treatment must place Ford at the top of his eligible list.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for January 19

THE SLIGHTED INVITATION

LESSON TEXT—Luke 14:15-24.
GOLDEN TEXT—Come; for all things are now ready.—Luke 14:17.

Actions speak louder than words. What a man says is important, but it is his life which determines whether we accept his words as true. In spiritual things men have too often professed to follow Christ but failed to do His will. It is the business of the church to press home the necessity of an acceptance of Christ as Saviour which also makes Him the Lord of our life.

I. Pious Words (v. 15).

We do not know whether the man who said, "Blessed is he that eateth bread in the kingdom of God," was expressing the sincere longing of his heart or merely making a bit of pious conversation. Jesus had just been dealing with some rather disconcerting matters (vv. 1-14). On such occasions there is usually someone on hand to spoil the effectiveness of the admonition by uttering some religious platitude which will direct conversation into more comfortable channels.

Even though the man was sincere, he had evidently not made any preparations to be present at that great feast. This appears from the story Jesus related in response to his words.

II. Poor Excuses (vv. 16-20).

It is not enough that we know that God has prepared a place of blessedness, nor does it suffice to speak approvingly of God's invitation to come; we must accept. God graciously bids all men to come; but all too many, while willing to admit the desirability of coming and admiring it as the ideal thing to do, begin to make excuses.

Observe that the men gave excuses, not reasons. There is a great difference. Note also that the excuses were poor ones. One had a new possession—a field—which he "must go out and see." The second had a business matter to care for—trying out oxen he had bought. The third had a personal affection he wanted to foster—a new wife whom he could not leave.

The fact is that none of them wanted to come, and these were but excuses. What man buys a field without seeing it, or oxen without trying them? And we agree with Dr. Morgan that the one who had married a wife "was the most foolish of all. Why didn't he take her with him? Just excuses." Reader, what excuse is keeping you from accepting God's invitation?

III. Urgent Invitations (vv. 21-24).

Those who reject God's invitation hurt only themselves, for He will find guests to fill the banquet hall at the marriage supper of the Lamb.

Let us not fail to observe that it is the duty of the Lord's servants (and that means every born-again Christian) to be diligently about the business of urging men to respond to God's call. Let us beware that we do not miss that point by uttering some pious platitudes about soul-winning, and then failing to do anything to reach others.

It is the first business of every Christian who reads these lines to be engaged in personal soul-winning. If you want to do it and do not know how to start, I shall be glad to send you free, a copy of "Lessons in Soul-Winning," by Dr. Will H. Houghton. The important matter is that we get busy giving out these urgent invitations.

It is the first business of the unconverted to accept that invitation. Dare you refuse? In one of his last meetings in Kansas City, Dwight L. Moody graphically portrayed the invitation referred to in our lesson. In closing his message he pointed to the wall of the auditorium and seemed to be writing out a reply to the invitation. He first wrote a note declining, the final words being, "I pray thee have me excused." He said, "Would you sign that, young man? Would you, mother? Would you come up to the reporter's table, take a pen and put your name down to such an excuse? I doubt if there is one here who would sign it. It is a loving God inviting you to a feast and God is not to be mocked. Go play with the forked lightning, go trifle with pestilence and disease, but trifle not with God."

Must Have His Spirit

A young Italian boy knocked one day at the door of an artist's studio in Rome, and when it was opened exclaimed: "Please, madam, will you give me the master's brush?" The painter was dead, and the boy, inflamed with a longing to be an artist, wished for the great master's brush. The lady placed the brush in the boy's hands, saying: "This is his brush; try it, my boy." With a flush of earnestness on his face he tried, but found he could paint no better than with his own. The lady then said to him: "You cannot paint like the great master unless you have his spirit." So it is with us in the Church today; if Christians have not the Master's spirit they cannot successfully carry on the Master's work.—F. M. Townley

USHA AIMS AT LOW RENTS FOR FARMERS

New farm houses now under construction by County Housing Authorities with USHA funds will have exceptionally low rent.

USHA Administrator Nathan Straus has announced that the average rent for five-room rural houses will be about $70 a year. The farmer-tenant can lower this figure by performing maintenance work for which he can get a credit of $10 a year.

The rural houses will be wired for electricity and will have provision for the future installation of plumbing. Each house will be on sufficient ground to provide a large kitchen garden.

TIMELY TIPS

Inspect dahlia bulbs stored away for the winter. If they seem dry or shrivelled, sprinkle them with water . . . This problem of hard butter for spreading bread can be solved by heating a bowl thoroughly and turning it over the butter. This softens the butter for satisfactory spreading.

Children's Feet

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S FOOT COMFORT
9th and Madison Covington

I want to talk to you about your children and shoes they wear.

Maybe you never realized that the wrong shoes could be the cause of nervousness in your child.

I say "It is the duty of parents, school teachers and family physicians to help bring stability and strength to nervous systems."

Symptoms of nervousness in children are often forerunners of organic disease. From the physician's standpoint ONLY there are many things that make us nervous. The most important are: 1. Wrong diet. 2 Over fatigue, and 3. Poor posture. Let me repeat the last and most important, POOR POSTURE, because you cannot have good posture unless your feet are fitted with proper shoes.

We all know how important posture is to the physical and mental development of a child. At home we teach our children to stand straight, to sit straight and to walk straight . . . that is we TRY to teach them how important it is. But sometimes, do you find that you are constantly reminding Billy or Mary to "SIT UP"—or "STAND UP STRAIGHT—" almost to the point of nagging and even to the point of scolding.

If your child has poor posture—and it seems hard for him to remember to stand straight—I suggest that you take a look at his feet. And remember, when you want to scold him for drooping, that the child is no more responsible for his posture than for the food he is given to eat. There is some reason WHY he isn't standing straight and that reason may be weak, poorly constructed shoes that do not properly support body weight.—Adv.

HEBRON (1885)

Expecting to see something in our last week's paper concerning the Christmas exercises at Hebron, and being disappointed, and feeling that something out to be said, I send this report:

The exercises were announced to begin at one o'clock, and by 11 the people commenced coming, and by 1 o'clock the church was well filled, and by the time the exercises commenced every available space was occupied. It was 1:15 when the superintendent arrived, and after some necessary arrangements, the bell was tapped and the the house immediately came to order, when the superintendent read the programme which was disposed of as folllows:

The exercises opened with the Banner song, requiring two cornets and an organ in connection with the school. It was well rendered and heartily applauded.

Walter Crigler displayed considerable eloquence in his declamation, A Misspent Life, and it was well received.

We Come With Smiling Faces, a song by the girls of the intermediate class, was loudly applauded.

Miss Lila Rouse's essay, Home, was read in a very impressive style, and was highly appreciated by the audience. This essay was followed by the song, Who Is This That Cometh? by the school.

The dialogue, A Walk in the Cemetery, by Misses Octavia Rouse and Rosa Utz, was very interesting.

The Hope of Israel, a song by a class of young ladies, received a generous applause.

Sensitiveness, a declamation by Miss Eva Riddell, and To Be Shorn declamation by Master Albert McGlasson, were delivered in the best of style.

A very entertaining exercise was the double quartette, Misses Hattie Tanner, Minnie Crigler; suprano, Lewis and Charles Crisler; tenor Robert Rouse; bass Walter Crigler; alto, Miss Nina Crigler.

The remainder of the program as well as I remember it was a duet by Miss Lila Rouse and Mrs. May Graves, declamation by Willie Crigler, vocal and instrumental music by Mrs. Florence Graces, the Three Graces, represented by Misses Alice Quigley, Stella Dye and Kittie Tanner, a song by an infant class, followed by a song by 9 Misses dressed in white, each singing a verse of the song, Until His Kingdom Come. Gov. Henderson, mounted on a chair that he might be seen and heard, got off his speech splendidly. Miss S. A. Crigler president at the organ with grace and ease, while the cornets added much to the exercises. After the collection, the Christmas Tree was unveiled by S. J. Rouse and Walter Crigler, at which time Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus arrived, and singing the song, the Beautiful Xmas Tree, Mrs. Santa Claus at the organ, the distribution of presents was commenced and required about an hour, when the exercises closed, and was one of best it was ever our lot to witness. May the Hebron Sunday-school live long and prosper.

CHARLES H. CRIGLER.

ABOUT OYSTERS

Instead of the usual ways of cooking oysters, vary the dish by creaming the oysters and serving them over toast, or better than that, over rusks that are buttered and toasted. A cabbage salad goes well with such a dish.

The New Year National Defense Need

Getting the skilled men needed for National defense jobs continues to be one of the greatest problems of the new year for the Civil Service Commission. Thousands were appointed during 1940 but thousands more are going to be needed during the coming year at the arsenals and navy yards and in the air service. Toolmakers, instrument makers, and machinists are especially in demand, and they are especially necessary to the National defense program. Among others also urgently needed are: Aircraft instrument mechanics; aircraft mechanics; metalsmith (aviation); coppersmith; lens grinders; loftsmen; ordnancemen (torpedoes); shipfitters; and ironworkers (shipfitting duty). If you are skilled in any of these trades, and want a Government job, write to or call for information at the office of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners at any first or second-class post office. You may also learn about these jobs by consultinug the notices posted in the third-class post offices.

Just this week one of our customers was billed for an account paid by check on our bank a month ago. The matter was promptly adjusted by presenting the canceled check. Remember Way Back When...

—cooking involved long hours over a hot and cranky cast-iron stove that needed constant tending?

—the weekly washing was a back-breaking day-long session with tubs and scrub board?

—ironing was done with heavy sad irons that were heated on the stove and were always too hot or too cold?

—housecleaning was a dusty ordeal with broom, dust pan and carpet beater?

That is the way life was lived in a big percentage of American homes as recently as 25 years ago. In those days, housekeeping was a wearying round of toil that began at daybreak and ended only at bedtime.

Today, things are different. Thanks to electricity's tireless hands, the woman of today is no longer a slave to round-the-clock drudgery. Her electric range cooks meals automatically. Her electric washer does the laundry quickly and effortlessly in a fraction of the time required by hand methods. Her electric iron, vacuum cleaner and food mixer make short work of what were formerly tedious, arm-wearying tasks. Her electric refrigerator safeguards the family food supply and her radio brings entertainment at the turn of a dial.

In less than half the span of a lifetime, electricity has completely transformed American home life. It has brought the American homemaker comfort, convenience and leisure that make her the envy of the entire world. And, although it has steadily widened in usefulness, it has steadily decreased in cost. To enjoy its manifold contributions to better living, the average family pays less than the price of a pack of cigarettes a day.

IN MEMORY

Of Lou Early who passed away at her home in Petersburg, Sunday December 1st, 1940.

She has gone, Oh we shall miss her
For she was a friend indeed;
Every ready to help others,
Anyone who was in need.

Was some mother sad and lonely,
With a burden hard to bear?
She was always here to help her
With kind words of love and cheer.

Did a wayward boy need someone
Who to his rescue ever came?
She would always stop to help him
Bear his cross with all its shame.

Her life was filled with deeds of kindness,
She always tried to do her best;
Ever scattering joy and gladness,
And many hearts her life has blessed.

O, yes, she's gone, but still she's living
In loving hearts she has left behind;
Hearts of those her life has gladdened,
For she lived to help mankind.

O yes, she's gone, but she's still living
In that land so bright and fair;
And praise the Lord our blessed Saviour,
We soon shall meet here over there.

We will not say that death has claimed her,
She's with her Saviour over there,
She's one more loved on those to greet us,
When we are called to "cross the bar.".

W. G. Estes.

It is flattering to say that a girl is as pretty as a Christmas package.

RYLE BROTHERS STORE ROBBED

THURSDAY NIGHT — LOOT IS ESTIMATED AT $100.00—ENTRANCE GAINED BY FORCING LOCK ON FRONT DOOR.

Thieves broke into the Ryle Brothers store, Rabbit Hash last Thursday night, taking approximately $100.00 worth of merchandise. The thieves gained entrance to the building by forcing a lock on the front door, after having broken a window in the side of a storeroom which was locked from the inside.

This was the fifth time the store has been robbed in as many years, being robbed in 1936, '37, '38 '40 and 41. Each time the management has reported considerable loss.

Loot consisted of auto tires, shoes, cigarettes, money, overalls and other small items.

No clue as to the identity of the culprits was found, upon investigation of Boone County authorities. It was reported that a finger-print expert had been employed, in an effort to trace the thieves.

State Farmers Get Early Start On 1941 Program

Kentucky farmers had ordered 75,669 tons of lime, 479,368 pounds of vetch seed and the equivalent of 72,806 tons of 20 per cent superphosphate as conservation materials from the AAA for use in the 1941 Agricultural Conservation Program up to December 31, the State AAA office announces.

Phosphate requests had been received from 117 of the 120 counties in the State for materials to be spread on new and old seedlings of legumes and grasses. Limestone requests, representing only a small percentage of the liming materials to be used in the 1941 program, came from 39 counties.

The vetch seed, distributed for winter cover crop seedings last fall, were supplied to more than 5,000 farmers in 58 counties of the State.

Mark Cook, chairman of the Boone County Agricultural Conservation Association, reports that both limestone and phosphate are still available to farmers in the county as conservation materials for use in the 1941 program and that orders should be placed soon because the 1941 program closes on June 30.

Record Sale Of Seals Reported By R. V. Lents

All reports of sales of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals are not in, but all records for sales in Boone County have been shattered, according to R. V. Lents, Seal Chairman. All schools in the county, both public and parochial, took part in the sale of the seals. Many individuals were mailed blocks of seals, and this proved successful reports Mr. Lents. The portion of the net proceeds that is left in the county will aid in keeping the county nurse. Many other county organizations contribute to this cause.

R. V. Lents, Executive Secretary of the Boone County Protective Association, an organization of Boone County schools, thanks, thru the columns of this paper, each and every school that took part in the campaign, the Recorder and Advertiser for their many columns of free publicity, and last but not least, those hundreds of civic-minded citizens who purchased the little bright colored stamps.

Each and every worker in the seal campaign gives his services free, and all it costs to conduct the campaign is for prizes given to school children making the most sales, stationery and postage.

Word was received from Carl Hunt, of Englewood, Kans., stating that he has been released from the hospital and is improving.

Farmers May Receive Credit For Forestry And Strip-Cropping

Many farmers in Boone county may be able to receive credit for contour strip-cropping and forest stand improvement as soil-building practices under the 1941 Agricultural Conservation program provided approval of such projects is secured before they are carried out, Mark Cook, chairman of the Boone County Agricultural Conservation Association, announced today.

Detailed instructions for carrying out such practices in an approved manner are now available at the county office of the association.

Contour strip-cropping consists of maintaining alternating strips of close growing crops on the contour with strips of cultivated crops. The close growing crops are grasses legumes and small grains which tend both to check the rate of flow of surface water and to filter out of it the soil particles which have been carried from the cultivated land above. Width of the strips should vary with the slope of the land, ranging from 80 to 300 feet wide, Mr. Cook pointed out.

In the case of the forest stand improvement work, the woodland should be managed so that there will be a young undergrowth of sprouts, seedlings, saplings and pole size trees as well as older trees at all times. The trees must be protected from fire and grazing, he stated.

Farmers who wish to carry out these practices for credit under the 1941 program must receive approval before the practices are carried out, and should call at the county office for further details.

CLOSING DATE FEBRUARY 1ST

FOR FILING APPLICATIONS FOR 1941 TOBACCO ALLOTMENTS FOR NEW FARMS—LIMIT OF ONE ACRE SET.

The closing date for filing applications for 1941 tobacco allotments for new farms is February 1, 1941, Mr. Cook, chairman of the Boone County Agricultural Conservation Association announced today.

Mr. Cook pointed out that "new tobacco farms" are those on which no tobacco of the type for which an allotment is request was grown during the five years 1936-40, and that the acreage available for establishing 1941 allotments for these farms is only one-half of one per cent of the national allotment for each type.

In order to be eligible for an allotment for 1941, the operators of these new farms are required to show that the following conditions have been met:

(1) That the farm operator has had two years or more experience during the past five years in growing the type of tobacco he proposes to grow on the allotment.

(2) That the farm operator lives on the farm for which the allotment is requested and that he is largely dependent on it for his livelihood.

(3) That the farm is the only tobacco-producing farm owned or operated by the applicant.

(4) That no kind of tobacco other than the type for which an allotment is requested will be grown on the farm in 1941.

Other factors which will be used in determining whether an allotment is to be established for a new farm are capacity of curing barns on the farm, acreage of cropland suitable for growing tobacco, rotation practices, and adaptability of the soil to tobacco.

No allotment exceeding one acre will be established for a new farm, he said.

APPLICATIONS ARE NUMEROUS

FOR MATTRESSES UNDER KENTUCKY RURAL MATTRESS PROGRAM — WILL REMOVE COTTON SURPLUS.

Boone County has received a large number of applications for mattresses under the Kentucky Rural Mattress Program, according to Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home Demonstration Agent. Eligible applicants will probably also be eligible for cotton materials to make comforts under the program.

There has been some question as to the dollar to accompany the applications. This is the only cash expense to the applicant. This fee goes to purchase needles and equipment not supplied by the Surplus Marketing Administration.

The purpose of this program is threefold: To remove a burdensome surplus of cotton material, maintain a satisfactory price level for cotton, and most important, to improve the health and comfort of a large group of people.

Those cooperating in the program not only help the Southern cotton farmer but learn the principals of mattress and comfort making and secure for themselves home equipment of the highest quality.

All farm families with gross incomes of $600.00 or less for a family of four up to $1,000.00 or less for a family of 12 are eligible to apply. Non-farm families are also eligible under the program. Applications should be filed with the Home Demonstration Agent's office in Burlington, not later than February 10th.

FARM LOAN ASS'N. HOLDS MEETING

AT BURLINGTON COURTHOUSE SATURDAY—SAME OFFICERS ARE ELECTED FOR ANOTHER YEAR.

The annual meeting of the Boone County National Farm Loan Association was held at the Court House in Burlington last Saturday afternoon, January 18th.

For the past few years the Association held all-day meetings with a lunch served at noon, but due to such a small percentage of the members attending these annual meetings it was decided this year to dispense with the all-day feature. Several members were in attendance Saturday and an interesting meeting was had.

The same officers and directors were re-elected except that Ira M. Tanner was elected a member of the Board in the place of John H. Grimes who was no longer eligible to serve as a director.

The association regretted to lose the services of Mr. Grimes, who had been a faithful and interested vice president of the association for several years. The members feel that in Mr. Tanner they have made a wise choice as Mr. Grimes' successor.

The Board organized by electing E. A. Martin, president; B. E. Aylor vice president; A. B. Renaker, secretary-treasurer; with Mr. Martin, Mr. Aylor and Thomas Hensley as members of the Loan Committee and Karl Rouse and Mr. Tanner members of the Alternate Loan Committee.

The association is in class one, with a large reserve as a safeguard against any future losses on loans. More loans were paid off than were made during the past year.

The association is servicing $602,800.00 Federal Land Bank loans, $259,200.00 Commissioner loans and $22,258.87 purchase money loans, making a total of $884,258.87 loans in force.

THE AMERICAN PRESS
"For Over Fifty Years"

THESE YOUNG DRIVERS

In Chicago, safety bureau statistics show that young drivers in the various age groups, are involved in from seven to three times as many fatal accidents as drivers of mature years. This is a figure for thought and when you see that 16 year-old drivers have nearly seven times as many fatal accidents as those of 30 years, 17-year-old drivers have 4 times as many, 18-21 about 3 times! There is an improvement after the age of 30 and until you reach the 48 mark. From there on more accidents occur. Those older drivers of 65 years have as good a record as the ones of 27. This alters the idea of many a Boone County man who felt that youth was better than age behind the wheel. When you learn that most of the youthful accidents happen because of speed, you pray for the wisdom of age to prevail with the youth and give him either not so much freedom with the family auto or limit his use of it depending upon his conduct while he handles it. Too many parents are heedless of their children who go scooting over the country-side at a lightning pace, plied into a car where rides hilarity with caution stuck back with the spare tire. A hold must be kept upon them, a rein to keep in check the reckless spirit that speeds to sudden death. What difference if the child bemoans his fate as hampered and suppressed by tyrannical parents, for not giving way. Some day, when he grows to manhood's estate, with own problems to face, will he recognize why Dad was such an old fogey and Mother was such a fuss budget.

SOUNDS ENCOURAGING

The usual predictions for the fresh year are heard to right and to left. Dire in many cases, the uplift comes with the facts of increased advertising, a happy outlook for farmers, a high rate of activity for industry and this sounds good to any ear full of drastic economic news voiced by many. The consumer buying, the producer advertising, is slated as a fine thing for the country weekly for 1941. Whatever the economic changes that are wrought, we hope that the prediction of the "biggest advertising year in the history of the newspaper business," made by a name prominent in the advertising field, is true. But in this business, as in every other way of drawing dividends, you can't sit back and expect this increased business to simply fall into the lap! We editors must work together with the advertisers in every community and figure out the good for both of us as well as value to the consumer.

CHRIST'S CONCERN FOR THE LOST

LESSON TEXT—Luke 15:1-10.
GOLDEN TEXT—The Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost.—Luke 19:10.

Lost! What fear and disquietude grips our hearts when we hear that word! A little boy strays away into the forest, and the whole countryside gives up its work to go and seek him. An airship fails to reach its destination, and hundreds of ships go to seek after it, while an entire nation waits in suspense. A ship is lost at sea, and the whole world grieves.

But listen! It is only when applied to the spiritual life that the word "lost" finds its real depth of meaning. To be "without God in the world" (Eph. 2:12) and without hope—that is to really be lost. Yet parents who would not rest a moment while their child was physically lost go on without concern over his spiritual condition.

Our Lord had no such unconcern. He was deeply moved over the lost condition of men; He came "to seek and to save that which was lost." The two parables of our lesson teach us three truths.

I. Lost and Lamented (vv. 1-4, 8).

The publicans and sinners recognized their need of a Saviour and He, knowing their lost condition, received them, much to the disgust of the Pharisees and scribes who felt no need to be saved. They have their descendants in our churches today.

The good shepherd cannot rest while one of the sheep is lost. Though "there were ninety and nine that safely lay in the shelter of the fold," he sought the lost one. His grief-stricken heart compelled him to go out into the night to find him.

One wonders how we who profess to follow Christ, the Good Shepherd, can be so complacent about the lost. What if we do have the ninety and nine in church—where is the lost one? Even if we do have a large Sunday School class—where are the boys and girls who are lost? Do our hearts grieve over them? If so, we will go and seek them. We who would quickly join the woman in seeking for her coin—will we join the Saviour in seeking the lost?

II. Sought by Sacrifice (vv. 4, 8).

The woman laid aside her usual duties and the pleasures of life to seek her coin. The shepherd left the warmth, the comfort, and the rest which he had earned to go out into the wilderness to seek his sheep.

"But none of the ransomed ever knew
How deep were the waters crossed;
Nor how dark was the night that the Lord passed through Ere He found His sheep that was lost."

Soul-winning calls for sacrifice. If the love of Christ constrains us, we will do it gladly, but if the self-seeking, comfort-loving spirit of this age controls our lives, we will always find some excuse (not a reason, but an excuse).

III. Restored With Rejoicing (vv. 5-7, 9, 10).

The lost coin back in the owner's hand brought joy to her and her neighbors. The shepherd calls in friends and neighbors to rejoice over the restored sheep. How intensely human that is, and how altogether appropriate.

The great truth, however, is found in verses 7 and 10, where we learn that the repentance of one sinner sets even the bells of heaven ringing as the angels of God rejoice.

How long is it, my Christian friend, since you caused such joy by permitting yourself to be used of God in winning a soul? Yes, I know that it is God who seeks, but He uses human beings as His messengers, as His seekers. That is our first business after we ourselves have been saved.

Our lesson will not be complete unless we consider the rest of the chapter—the parable of the prodigal son. In its main points it is like the other two parables, but there is this vital difference—the shepherd sought his sheep, the woman searched for her coin—the father did not seek the son; the son sought the father.

Some prodigal, far from the house of his heavenly Father, may read these lines and say, "I wish someone would seek me out and bring me to God." But, my friend, you need not wait for anyone. Do as the prodigal did—"arise and go" to God. He is waiting for you; His love has never faltered; He wants you to come now. Make His heart rejoice, and set the choirs of heaven singing, by coming to Him by faith—just now.

As Ye Go, Preach

And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils; freely ye have received, freely give.—Matthew X: 7-8

Remove gloves and rinse well in clear water, the same temperatures as that used for the washing process. Hang up dripping wet and if you have one of the wire forms sold so inexpensively these days, you will have the fingers formed. FARMERS PLAN BETTER PROGRAM

BY COOPERATING IN "LIVE-AT-HOME" PROGRAM—CONSERVE ALL RESOURCES URGED BY COUNTY AGENT.

Boone County home economics and agricultural organizations are making plans for cooperating in a "Live at Home" or better farm living program for 1941, according to Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home Demonstration Agent, and H. R. Forkner, County Agent. A county meeting on this program will be held at Burlington Tuesday, Feb. 4th.

The health of its people is a nation's first line of defense. Of paramount importance in maintaining health is good nutrition. A well planned home food production program is essential to an adequate diet for Kentucky farm families. Hence, the importance of a strong live-at-home program as part of a National Defense program.

The outlook for 1941 emphasizes the necessity of conserving all resources as part of a national program of preparedness for whatever may develop from fast changing world conditions. One of the best ways for the family to conserve its cash resources without sacrificing health is to produce, store and preserve its food supply which represents the largest single item of expense in family living.

The greater farm use of better living promises to be of greater importance during the next few years. This will be not only for National Defense but for a greater net cash income for the farm. Surveys in nearby counties show that the farm food supply alone supplied from 22 percent of the net income in a profitable year to a total of 59 percent in a year of less favorable farm prices. The food supply represents only one source of increasing the income by greater use of the farm products produced.

OFFER SUGGESTIONS FOR LAMBING TIME

The following suggestions are offered in Kentucky College of Agriculture circular No. 346, "Lambing Time."

Every ewe capable of nursing a lamb should be made to raise one; if not her own, one of a ewe that has died or that has more than one.

Make separate groups of ewes with twin lambs, as they require more feed.

Creep feed the lambs from the time they will eat, at least until plenty of grazing is available.

Dock all lambs and castrate all lambs not intended for breeding, before they are three weeks old.

Push the lambs to the earliest possible market. They should weight 80 to 85 pounds in 100 to 120 days.

All non-breeding or unproductive ewes should be culled and sent to market.

What in the world is THAT?

BACK in the dark ages, before electric cleaners were invented, people used to hang their rugs on a line and belabor them with instruments like this—imagine!

In those days, cleaning a rug was a morning's work for a reasonably husky man, but today the daintiest woman can clean a rug in 10 minutes without exertion at a cost of less than one cent.

And so it is with other household tasks that formerly took so much of a woman's time and strength. Today, they are done electrically in less time with less effort at a cost that is measured in pennies and fractions of pennies per day.

And as more and more electricity has been used in the home, the cost has come steadily downward. Today, the average customer of this company receives 53% more electricity for his money than in 1930.

Your electric switch is your "open sesame" to comfort, convenience and more leisure time. And electricity is so cheap you can afford to use it freely.

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Into a world gone mad with war and hate, Lum and Abner of radio fame bring a simple story, packed with the humor and peace of the Ozarks, to their millions of fans. Playing the two kindly old storekeepers of Pine Ridge who have become so beloved, Lum and Abner make an attention-demanding screen bow in "Dreaming Out Loud" for RKO Radio.

When they take the affairs of Pine Ridge into their own hands to straighten out, Lum and Abner let themselves in for action and excitement. Frank Craven, the town's only physician, becomes their first problem. The unselfish old doctor has broken down in caring for the people around Pine Ridge.

Frances Langford, the postmistress, and Robert Wilcox, the young son of Frank Craven, are concerned, too. They are in nove, but Craven's ill health and the firm and bitter antagonism of Clara Blandick, Frances' aunt prevent their marriage.

Lum and Abner enlist the aid of Bobs Watson, Frances' small brother, and Irving Bacon to bring the affairs of the friends to a happy ending. Yet they are forced to track down a ruthless hit-and-run driver, act as the "hands" of paralyzed Frank Craven to save the life of Bobs Watson, and to raise funds for a mobile hospital unit for Pine Ridge before their problems are finally solved.

SATURDAY

You can cook or you can act, but you can't do both in Hollywood. Such was the discovery of beautiful Katharine Aldridge who is featured in "Girl From Avenue A," the Jane Wither picture.

The gorgeous 20th Century-Fox actress had been keeping house for brothers Bill and John, but when studio officials heard about her culinary efforts an order to desist was immediately given out by Director Otto Brower.

Katharine explained the situation like this:

"Its not that they don't trust my cooking, but so many times minor burns and injuries that every cook undergoes hold up production on a picture. Director Brower said that he would be glad to try my cooking, but that the studio couldn't afford to take a chance while the picture is in work."

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Ever since the success of "Naughty Marietta," her first co-starring musical with Nelson Eddy, Jeanette MacDonald has held to the superstition that her cast names should start with an "M" or "N" in order to bring her luck. Once again in "Bitter Sweet" she has an "M" name, her role being that of the Victorian belle, Sarah Millick. The star was Marietta in "Naughty Marietta," Rose Marie in the film of that title, Mary Blake in "San Francisco," Marcia Morney in "Maytime," Nina Azara in "The Firefly," Mary in "The Girl of the Golden West," Gwen Marlowe in "Sweethearts," Mary Hale in "Brodaway Serenade" and Marianne in "New Moon." When "Sweethearts" was written, she found that her original cast name was Gwen Arden, so had it change to Gwen Marlowe.

PHOSPHATE HELPS TOBACCO INCOMES

An application of superphosphate improved both yield and quality of tobacco on the farm of Ray Thompson in Larue county, according to County Agent Frank G. Melton. Where 400 pounds of phosphate and 200 pounds of complete fertilizer were used on an acre, the yield was 1,689 pounds and the price was 20 cents a lb. Where only complete fertilizer was used, the yield was 1,319 pounds on an acre and the price was 15 cents a pound.

A HAT BOX

A subscriber suggests a handy way to take care of large hats in large boxes. She has a rather high shelf where she keeps the box. She slit one end of the box at each corner, top to bottom. The pushing up of the lid permit the front to drop down and you can withdraw your hat without removing the hat box. Paint a design on the front piece and you have a decorative accessory.

Feet And The Law Of Tissue

N. TULCH

Foot Comfort Specialist at—

PEOPLE'S FOOT COMFORT

9th and Madison Covington

There is a natural law constantly at work in the tissues of the human body. We must understand that bone, muscle and nerve consist of millions of ever changing tiny bodies called cells. These cells are held together with the tissue fluids and substances of the body.

Therefore bone, muscle and ligament respectively share the influence of this law, that constant tension causes wasting especially in the feet when the body weight which they carry about and support is not evenly distributed and balanced throughout the twelve major bones of the foot framework.

If ligaments are stretched, due to long and careless standing especially—those which bind the weight—supporting and key bones together, these ligaments finally yield in about the fifth or sixth year to strain and abuse and pull away from the bone attachments.

The rest which the night affords is not enough to counteract continuous strain during the day.

This same law holds true of the muscles and tendon attachments of the feet which lift the body weight on the metatarsal heads or pivots. On the other hand, constant pressure causes wasting of tissue.

If the muscles do not hold the weight-bearing joints of feet in proper dovetailing and interlocking action, these joints become deranged, misshaped and deformed because of the pressure of the body weight upon their point surface.

When we consider that we drive hundreds of tons of aggregate weight into the twelve major bones of each foot every day that we live it is easily understood why feet degenerate.

Can you be well with unhealthy feet? Those headaches, those backaches, those leg pains may be caused by the shoes you are wearing.—Adv.

Here's a little thought taken from the Young People's Weekly:

"He Had A Friend"

Elizabeth Barrett Browning, the poet, was a great admirer of the novelist Charles Kingsley. One day she asked him, "What is the secret of your life? Tell me, that I may make mine beautiful also."

Thinking a moment the beloved old author replied, "I had a friend."

MOSAIC RESISTANT TOBACCO STATEMENT

Because of wide-spread interest in the new mosaic-resistant strains of burley tobacco developed at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, the following statement has been issued about their value for general planting.

These mosaic-resistant strains were tested through the cooperation of the Extension Service of the State College of Agriculture on about 200 farms in Kentucky in 1940. All of those strains tested proved highly resistant to mosaic and to black root-rot and appear to have produced a fair quality of leaf. Several of the strains proved highly susceptible to leaf scald at least two of them produced short upper leaves and tough suckers.

While some seed of these varieties is being advertised for sale, it is done on the entire responsibility of the person selling the seed. The Experiment Station does not recommend the use of any of the strains so far tested by farmers except in cases where mosaic has been a problem on the farm every year. In some of these cases the mosaic-resistant tobacco has proved superior to the ordinary tobacco because of freedom from the disease.

POULTRY HELPING OUT IN ELLIOTT

How poultry is helping out in Elliott county, Kentucky is revealed in a report of County Agent Edgar Rice. Twelve years ago there were just small farm flocks of grade chickens in the county. Now well-bred layers are contributing $120,000 a year to farm income, and poultry ranks ahead of tobacco in point of financial returns.

In 1929 County Agent Rice helped 4-H club members obtain 1,200 chicks. Four brooder and four laying houses were built, and the county agent and specialists from the State College of Agriculture advised with the club members in regard to feeding and general care.

The 4-H club members demonstated to farmers that chickens pay when given good care. Year by year flocks increased in size and number. In 1936 approximately 100,000 chicks were bought by farmers in Elliott county. The number then dropped, as good flocks were developed, but about 50,000 chicks are purchased every year to replenish flocks. Many farmers receive $300 or more a year from the sale of eggs and chickens, according to Mr. Rice.

In 12 years, a total of 393,500 chicks have been taken into Elliott county, 140 standard laying houses and 177 brooder houses built and 34 houses remodeled. A total of 219 flocks have been blood-tested for the production of hatching eggs.

WELFARE ASS'N. IS ORGANIZED

BY CITIZENS OF WALTON FOR GENERAL WELFARE OF COMMUNITY—OTHER ORGANIZATIONS INVITED TO TAKE PART

Citizens of Walton and surrounding territory, have organized a Community Welfare Association, are uniting their efforts to promote a program that will be to the general welfare of the community.

The purposes of the organization are as follows:

1. To provide a board that will act as a clearing committee for all applications for assistance that is presented, to individual citizens or organizations.

2. To investigate and decide the needs, and the extent of aid to be given in each separate case.

3. To give aid, on a basis of willingness to work, save in emergencies. The individual in the association, representing the group which received the request for aid will act as an investigator of the case involved.

4. It will be the policy of the association to attempt to provide work, of some type, for all aid given.

The association shall include in the program, aid to such community interests, as Boy Scouts, Girl Reserves, and any other worthy cause which presents itself.

Serious problems of Community Welfare have presented themselves to individual and groups. This has been especially true in recent weeks. Inability to meet them individually has caused citizens to unite their efforts. Such efforts will enable to better solve existing problems as well as those arising in the future. The aim of the organization is also to find a preventive for cases that doubtless will present themselves in the future.

No doubt the public will feel the gravity of the situation and will support this effort to adjust such an organization to the needs of the community.

All civic, religious and fraternal groups are urged to become a part of the association. Any group desiring to join in this movement is urged to choose someone to represent them.

The organization has been formed to function locally and has no connection with, nor is it sponsored by any national group. Necessary funds for the operation of this program will be raised, by personal solicitation and contribution.

Citizens present at the organizational meeting were: Mr. Chas. Ransler, Rev. J. Russell Cross, J. H. Talley, Russell Hall, Rev. C. J. Alford, Mrs. Edith Stephens, Rev. Porterfield (Col.), Mrs. Olivia Wills, Miss Mary Ransler, Mrs. Anna Pearl Gaines, Mrs. Jesse Pruett, John L. Vest and Clinton F. Cleek.

Officers selected by this group are as follows: Rev. J. H. Talley, chairman; Russell M. Hall, vice chairman; Clinton F. Cleek, secretary; and Powers R. Conrad, treasurer.

Advisory Committee: C. W. Ransler, J. L. Vest and Deacon Elmer Ross (Col.)

The canvass to raise funds will begin Monday, Feb. 3, 1941. Anyone living outside of Walton may send their contribution to Powers Conrad, Treasurer.

In view of the fact that the burden of welfare and relief of the local community will be borne by the group, you are urged to contribute liberally when solicited. You are asked to refer any application you may receive personally to the executive committee.

Four-H Age Limits Has Been Raised

The ripper age limit for 4-H club membership has been raised from 18 years to 21 years of age, according to word received at the county agent's office from the State Club Department. The rule is that boys and girls who are not 21 years of age on or before January 1st of a given year are eligible for membership during that year. This change in rules will effect many club members who have continued their 4-H membership even after graduating from high school.

For several years Kentucky club members have been handicapped in National contests because of their upper age limit of 18 while surrounding states had a limit of 21. Beginning this year club members between 18 and 21 will be eligible for all State contests as well as National competition.

The many friends of Mrs. Lucy Cowen regret to learn that she is ill at her home in Burlington.

BEAVER MAN SHOOTS WIFE THEN TURNS GUN ON SELF

NOTE LEFT GIVES NO EXPLANATION FOR ACT—FUNERAL SERVICES HELD WEDNESDAY.

Omer Hon, 47, and Eura Mae Hon, 45, of the Beaver neighborhood were both found dead Monday morning by a number of neighbors and Sheriffs Walton and Williams. Both had died from shotgun wounds. Their farm is located on the Beaver-Richwood road, 4 miles west of Richwood.

Mrs. Hon was found in a bedroom at their home with two charges of buckshot in her body. Both arms were shot off by one charge from the gun, the other charge entering her neck, just beneath her chin. Local officers stated that she apparently had been shot once in the kitchen, then carried to the bedroom, placed on the bed and shot again.

After the body of Mrs. Hon was found, a search was made for the husband who was found in a milk house some distance from the dwelling. He had placed the gun against his chest, and had apparently pulled the trigger with his foot. The charge from the gun entered his chest just below the heart.

Robert Robinson, truck driver who called for Hon's milk suspicioned something was wrong when he stopped at the Hon residence. He notified Stanley Ransom that he was unable to get any response at the house or outbuildings. Ransom notified the Sheriff's office and an investigation revealed the tragedy.

A note found in the milk house with Hon's body read as follows:

"Call Chambers & Grubbs. Call W. H. Hon, Elliston, Ky. Buried side by side at Warsaw. Best of burial." No motive was given for the act. Sheriff Walton stated that the couple had been dead several hours before the bodies were found.

Mrs. Hon leaves her mother, Mrs. Emma Kemper, Walton; two sisters, Mrs. George Fox, Walton and a brother Willia Kemper, of Warsaw.

Mr. Hon is survived by his mother, Mrs. Lillie Hon, Warsaw; two sisters, Mrs. Ora Parnish and Mrs. Daisy Hendron, both of Warsaw, and two brothers Walter Hon, of Elliston and Albert Hon, Kansas.

Services were held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Kemper funeral home, Warsaw, with burial in the Warsaw cemetery.

Chambers & Grubbs were in charge of funeral arrangements.

HAMILTON WINS OVER A. J. JOLLY

IN NON-CONFERENCE TILT—NEW HAVEN TROUNCES FLORENCE IN CLOSE BATTLE FRIDAY NIGHT.

Friday, January 24, Coach Steve Gabbard and Principal Reuben Asbury of the Hamilton High School travelled with the Hamilton high basketball squad to California, Ky., to meet the strong A. J. Jolly team.

The result of this meeting meant two more victories for the Boone County Farmers of Hamilton High. In the main contest Williamson was leading scorer for the Farmers with 16 points, while Mardis collected 9 points for A. J. Jolly to be leading scorer. This game was a hard fought one from the beginning with the A. J. Jolly team holding a seven point margin at the half. Shortly after the return to play in the third quarter the Farmers began to shorten the lead held by the Jolly Team. When the whistle sounded for the end of the game the score stood at 24-24. In the extra three-minute period the Hamilton Farmers chalked up 7 more points while the Jolly team collected two more. The game ended in favor of the Farmers with the score 31-26.

Williamson and Miller led the Farmers on the offensive end while Webster, Farmer guard, played an exceptionally good game on the defense.

In the reserve game the Hamilton team won an 18-15 victory over the Jolly Reserves. Ryle, Farmer forward, was high scorer for the winners with 10 points, while Kenney collected 6 points to be the leader for Jolly.

This victory for the Farmers marked their tenth in eleven starts being defeated by a Boone County Conference team, Walton, by a score of 28-30.

New Haven's hoopsters defeated the Florence Knights Friday night at the New Haven gym by a 29-22 count. Virgil Judge led the attack for the winners with 13 points, with Bob Shields his teammate hitting for 11. Pike was high point man for Florence with 12.

The New Haven Reserves chalked up 30 points while the Florence Reserves tallied only 18.

WHAT TO DO

Much disagreement regarding the feeding of the five small democracies conquered by the Nazi force. Many come to the defense of the starved women and children of these countries. They stress the call for a Good Samaritan. They give figures to show that if Hitler seized every bit of the food there would be only a six-day feast and we would immediately stop the supply and long before Germany could eat enough to build up her resistance to conquer England. Those in favor insist we make the effort, that our national conscience will not be ashamed while the national stomach be full. The story of a helping hand that proffers in good faith.

The opponents of this benevolence insist we are defeating the purpose for which Britians are laying down their lives. We are bringing the death-cry to our own door step by permitting the confiscation of food. Starve them out, however much we loathe the thought of seeing the innocent suffer with the guilty. They say that Britain doesn't want to condemn the innocent but she is following the first law of nature, of self-preservation. England's greatest weapon against the enemy is starvation. The way to keep our own youth safe and our homes secure is to let the head rule the heart.

It is too desperate an issue to pass over lightly. It has theologians and educational leaders on both sides. Whatever, may God be with the cold, the hungry, the dying who suffer at the hands of the war machine.

A WISE MOVE

And it is about time! There are really serious plans to put a stop to this huge spending during a presidential campaign to elect a man to the office highest in our land. There has always been protests from all sides and there will always be complaints against the individual political contributions until some way is evolved to limit the spending. The fact that there is an act which specifies that individual donations must not exceed $5,000, through varied clubs and organizations each one expected this sum as a limitation. The estimated amount spent during the recent November election was $20,000,000. Law says no more than $3,000,000 a year can be spent by party committees. So every four years America carries the banner, sings the party song, wears the buttons, and at what a terrific cost!

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

Lesson for February 2

THE INDIVIDUAL'S RESPONSIBILITY REGARDING BEVERAGE ALCOHOL

LESSON TEXT—Habakkuk 2:15; Genesis 4:9-12; Mark 9:42-48; I Thessalonians 5:22

GOLDEN TEXT—Abstain from every form of evil.—I Thessalonians 5:22, R. V.

"Responsible for the drunkards of my community? Not me; I am against the use of intoxicating liquors." Such is the answer Christian men and women would probably make if faced with that accusation. But wait! Responsibility means more than just refraining oneself or speaking against "booze" in a church meeting. Before we finish the study of our lesson, we may find ourselves guilty of the charge, and needing to ask forgiveness, and see the need of bringing forth works meet unto repentance. We hear God's Word telling us:

I. Do Not Tempt Your Neighbor (Hab. 2:15).

God is very severe in judgment upon those who tempt others. Of course He condemns the one who gives another a drink of liquor. Nothing could be more despicable than thus to start a man or woman on the way to a drunkard's grave. There can be no question about the guilt of the one who makes the stuff and the one who sells it. But beyond that, those are guilty who share in the profits from such a business, who rent their buildings for the manufacture or sale of liquor, who vote to legalize its sale or support politicians who do such things; in fact, everyone who encourages, condones, or in any way profits, whether directly or indirectly, from "the traffic." Are you still "not guilty"?

II. Do Not Fail Your Brother (Gen. 4:9-12).

Everyone who says, "Am I my brother's keeper?" classes himself with the murderer Cain. Certainly I am my brother's keeper. This is the positive side of the matter. It is not enough that I do not tempt my brother. The question is: "Have I neglected to do anything that I could and should have done to save him?"

That makes it my positive business to eliminate every possible temptation. It means that the Christian is vitally concerned about the taverns, road houses, dance halls, and what not, which entrap and destroy our young people. It is not enough to passively lament their presence; we must actively seek their removal. It can be done, and is being done all over the land.

III. Do Not Offend Children (Mark 9:42).

The Lord holds His followers to a high measure of responsibility regarding the children whose lives they touch, whether they be in their own family, or in the community in which they live.

Children are innocent until their elders make them otherwise. In their innocency they are trustful and ready to learn. Their knowledge of the right way to live is received from their parents and other grown-ups, and (mark it well!) they learn more from what we do than from what we say.

Here is the question each one of us should honestly face right now: "How does my daily walk influence the children who see me?" Let us answer that in the light of verse 42.

IV. Abstain From Evil—Judgment Is Coming (Mark 9:43-48; I Thess. 5:22).

The Christian is called to abstain from "all appearance of evil" or, as the Revised Version puts it, "every form of evil" (I Thess. 5:22). That may call for the sternest kind of self-denial (Mark 9:43-47), but why not? We do not follow a Christ who sought for Himself the way of ease or comfort. He gave Himself in complete and willing sacrifice, going even to the death of Calvary's tree for us. Do we then falter and seek the easy way?

The fact that there is a day of judgment to come is something to remember, but may we not stress the other side of the truth. "The very sternness of our Lord's strictures regarding the importance of self-denial only serves to enhance the value of the privilege we enjoy in being citizens of the kingdom of God. If it is worth the loss of a hand, a foot, or an eye to gain that life, then, in view of the great value we place on these members of our bodies, how great must be our divine privilege. Christianity is not merely a negative religion, but it takes the negative similes to show us the positive glories" (Dr. John W. Bradbury).

Miss Fannie Willis and Annie Gaines, of Bullittsburg, spent several days last week with friends in Burlington.

Several Burlington people with a number of Idlewild citizens, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kreylich last Friday.

We wonder why basketball games don'e develop the hero worshippers of the gridiron.

Speaking of surplus, over-production, supply and demand, none of it has bothered the stork.

All of our fuss and distress and this old world will go right on rolling along about the same as usual.

SEWING HINTS

When working buttonholes in a woolen fabric, cut the buttonhole then sew around it, about 1-16 of an inch from the edge, with a short stitch on your sewing machine. This keeps the cloth from stretching and also the threads from ravelling. A subscriber suggests that in order to get away from the bump where you fasten the edges of elastic together, without lapping. Put a piece of muslin on either side of the elastic and stitch back and forth across the joining muslin in order to hold it in place.

CLEAN WINDOWS

Wipe steam from the widow with paper tissues and there will be no lint . . . Add a few drops of kerosene and a pinch of borax to hot water and it is a good solution for window washing. Have a chamois that is clean, at hand for the final going-over. The window will dry instantly and without streaks . . . In cold weather the windows can be cleaned by rubbing with a cloth moistened in kerosene . . . Put a bit of vinegar into the water and the windows will have a high shine.

NEED OF GLASSES CAUSES DISCOMFORT

Failure to wear glasses when needed, is the chief cause of eyestrain. Many persons put up with frequent headaches, nervousness, etc., when proper glasses would promptly end all discomfort. Come to us for better vision and genuine eye comfort.

The High Cost of Getting Well
Within recent years much has been said about the high cost of getting well. After giving this problem a great deal of study, we have devised a simple plan whereby the patient may get the best health service at a very nominal cost, without sacrificing any laboratory tests or x-rays which may be necessary in his particular case.
We shall be glad to explain this plan in detail if you will call at this office.

Local Hatcherymen Plan To Help 4-H Club Members

Grant Maddox of Florence and Conner's Hatchery of Hebron have arranged to provide baby chicks to Boone County 4-H club members without cash outlay at the time of receipt of the chickens.

These local hatcherymen are offering this service to all Boone County poultry club members. The club member agrees to return the cash value of a proportionate number of broilers raised from these baby chicks. This arrangement affords a club member the opportunity of starting his project with a limited amount of cash and selling part of his chickens before it is necessary to pay for the baby chicks. Rather than ask for a definite amount of money to be returned for these chicks, the hatcherymen are willing to accept the money which might be received from the sale of a proportion of the broilers. A definite proportion has not yet been arranged but it is expected that 50 pounds of broilers should be returned on July 1 for each 100 chicks received.

Club members should contact the county agent's office for further information regarding this project, according to H. B. Drake, Assistant County Agent. It is expected members will want to avail themselves of this opportunity to secure some early chicks and in some cases they will need to be ordered a few weeks before delivery is expected. All common breeds will be included in this service.

Land Use Planned Program Started

Mr. Richard Sandefur, Assistant County Agent in Land Use Planning Work, began work in Boone County the past week on survey work necessary for developing the Land Use Planning Program. Approximately one year will be required to complete the first phase of this study, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Land Use Planning studies have been made in a number of counties in recent years. Farmers at the completion of this work have found much valuable information to be used as a basis for local agricultural improvement.

The land use program is based on the theory that most of our farm problems, both social and economic revert directly back to the land itself. The program on identifying the land problems starts with the land as a basis for future solution and improvement. A number of farmers will be called upon during the year for advice and assistance in completing this study. It is hoped that all will cooperate as far as they can do so conveniently.

RADIOCLAST DIAGNOSIS PROVES BENEFICIAL

Drs. G. F. and Irene McCauley, Ludlow Chiropractors, who have used the Radioclast in the diagnosis and treatment of disease, the past two years report very satisfactory results have been obtained on obstinate cases by the use of this highly sensitive instrument in connection with Chiropractic adjustments. With the discovery of this principle of radio many scientists and engineers turned their application of that miracle to the highest possible purpose, the diagnosis and treatment of human ailments. The need was great for even the most advanced of the older methods seemed to leave many questions unanswered. Many people have suffered for years from some chronic disorder, the cause of which has not been determined and consequently has not responded to treatment. Many others have often wondered about the condition of their body, their numerous glands and organs, what caused their indigestion, headaches, rheumatism and other conditions and these can now be correctly answered with the Radio Clast.

Drs. McCauley use the instrument exclusively in their clinics and are assisted by a specialist from the Radio Clast Laboratories. See the ad. elsewhere in this paper announcing the next clinic.

Of What Value Is A Canceled Check?

Just this week one of our customers was billed for an account paid by check on our bank a month ago. The matter was promptly adjusted by presenting the canceled check. Had the bill ben paid in cash there would have been no record of payment and our customer would have had trouble in establishing the fact that payment had been made.

We keep a complete record of all checks drawn on us. We are your bookkeeper.

JAMESWAY

Of course, by "right way" we mean Jamesway. Jamesway chick waterers are galvanized after fabrication and are the finest you can buy. These waterers are easily filled and cleaned and they can't leak or flood.

When you provide your chicks with a Jamesway waterer you provide them with sanitary drinking conditions, with water that stays clean and fresh a longer time, and with plenty of water to care for an entire flock.

Jamesway Chick Waterers are made in a range of capacities from 4 quarts to 3 gallons and accommodate from 25 to 250 chicks. The 3 gallon waterer have a copper float to control water level. Every waterer is made from heavy copper bearing black sheets "Galvanized After Fabrication" for longer life and strength.

Come in and see these waterers and learn why the Jamesway is the right way to water chicks. We also have a complete line of Jamesway Brooder Chick equipment including the Jamesway Oil Burning Brooder Stove — the world's finest brooder.

FARMERS USE 49,452 TONS LIME

IN PAST SIXTEEN YEARS—CROP YIELDS MATERIALLY INCREASED THROUGH USE OF LIMESTONE.

Boone County has used 49,452 tons of agricultural limestone during the past sixteen years, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Four hundred thirteen farmers used 9,182 tons of limestone during 1940.

The amount of limestone used during the past sixteen years amounts to .7 tons per acre of cropland. The average application of limestone is around two tons per acre with many farms using three tons or more per acre on alfalfa land that is inclined to be flat or sour at the time of seeding.

Limestone and phosphate used together have more than doubled the yields in hay and pasture crops with the increased yield of these crops being received for a period of years. A good application of phosphate will last for four years or more and an application of limestone, ten years or more.

The hundreds of Boone County farmers who have used limestone can not be wrong as to its profitable returns. Those who use lime for the first year invariably come back for greater use of lime in years that follow. For example, in 1926 only 31 farmers used lime; in 1936, 112 farmers used lime; in 1937, 150 used lime; in 1938, 307 farmers; in 1939, 293, and 413 in 1940.

Limestone under the AAA Agricultural Conservation Program is now available to farmers as Grant of Aid. Eighty percent of the soil building allowance can be secured in ground agricultural limestone delivered to the farm by application through the County Office in Burlington. The following dealers have contracts to deliver limestone: Charles Kraft, Ludlow, Ky., R. 2, Phone Dixie 7503-J or call Kottmyer's Store, Hebron 367; Dance Brothers, Crittenden, Ky., call Walton & Readnour, Walton 154; S. M. Graves and J. W. Moore, Hebron, Ky., phone Hebron 341 or Hebron 133; W. J. Craig, Burlington, phone Burlington 687; Carl Stevens, Florence, Ky., phone Florence 323; Sam Ryle, Burlington, phone Burlington 78; McBee Brothers, Ellisston, Ky., phone Williamstown 4192 and Willard Stephens, Burlington, Ky., phone 476.

Weak Feet Affect Body

N. TULCH

Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S FOOT COMFORT
9th and Madison Covington

When feet are permitted to pronate inwardly, the bony structure of the foot goes down, shutting off the nerve and blood supply in the bottom of the foot. When you cramp or choke the blood stream and slow up circulation, there is a lack of bone repair; chemical deposits, or waste matter form at the joints. Next inflammation sets in at these joints causing pain. That inflammation is often mistaken for rheumatism. Arthritis and many other ailments. Altho when you cramp the blood supply you shut off the food supply to the nerves.

When nerves are impoverished muscle tone is impaired because sensory nerves indirectly control motor nerves which in turn control the muscles. When muscles in the feet have lost their tonicity due to impoverishment of the nerves, feet are no longer subsconsciously held in normal position.

Surgical shoes give support to the vital arches in the feet releasing cramped nerves and blood vessels to promote better circulation. Gradually as circulation improves, muscles grow strong and regain their tonicity.

With foot health improved the person feels better all over. Research has shown that no less than eighty-seven diseases are indirectly caused by bad feet.

Don't take chances with your health, happiness and peace of mind. With foot comfort you'll live longer and feel better.—Adv.

$62,113 RAISED IN HOSPITAL DRIVE

St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington raised $62,113 in its eightieth anniversary campaign which was formally closed Monday night, Jan. 13th with a "civic victory rally" in tht institution's auditorium.

The final report meeting was followed by a combined civic and patriotic demonstration with Norman Barnes Post, American Legion presenting an American flag to the institution during the impressive ceremonies.

James R. McGarry, general chairman of the volunteers who carried the drive to eight counties in Northern Kentucky told the workers that "late contributions might still bring the final total higher by several thousand dollars."

Rev. Edward G. Klosterman, pastor of Mother of God Church, Covington, diocesan representative for charitable organizations told the workers "the results of this drive is a remarkable tribute to the unselfishness of the people of Northern Kentucky."

Representing Most Rev. Francis W. Howard, Catholic Bishop of Covington who was unable to attend the rally, Father Klosterman conveyed the diocesan greeting of appreciation to all who attended the drive rally and helped during the campaign.

"In behalf of the Bishop of Covington and for the Sisters of the Poor of St. Francis in charge of St. Elizabeth Hospital, who are unable to convey their work personally, I must pay tribute to all, who by their generosity and service assisted in the success of this enterprise," Father Klosterman told the assembly.

Back in 1914 Germany asked only for a "Place in the sun." After all, the sun has to set!

Some folks will believe scandal about other folks, even before they heart it.

Gayety Theater News

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

For the first time in Hollywood history, the name of Cecil B. De Mille was challenged at his studio gate one day, during the production of his latest film, "North West Mounted Police," which be shown at the Gayety.

It was the old gateman story reduced to the ridiculous. The guard was a brand new Paramount employee, who had never seen the old master before in his life. And the man who said he was the great De Mille didn't have a thing in his pockets to prove the identification.

"You'll hear about this!" he said. "You're keeping a whole company waiting to make an important scene for "North West Mounted Police."

"Well," the new man hestitated "your voice sounds sort of familiar . . ."

A mopeful light broke over the angry face. "Listen closely. A-HEM! 'This is Cecil B. De Mille saying goodnight to you . . . from . . . HOLLYwood!"

"Okay!" said the guard. "Sorry to have delayed you, Mr. De Mille."

Triumphantly through the gate after a superb performance walked—Lynne Overman, who is cast as a Canadian northwoodsman in the Technicolor romance, starring Gary Cooper and Madeleine Carroll.

How a husky, young westerner becomes innocently involved in the unscrupulous activities of two mining crooks, is the basis of stirring action in Tim Holt's latest thriller, "The Fargo Kid."

The popular and new outdoor star is cast as a young cowboy who inadvertinely is mistaken by a pair of frontier villians as a notorious killer they have secretly hired to rub out an aged prospector.

The crooks plan to gain control of the would-be victim's gold mine. but they fail to reckon with the resourceful young man hired to do the dirty work. How he double-crosses the pair despite the fact the real killer and the sheriff are on his trail, and thus saves the prospector and his pretty daughter is said to make "The Fargo Kid" one of the most exciting action-dramas of the season.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

His "sputtering" ability, according to Charlie Ruggles, has been an important factor in his success.

During the filming of the 20th Century-Fox picture, Elsa Maxwell's "Public Deb. No. 1," which will be shown at the Gayety, with George Murphy and Brenda Joyce in the top featured roles, he traced the genesis of the "sputter," which has become familiar to all moviegoers.

Back in 1931, Ruggles first ventured into "sputtering," deliberately bungling his lines as a means of building up his role.

"It occurred to me that a few 'sputters' might help the role. The director was agreeable so I tried it."

The "sputter" quickly took hold and Ruggles developed it into an art. Today it is part of his basic technique for provoking laughter.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

ESTABLISHED 1875

VOLUME 65 — BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1941 — NUMBER 35

BOONE TO SHARE IN ROAD WORK

FOUR-LANE HIGHWAY TO BE EXTENDED TO U. S. 42—U. S. 25 WILL BE RESURFACED FLORENCE TO RICHWOOD.

Boone County will share in the $500,000 highway allotment for the Northern Kentucky District of the State Highway Department, it was announced last week. The Boone county projects are in line with other Federal needs and will be started within the next few weeks.

U. S. 25, which is a four lane highway to the northern boundary of Florence will be extended to U. S. 42, the extension to be 40 feet wide with curb and gutters.

Expenditures for this project will total $40,000 and will be met with State and Federal allotments. This will be started within the next few weeks.

Five miles of Route 25, from Florence to Richwood, will be widened a foot and covered with "black-top," as is the remainder of the road farther south. This will be a state project at a cost of $60,000.

Resurfacing of this stretch of highway will complete a distance of approximately 32 miles south of Florence on U. S. 25, extending to Dry Ridge.

Four-H Clubs To Organize

Four-H clubs will be organized in ten communities beginning the week of February 10th, according to H. B. Drake, Assistant County Agent. Interest already shown in the county indicates a large enrollment this year.

Six projects will be offered agricultural project members: Poultry, dairy, sheep, colt, tobacco and garden projects are those listed. Some work has already been done on the poultry project by members who are interested in securing chickens under the plan offered by local hatcherymen. Under this plan the club member receives his chickens without cash outlay and returns the amount received from the sale of 50 pounds of broilers on July 1.

The colt club project will include both yearling and weanling colts. Last year was the first for colt project and it was received with considerable enthusiasm. Some increase in enrollment is expected this year. Both horse and mule colts will be eligible for entry by a club member.

The number of members carrying sheep as a project has been small in previous years. With the increasing prices of wool and lambs, there will probably be an increase in sheep project members who will be anxious to start a flock from one or two ewes.

Dates for the first series of meeting will be announced soon.

In a test of 12 varieties of soybeans in Daviess county, the Manchu topped the list with a yield of 55 bushels to the acre.

$85,000 SCHOOL TO BE ERECTED

IN ELSMERE—WORK TO BEGIN IMMEDIATELY, ACCORDING TO EDGAR ARNETT, SUPERINTENDENT.

Work on the new modern school building for the Erlanger-Elsmere District, located at Center and Plateau streets, Elsmere, will begin immediately, Edgar Arnett, superintendent of the school district has announced.

The building will cost approximately $85,061, of which the school district will provide $44,866 and the WPA $40,195.

Funds for the building were obtained through the successful passage of a bond issue in the November election. A recount of the ballots showed the bond issue won by nine votes, after the original county indicated the issue had lost by one-third of a vote.

An unusual feature of the buliding will be a recreation roof deck which may be used by teachers and kindergarten pupils.

The new building will replace a condemned school at Center and Plateau streets, which will be razed.

The Erlanger-Elsmere Board of Education also plans to erect a frame building for Negro pupils. Plans have been approved by the Board of Education and will be submitted to WPA officials for consideration.

Walton Smith Will Be Released From Army After Operation

Walton Smith, son of Rev. Will Smith, Burlington, who has been located at Ft. Lovery, Denver, Colo., will be discharged from army service in the near future following an operation for ear trouble at Fitzermon Hospital, Denver, Colo., which will render him unable to qualify for army service.

Mr. Smith entered the service last fall and had made rapid progress, having won a scholarship in clerical work and was leading his class, prior to his operation.

His many friends in Boone County wish for him a speedy recovery.

Hebron Glee Club To Present Operetta

Hebron High School Glee Club will present a Hawaiian operetta "Ghosts of Hilo," on Wednesday, Feb. 12th, at 8:00 (fast time.)

This pleasant entertainment was chosen because of its colorful costumes and interesting story of a little girl found, after a great storm at the entrance of a glen in Hawaii, beating on a queer little drum which was fastened securely to her.

Mrs. Stanley Ryle spent several days last week with her parents in Louisville, Ky.

SATURDAY

Flaming six-guns, thundering hoofs, red blooded action and a well-worked out plot characterize the latest screen adventure of "Hopalong" Cassidy in "Three Men From Texas," which will be shown at the Gayety.

The action takes place in California in the turn of the century, when land grabbing by eastern speculators was at its hight. Cassidy, played as usual by William Boyd, is asked by a citizen's committee in the harassed region, to bring law and order to the place and, unable to go, he sends his sadlemate "Lucky."

"Lucky," played by Russell Hayden, gets himself into plenty of trouble and it is when Cassidy goes to California to extricate him, that the action begins. Cassidy gets him out and also succeeds in bringing law and order to the community—but not before he gets into some of the most exciting scrapes of his career.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

Kay Kyser was such a sensational success in "That's Right, You're Wrong," his starring film of last year, that the ebullient band leader and his College of Musical Knowledge were returned to the RKO Radio studio for a second film, "You'll Find Out."

Differing widely from the plot pattern of the first, Kay is still the natural, lovable "Ol' Professor" of his air program, but now in "You'll Find Out" he is involved in mystery as well as music.

Those chief bogey-men of the screen, Peter Lorre, Boris Karloff and Bela Lugosi are merchants of the menace that hangs over the head of pretty Helen Parrish, sweetheart of Dennis O'Keefe and niece of Alma Kruger.

Such popular specialists in Kyser's musical troupe as Ginny Simms, Harry Babbitt, Ish Kabibble and Sully Mason are also featured, not only playing important roles in the melodrama, but performing the various specialties for which they are famous.

"For Over Fifty Years"

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

February 1 was the official birthday of this nation's famous third branch of government, the Supreme Court of the United States. It is 151 years old this year and still going strong! Back in 1790 when New York City was the seat of our government, the first meeting was called to order and presided over by Chief Justice John Jay, with three justices present. After the adjournment President Washington entertained them. In these days the court did not hold the great power invested in it in our day. Although Washington realized it as "the keystone of our political fabric," it still could not persuade the nation of its power and force. That came later.

This court has played an important role in the influencing and progression of this nation. Even though its justices are not permitted to create and legislate laws, they interpret and change or declare them invalid, as they so believe and desire. There are a number of rulings that bear personal views, are declared by the opposition to be unconstitutional and un-American! But whatever the interpretation given our laws, the Supreme Court will protect our land and our liberties, for this is what makes up a democracy and the Supreme Court is a part of the democracy.

NOT SO MANY

A local reader recalls that when radio came into being there was the general question concerning what would become of the piano. Many felt that nothing could ever replace this instrument in American family-life, and although the piece was an expensive article, it was felt to be a necessary piece for pleasure and education. A piano that sold then for $500 has been reduced to less than $200 today. It may mean that more people may afford them or it may herald the passing. We know that there has been a recent revival of interest in the victrola and the records for talking machines are selling in increasing numbers monthly. Perhaps the piano too will return to grace the front parlors as an American institution that is not lost.

RIGHTS OF EXCHANGE

Upon reading that fifteen per cent of all Xmas purchases were brought back to the store for exchange or cash refund, we wondered what would be the amount for the rest of the year. It is seldom that you buy from a store that doesn't remind you "if it doesn't fit, bring it back." This store is giving its customer satisfaction, but does the customer realize that this stream of exchanging and refunding costs the nation's merchants, millions of dollars? The idea of buying goods on approval entails a tax on the cost of conducting a business to give you such service. As with everything else, the innocent suffer with the guilty. The customer who buys and sticks to it, must pay for the one who hastily makes a decision for a purchase that will be returned later anyhow. The price is higher for such a carefree way of doing business. Our merchants stress their guarantees and exchange services as a drawing card for increased business. They know without the privilege of exchange they would lose too much business. So we must pay for it, of course. We should try to overcome indecision when we shop. Give more thought to size and color. There are some women, and none of them in Boone County, who do as much exchanging as purchasing, who have no compunction about returning goods and often manufacture excuses to return articles. Let us give ourselves a mental going-over and see if we are exchange artists!

A TIGHTENING UP

We saw a menu from a London restaurant listing food and prices that are prevailing at the present time. The menu was one comprising items found on our own American menus, and the prices were surely within reason and not exhorbitant as we might expect them to be. Britons will have to draw in their belts tighter though during this year for already the rationing is becoming more limited. England has been allowing for each person during a week's time, 37 cents worth of meat, 2 ounces of butter, 4 ounces of bacon, 8 ounces of sugar and 2 ounces of tea. This will all be lessened this winter from present indications.

IT MIGHT HELP

An agriculturist was discussing the reason that many farmers don't seem to derive much from their hard labor. He says there are too many who don't plan farming operations in advance, who haven't realized that to have a living for the family, to provide products of good quality to the consumer, to develop the backbone of the country, the farmer should have a definite plan of operation. He suggests a good way to start out the year is for the farm family to sit down at the dining room table and with pencil try to figure what will be their needs for this coming year. That includes the necessary things for their own food supply as poultry, garden, a cow, etc. Then would come the plan to produce the family needs which takes in the study of market prices and demands, cost of production, acreage, method, etc. This is followed by figuring on cash crops, of selling to the consumer for the extra money that goes into new farm equipment, fertilizer, new cattle, luxuries for the home. Without a plan of operation a business house is unstaple and maybe without a plan of operation there wouldn't be efficient farming. Perhaps you must be businesslike and practical to receive a profit from a farm.

—o—

THE GLASS AGE

Perhaps some of the men in your family received a glass belt, glass wallet or glass suspenders for a Xmas gift. To think we would ever live to see this! It was the previous trial of making bathing suits of glass that startled the discreet. However, the feat of utilizing the glass into practical and lasting apparel seems to be accomplished. The transparency and elasticity is each given its place and so we have glass belts, watch bands, pens, wallets, suspends and so on. The way that science works there are probably a number of new ideas in their collective heads for additional products. Men of Boone County who wipe dishes, hope that the future will bring a glass, elastic tableware which can be easily run thru a wringer attached to the side of the sink. This will save wear on the cotton towel that may be glass by next Christmas.

—o—

OFF TO THE STORE

The estimate gives the total expenditure of a family making $1,236 a year, as making more trips to the grocery store than any other place of business. We spent one-fourth of our income at the grocery store, during the last year. The general merchandise stores came in second, apparel and shoe stores were third, household furnishings, and radios next, followed by automobile and accessories, filling stations, restaurants and bars, building material and hardware stores, drug stores, and miscellaneous ones trailed in last with $124 of our money. This points to the fact that the family in Boone County still cares for the appetite first. They build up the body with food, then clothe it and place about it the comforts of living. There has been a lot of grocery advertising this past year and you can't blame your editor for wondering if that might have something to do with this.

THE CHRISTIAN'S ATTITUDE TOWARD POSSESSIONS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 16:10-15, 19-23.
GOLDEN TEXT—Ye cannot serve God and mammon.—Luke 16:13.

"In the service" is an expression much used today. Every community has young men in the service of their country. But they are not the only "service men," for the fact is that every man and woman serves under some authority. Our lesson today reminds us that our attitude toward our possessions determines both character and destiny. We decide whether they shall rule us or we shall rule them.

I. Who Is Your Master—God or Gold? You Decide! (vv. 10-15).

The decision here is of the "either —or" variety. "Ye cannot serve God and mammon" (which means "riches").

Money itself is neither good nor bad. It is the use to which it is put that determines whether it is to bless or to destroy. Rightly gained and rightly used, money is an honor to the man who has it, and will, through him, become a means of blessing. On the other hand, money which controls a man will blast his own soul and those of others round him.

Who decides which it shall be? You—and you alone. Here we come to the central truth of the matter. "He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much" (v. 10). We generally read that as though it said, "He that is now faithful in a little will later have an opportunity to be faithful in much." That may be true, but what Jesus said here was that he "is faithful in much."

The point is that the man who is faithful in the much shows that life attitude by being faithful in the little. That is, only the man who is right in the great matter of his relationship with God will be the ruler over his possessions for the glory of God and the good of his fellow man.

Someone may say, "I don't believe that." Well, you are in bad company (see vv. 14, 15). The Pharisees, who loved money, who were self-righteous, and whose attitude was an abomination in the sight of God, derided the words of Jesus.

If you don't like that kind of companions, I invite you to come over on God's side.

II. Where Will You Spend Eternity? Your Life Decides (vv. 19-23).

Our life beyond the grave is determined by our life on this side of death. Yes, we know that eternal life is a gift of God received by faith in Christ as Saviour, quite apart from our own works or our merit. But let us not forget that this means far more than uttering a few words of profession or going through a formula.

The man who really turns to Christ in saving faith becomes a new creature; he is born again (I Pet. 1:23). That means that he walks "in newness of life" (Rom. 6:4). And thus his life in this world determines both by decision for Christ and daily living for Him that he will, like Lazarus, be received into eternal blessedness.

Sad to say, the opposite is also true. Living as the rich man did, for self, will bring judgment in the world to come. There is no indication that he was especially wicked, but only that he loved his money, revelled in the flamboyant display of his wealth (v. 19), and had no thought for others (v. 21). Here again, the point is that these outward deeds were the expression of a heart attitude against God.

Death came to both of these men. It will come to all of us, unless the Lord returns to take us to Himself. It is not a pleasant matter to think of death, but only the unintelligent will fail to recognize the coming of that day. When it comes, it may be too late to make any real life decisions. Now is the acceptable time. Today is the day of salvation.

The verses immediately following our lesson in chapter 16 indicate that the decision of men concerning their relationship to God is not dependent on the miraculous, but on moral and spiritual truth. The man who says he would believe if he could only see God perform a miracle is only evading the issue. Verse 31 says that the man who rejects God's Word does so because he wants to, not because he needs to be convinced by a miracle.

We Sleep to Wake

One who never turned his back, but marched breast forward,
Never doubted clouds would break;
Never dreamed, though right were worsted, wrong would triumph;
Held we fall to rise, are baffled to fight better.
Sleep to wake.
—Robert Browning.

The Blood Stream

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S FOOT COMFORT
9th and Madison Covington

The blood stream has several important functions. For instance it feeds the tissues from the products of digestion; it carries away waste matter and it aids in equalizing the temperature and the water content of the body.

Blood is not just plain fluid, but has two parts. A yellowish fluid called PLASMA, in which float solid particles called corpuscles. Then there are three kinds of corpuscles; red corpuscles; white corpuscles, and blood platelets. The red corpuscles are the oxygen carriers of the body. The white corpuscles are the protectors of the body and multiply at a great rate of speed. In other words, the white corpuscles enable the body to resist infections and throw off contagious disease.

Friends, now that we understand how important a part our blood stream plays in the health of our entire body, it is easy to see that we should be careful not to choke or cramp this blood stream in any way.

When you cramp blood vessels and shut off blood supply to any part of the foot, every school physiology book tells us that you not only deprive it of the food it should have to keep health, but the slower blood stream cannot clear away waste matter as it should. We find chemical deposits form at the joints of the feet and the legs and then inflamation develops leading to pain and discomfort that makes you miserable all over. These symptoms are often mistaken for arthritis, rheumatism or some other ailment. Backaches, headaches and many body ills may be traced to the feet.—Adv.

FOOD FOR FAMILY OF FIVE COSTS $658.53

A circular of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture called "Make the Farm Feed the Family," estimates the cost of food for a family of five for a year at $658.53. At the head of the list of various foods is milk—1,460 quarts costing $146. Next are lean meat and poultry—450 pounds, valued at $121.50.

Other items and estimated costs are: 130 pounds of butter, $45.50; 156 pounds of cottage cheese, $23.40; 50 pounds of lard, $4; 150 pounds of bacon and salt pork, $2.50; 306 quarts of canned vegetables, $70.38; 34 quarts of canned fruits, $46.80; 150 dozens of eggs, $37.50; 5 bushels of apples, $3.75 360 pounds of fresh fruit, $28.80; 350 pounds of fresh vegetables, $35; 18 bushels of potatoes, $13.50; 75 pounds of sorghum, honey, jellies and other home sweets, $15; 690 pounds of flour and cereals, $34.50; 26 pounds of dried vegetables, 5.20; 26 quarts of pickles, $5.20.

As the name of the circular suggests, reasons are presented for making the farm produce more of the family food supply. In Kentucky, it is stated, food produced on farms for home consumption is worth an average of $320 per farm a year. This means that a family of five must spend $338.53 in the purchase of food, if there is an adequate supply.

COMBINES REDUCE HARVESTING COST

The use of combines for harvesting grasses, clovers and all small grains but wheat, is working satisfactorily on farms in Caldwell, Christian, Logan and Todd counties in Kentucky, according to a study made by the farm economics department of the State College of Agriculture.

Millers object to the moisture content and to a certain extent to the flavor imparted to the flour of combined wheat. However, it is the opinion of E. J. Nesius, who made the survey for the college, that such objections probably won't continue long if the number of combines increases. Experience will teach both farmers and millers how to handle combined wheat, he believes.

Combines do the harvesting job five man hours per acre, while the cheaper than binders and threshing machines, it was found. The binder-thresher method required combine method required only one and two-tenths hours.

The amount invested in the combine and the size of the tractor largely determine how much the combine will have to be used to make it pay. It appears, says Nesius, that 75 to 100 hours of work per year will pay on the five-foot combine. Increase in size and number of attachments add to the annual overhead cost.

Red clover, sweet clover and crimson clover harvested with combines paid owners of these machines the best in 1939. Lespedeza paid the least. Returns for harvesting grasses and small grains were approximately the same.

GRASS-LIVESTOCK ATTRACT FARMERS IN McLEAN COUNTY

Attracted by the possibilities of further development of the grass and livestock type of farming, a committee of farm leaders in McLean county, Kentucky, recently conferred with County Agent J. C. Acree and representatives of the State College of Agriculture, the Farm Security Administration and the Agricultural Conservation Administration.

Highly successful demonstrations in the growing of rye grass, Balbo rye, bluegrass, alfalfa, clovers, hybrid corn and other grass, hay and feed crops, are encouraging farmers of the county to increase the size of their herds and flocks. T. H. Leet told how rye grass carried more than five sheep to the acre through the fall early winter. Crow Jarvis said he doubled hay yields by applying limestone and superphosphate. Other farmers spoke enthusiastically of their experiences with cover crops that furnished feed as well as winter protection to the land.

Hybrid corn produced 77 to 89 bushels to the acre in McLean county in 1940.

March 19 was set as the date for a county-wide tour of fields of rye grass, Balbo rye and other cover and feed crops.

COOPERATIVE LIME ASSOCIATION SAVES FARMERS $10,000

How a cooperative association saved farmers in Livingston county county, Kentucky, approximately $10,000 in a record-breaking soil improvement program last year, is revealed in the annual reports of Robert L. Rudolph, county agent, and T. L. Pirtle, assistant agent.

Between April 26, when the first ton of limestone came from the cooperative crusher, to August 31, the close of the agricultural conservation program, the Livingston County Cooperative Soil Improvement Association delivered to farms in the county 13,865 tons at a cost of $1.57½ a ton.

Organized on February 9, the cooperative association on March 1 had orders for 6,500 tons of limestone. Armed with these orders, the executive board was able to borrow from the Bank for Cooperatives of the Farm Credit Administration $4,300 for the purchase of modern stone crushing equipment.

A lease was taken on a quarry near Smithland. Included in the cost of the limestone is a charge of 5 cents a ton royalty to the owner of the quarry. There also was a charge of 12 cents a ton as bridge toll for a large amount of limestone delivered to farmers across the Cumberland river.

A subscriber remarked that this war scare has kept lots of folks in Boone County from buying only what they thought they needed.

BLUEGRASS GROWING MAY BRING CHANGES IN KENTUCKY COUNTY

Discovery that bluegrass does well when seeded in alfalfa may bring revoluntionary changes in agriculture in Christian county, Kentucky. So concludes County Agent W. D. Talbert and his assistant, Keith S. Venable, after a survey of bluegrass stands in the county.

They found several hundred acres of bluegrass on the farms of Mack Hopson. Lucien Mosely has 25 acres of bluegrass established by seeding in alfalfa. Bryan Owen has 38 acres of bluegrass which was seeded in alfalfa four years ago. Gilbert Henderson has good bluegrass sod. These and many other fields, all established in alfalfa in the last few years, indicate that Christian county farmers can have bluegrass pasture, declare Talbert and Venable.

"This may involve fundamental changes in Christian county agriculture," the county agents conclude. "In case the farmers attempt that practice of seeding grass in alfalfa they must shift from a short to a long rotation. Also, the wheat crop may be materially reduced."

For years the growing of more and better grass has been the most serious problem in Christian county agriculture. Now the county agents believe this problem may be solved.

BLACK ROOT ROT INJURED TOBACCO

A survey made by the Kentucky College of Agriculture showed that black root rot injured tobacco in Barren, Christian, Logan, Todd, Simpson and Warren counties. Dr. E. M. Johnson, plant pathologist of the college, inspected 83 fields of burley and found the disease in 20 of them; also in 37 out of 88 fields of dark fire-cured tobacco, and in 56 out of 101 fields of one-sucker.

Cool temperatures immediately after the tobacco was set were conducive to injury from black root rot, Dr. Johnson said. Despite higher temperatures later in the season, affected plants grew slowly and in some fields were only about half-grown at the normal time of topping.

Burley No. 16 tobacco grew normally in fields known to be infested with black root rot and in rows adjacent to dark varieties badly tunted by the disease, according to Dr. Johnson.

It isn't any harder to understand Hitler than it is to get the top off a fruit jar that has been two years in the basement.

SOCIAL SECURITY FOR FREE PEOPLE IS PRIMARY WAR AIM

"My war aim is . . . social security," declared Ernest Bevin, Britain's Minister of Labor, in a speech to the London, England, Rotary Club reported in the current issue of The Rotarian magazine. "If this old country is beginning to weave that into its economic life, now, even while the struggle is going on, is not that the answer to Hitler?

"If Hitler wins, as indeed if the Kaiser had won, we should have had rule from the top, and that would have meant in certain cases, probably, a social structure in which the masses of people would have been looked upon principally as soldiers for fighting," said this worker who has risen from a childhood of toil to become not only Britain's Number One laborite, but also the veritable czar of labor in England. "Ours has been a different struggle."

"Probably the biggest contributing factor to the present disaster," Bevin continued, "was the failure to erect an economic basis on an entirely different footing for the development of humanity at the end of that (previous) struggle. We have to erect a different one this time. Unemployment has been the devil that has driven masses in large areas of the world to turn to dictators—to turn to anyone. Unemployment and poverty led to social disaster.

"We must begin now, even while the heat of war and the din of battle are on," Bevin insisted, "and apart from the interests of the moment, let the citizens of this country direct their aims and energies to contributing to the common good, for after all, the youngest of us has not a long road to go, the youngest of us has not a long time to contribute."

Finally, Bevin declared, "I believbe there is in the minds of the great people who have contributed so much to political freedom the same kind of ability which can make, probably in our generation, the greatest contribution the world has ever known to the solution of the economic laws which have caused so much disaster and distress."

CONSTANCE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Arthur T. Tipton, Pastor

Preaching each 1st and 3rd Sunday 11:00 a. m. and 8 p. m.

Sunday School each Sunday at 10:00 a. m.

In our midst Sunday was our superintendent Paul Craven. We were glad to have him back. During the Sunday School hour we were favored by a special number from Miss Elaine Bryant and Vilan Hood, a plano and violin duet. Awards were given to those who attended Sunday School every Sunday of the year 1940. Those who received awards were Miss Ruth Kottmyer, Fred Vahlsing, Verne Reeves, and Ralph Prabel. Also for years of active service in teaching classes, Mrs. Henry Kottmyer and Mrs. George Heist were given awards. They have given up their classes this year.

The topic for the morning hour was, "Characteristics A Minister Should Have." Those pointed in the morning service were Preach the Word, Practice What You Preach, and To Go. As we know, a preacher must preach the word of God, and practice what he preaches. It he does not practice what he preaches he isn't worthy of the place behind the pulpit. He must go whenever he is called, no matter what time of night, or how far the distance. These three were pointed out in the morning service, others at the evening service.

CAPACITY is as important as RELIABILITY in a water system: MYERS gives you both. You may open one faucet at a time; or different members of the family may draw water simultaneously—in kitchen, bathroom or laundry—at outside hose taps—in barnyard and outbuildings. There will always be plenty of water at all faucets, when you have a precision-built MYERS Water System of adequate capacity. Quality is never sacrificed to price in MYERS products. The dependability of MYERS Water Systems is proved daily in thousands of farm and suburban homes.

The High Cost of Getting Well

Within recent years much has been said about the high cost of getting well. After giving this problem a great deal of study, we have devised a simple plan whereby the patient may get the best health service at a very nominal cost, without sacrificing any laboratory tests or x-rays which may be necessary in his particular case.

We shall be glad to explain this plan in detail if you will call at this office.

ROAD PROJECT IS PROPOSED

NEW LINK TO CONNECT CRESCENT SPRINGS WITH U. S. HIGHWAY 42 NEAR FLORENCE.

Construction of a road connecting Bromley and Crescent Springs with U. S. Highway 42 near Florence, was indorsed by members of the Northern Kentucky Motor Club Tuesday night at a meeting at their headquarters on Scott Boulevard, Covington.

John H. Klette, attorney for the club, was instructed to prepare a resolution indorsing the project, which is sponsored by the West Kenton County Good Roads Association. A copy of the resolution will be sent to the Kentucky State Highway Commission.

Nurse Inspecting Children To Take Part In Blue Ribbon Program

The Red Cross Nurse has been busy during January inspecting school children, who are to take part in the county-wide Blue Ribbon program. This program was suggested by the Red Cross, and it was left up to the individual school whether or not they would participate. This entails considerable work for teachers as well as The Red Cross County Health Nurse. Practically all schools in the county will participate in this program.

School authorities have been most cooperative, and this is highly appreciated by the Red Cross and many parents, who have expressed themselves.

SOILS LEADERS TO MEET FEB. 18

AT BURLINGTON TO DISCUSS PLANS FOR CARRYING OUT MORE EFFECTIVE SOIL IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM.

Boone County Soils Improvement leaders will meet at Burlington Tuesday afternoon, February 18th, at 1:00 p. m. to discuss plans for carrying out a more effective soil improvement program for the county during 1941, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

This past year goals for use of 6,000 tons of Agricultural limestone and 1,000,000 pounds of phosphate were set up. Both goals were exceeded by approximately 50 percent, breaking an all-time record for use of these fertilizers. All who are interested in helping plan the improvement program are invited to attend. Mr. Wm. Johnstone, field agent in soils and crops work from the College, will assist in the meeting.

BUILDING PLANS TO BE DISCUSSED

AT CARPENTERS' SCHOOL SET FOR FEBRUARY 28TH—JESSE BROOKS, ENGINEER TO LEAD DISCUSSION.

A county one-day carpenters' school will be held at Burlington, February 28th, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. All carpenters are invited to attend.

The purpose of the school is to discuss model farm building plans that have proven most profitable under Kentucky conditions. Blue print plans from the Engineering Department of the College of Agriculture will be available at this time. Mr. Jesse Brooks, Agricultural Engineer from the College, will lead the discussion.

The farmer usually secures the advice and service of his local carpenter before building new barns, poultry houses, etc. The local carpenter often does not fully understand the blue print plans the farmer has secured from the College and as a result may fail to construct the building as desired. The school will offer an opportunity for local carpenters to learn the details of these plans.

BOARD ASKS CONTINUATION

OF HAMILTON SCHOOL IN LETTER TO HIGH SCHOOL INSPECTORS — FOUR REASONS OUTLINED IN PLEA.

At the regular meeting of the Boone County Board of Education, the following letter was drawn up to be submitted to Mark Godman, and L. N. Taylor, high school inspectors, asking that the matter of accrediting the Hamilton School be opened for consideration. The letter follows:

Burlington, Ky.
Feb. 11, 1941

High School Inspectors
Mark Godman
L. N. Taylor
Members of the Accrediting Association.
Gentlemen:

The Boone County Board of Education in regular meeting this 5th day of February 1941, begs that the matter of accrediting the Hamilton School, Boone County, Kentucky be opened for reconsideration.

We beg to submit the following reasons for reopening this matter and for continuing the Hamilton School as an emergency school:

Number 1. The Hamilton school serves a river country approximately ten miles long and by reason of somewhat natural boundaries is longer than it is wide, only extending a few miles, (not more than four at any point) from the river. The road serving this community and the said Hamilton school runs for several miles parallel to the river. Unfortunately some of this road was built on very low ground and before the river reaches near to flood stage the road is cut off by the river in several places. The road becomes impassable when the river reaches a stage of about 42 ft. at Cincinnati, O. When this happens the school must of necessity close because the buses cannot transport the children. We contract with the teachers to make up the time lost by flood and in that way the children in this locality have an equal opportunity with the other children in the county. If the pupils were transported to any other school there would be times when it would be impossible for many of them to attend any school for several days.

This has occurred seven times or seven years out of ten and on some years the school was closed twice during one school year.

Number 2. The people in this district were sufficiently interested in establishing this school that a special tax was voted by the people to assist in building the school.

Number 3. This school has graduated approximately 80 students during the past ten years. In all the year prior to its establishment we fail to find more than 20 graduating from the territory now served by the consolidated school.

Number 4. Due to a natural boundary this school is center for a community that is somewhat isolated from the rest of the county. We believe that many of the pupils will drop out of school as soon as they pass the compulsory age if required to leave own community center to go to some other school.

On these reasons we rest our case. We point out reason number one as the one that overshadows all of the others.

We respectfully request that you grant the continuance of this school as an emergency school until such time as this condition may be changed.

Request submitted by order of the Boone County Board of Education this 5th day of February 1941.

R. L. GREEN, Chairman,
D. H. NORRIS, Secretary.

Valleau, plant Pathologist, who discussed gentics of corn breeding and Professor E. S. The following line-up for the "Merry Widows" team consists of several stars who played in the "good ole days" when outdoor courts were quite popular:

Centers, Alice Yelton, Amanda Holiday; forwards, Lallie Kelly, Alma Rouse, Adeline Combs, Mrs. J. D. Daly, Elizabeth Forkner, May Benson; guards, Virgie Sullivan, Mrs. Bart Aylor, Kathryn Cropper, Ella Jarrell, Hazel Kelly, and Maud Kelly.

A. tangle in what should be one of the hardest fought games ever played on the hardwood courts. The "Leans" will fight it out with the "fats," until all endurance records have been broken.

Fans who have witnessed a few of the practice sessions between the above mentioned teams, state that everyone attending will enjoy a laugh-a-minute during both games.

COMMON GROUND

An admiring note stressed in a foreigner's conception of the American way, is our common ground of fellowship. The Old World finds such a difference in class that the wall between high and low is almost insurmountable. The man born to the lowly, the very poor and uneducated, finds the space so broad that he cannot cross to the other side. In our country, in our own county there are various classes but the line is not drawn so decidedly, the boundary not impassable, the feeling of rank not so distinct. Wherever you go you will find, distinctions in breeding, wealth and education, but in America the highest positions can be attained, the loftiest pinnacles in society scaled, by the man that comes of lowly birth.

The present war has had its effect on the class feeling in England where there was such a pronounced difference in class. It seems that disaster bring men together and they meet on common ground when grief and disaster visit them. Where trouble brings title to the side of peasant, where a cokney peddler aids my lord, the chorewoman is lifted by my lady. A family will consist of four children who grew up to differ in temperament, intelligence and diligence. They wander far away to greatness, poverty, disgrace and normalcy. Comes grief to the parental roof and from afield return the four to stand intact and united in the common sorrow, on common ground. A blessing in England from out the smoke and debris.

ON FAITH

Today we celebrate the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, we pay especial tribute to the man for his great faith in his country. He believed so in the union of the states that he gave his life in the cause that the nation might be preserved as a unit. Today, with the amount of feeling against defiling the institutions handed down from the early years, when human liberty seems at stake, when freedom lies on the alter of sacrifice, then indeed do we need to reflect upon the faith of the man Lincoln. Lincoln was torn apart within himself by war, his spirit was for peace while he watched a nation seeth and rage as it struggled for a cause. He withstood the abuse and curses that were heaped upon him, threw them off and forgave as he tried to united in friendship state with state. Lincoln thought deeply and never jumped to conclusions, never passed over thoughtlessly or made an excuse for an action. He was never easy on himself. The deed was done, he faced the issue and consequences. He did not applaud his triumphs nor did he attempt to hide his failures. Such traits found in Lincoln would be helpful traits in present day statesmen.

IN HIS MEMORY

Thomas Edison obtained 1,150 invention patents and his influence in science and industry has since been felt though he passed from this life years ago. These patents included the electric light bulb, the first dynamo and power and lighting system, the motion picture, the phonograph, the principles of the radio tube. Rather an influence in our lives, was he not?

Born on February 11, in a small Ohio town, Edison lived to give the world such a contribution that his discoveries cover an investment of over $35,000,000,000. His direct inventions give employment to about 6,000,000 people. Well might we salute his name on his birthday as that of one of the world's greatest benefactors to humanity.

SWEET NOTES

Hearts and flowers, lace and verse, seep through the mails on each Valentine day, to gladden the heart of sweethearts around Boone County. Don't be a husband who wouldn't send his wife a Valentine Day remembrance, for fear you might start a precedent! Don't say she would rather have a gift of worth than a dime verse. From tips you gather here and there, you will find that every woman is flattered and pleased when she receives a sentimental rhyme that teems with cupids and arrows. Get busy this year and find the most affectionate poem possible with hearts and flowers abounding on its front and in your own script pen "To One I Love." There is no excuse for being too busy, not having the dime, couldn't find a suitable one. Get the vale tine spirit and please the lady fair.

JUST IMAGINE!

A goodly number of years ago George Bernard Shaw wrote love letters to a lady who was then a leading figure on the stage and prominent in the eyes of the adoring public. She left the letters to be published after her death so that the whole world could enjoy the beauty of the messages of Shaw. But he refuses to permit the publishing of them! Many a man in Boone County would feel mighty foolish if love notes of his other days would ever reach print and the public. Imagine the jests and guffaws that would come from around us. You are unnerved even just by thinking about it. We could deny we were the author, swear we were being framed, that we weren't in the state at the time, and go into hiding until the whole thing would blow over, if ever! No, we can't say that we blame Mr. Shaw.

It is strange that some religious group hasn't named 1941 as the year the world come to an end.

It took an automobile to prove to us that you can't always believe in signs.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for February 16

JESUS TEACHES FORGIVENESS AND GRATITUDE

LESSON TEXT—Luke 17:1-4, 11-19.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you.—Ephesians 4:32.

Did you ever hear of "vinegar saints"? They are the Christian folk who are "preserved" (as Paul prayed in I Thess. 5:23), but are apparently pickled instead of sweetened. Every housewife knows that things may be preserved with sugar or with vinegar.

God never intended it to be that way. All through His Word there are admonitions and encouragements to gracious and considerate living. Every Christian is under orders to "grow in grace" as well as in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ (II Pet. 3:18). This lesson stresses two leading Christian graces.

I. Forgiveness—Not Always Easy, but Always Possible (vv. 1-4).

The Bible is ever realistic in its approach to life. God knows that Christians must live in just our kind of world; in fact, your kind of world, and makes provision for it.

Offenses cannot be avoided. There will always be occasions for stumbling. No matter how closely we may guard our children, they will face temptations. Let us prepare them to meet them with the power of Christ, and let us be so prepared ourselves.

The fact that offenses must come does not excuse the one who creates the cause of stumbling. Someone is responsible for every such occasion for offense, and the woe of God is pronounced upon him.

What shall I do about the one who thus tempts me and others? Just grieve over it and look the other way? No indeed. "Rebuke him," says God's Word. Let us do it! If he does not repent, there is no occasion for forgiveness. To do so would only encourage him in his sin.

If he repents, or even says he repents, we are to forgive, not just once, but over and over again (v. 4). That's not easy for any of us, but it is possible if we, like the disciples (see v. 5), ask God to "increase our faith," and use it as Jesus directs in verse 6.

II. Gratitude—the Almost Forgotten Christian Grace (vv. 11-19).

Nine men wonderfully healed of the dreadful disease of leprosy, and only one said, "Thank you," to Jesus, "and he was a Samaritan," an outsider or stranger. One wonders whether in our own day of professed enlightenment and culture the average of those who express their gratitude would even reach one-tenth.

"Gratitude is as scarce as friendship." Many there are who profess to be Christians who never offer praise to God for the provision of their daily food, let alone for all other temporal and spiritual blessings. The kindness of friends is taken for granted. The thoughtfulness of others is accepted without comment.

Have you told your minister that you appreciate his sermons and his ministry in the community? Does your Sunday School teacher know that you have received help and blessing in the class? Does the editor of this paper know that you enjoy and appreciate this column? If you do, why not encourage him by calling him on the telephone or writing him a note to tell him so?

Young people, have you ever said a real heart-felt "thank you" to your father or mother for all they have done for you? Perhaps some older sister or brother or school teacher or neighbor would be greatly heartened by such a word from you.

Someone may say, "I am grateful, but I am not the type that talks about it." One wonders whether Henry Van Dyke was not right when he said, "A dumb love is accepted only from the lower animals." A dog will show his thankfulness by wagging his tail, but a man has a tongue with which to say kind and tender words of appreciation to both God and man.

Most important of all, let us bear in mind that God awaits our words of praise. Christ valued the words of gratitude of this man and missed them from the nine others. When He was in Simon's home (Luke 7: 44-46), He gently rebuked His host for failing to show him the ordinary courtesies of the household.

Appreciate Beauty

Never lose an opportunity of seeing anything beautiful—welcome it in every fair face, every fair sky, every fair flower and thank Him for it who is the fountain of all loveliness; and drink it simply and earnestly with all your eyes; it is a charmed draught, a cup of blessing. —Kingsley.

Bible Is Valuable Guide

I have read it (the Bible) through many times; I now make a practice of going through it once a year; it is a book of all others for lawyers as well as divines, and I pity the man who cannot find in it a rich supply of thought and rule for conduct.—Daniel Webster.

FOOT TEST

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S FOOT COMFORT
9th and Madison Covington

Usually the first sign of foot trouble is the running over of the heels of shoes.

In a strong healthy human foot the 26 bones are held together to form a substantial support for the weight of the body and they are held together in place by strong ligaments, tendons, and muscles. These bones are so arranged that they form four separate and natural arches.

The heel bone and ankle bone lean out of position more or less in almost every kind of foot trouble. The cause, is that ligaments, muscles and tendons which hold the heel bone and ankle bone in place, become weakened, and are not strong enough to hold these bones in their normal position.

Backaches, headaches, and many body ills may be traced to feet. Even symptoms like those of rheumatism and arthritis now are being banished with proper shoes. Also nervous indigestion, sleepless nights, etc.—Adv.

A SAILOR'S LIFE IS MERRY ONE

Letters From Ralph White Reveal Exciting Drama of Everyday Life At Sea—U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Bibb Is Pride of Sailor Boys—In Hurricane

The following article is a clipping from a Maysville paper, and Ralph White is a grandson of Mrs. Holt White, of this county. The article follows:

Men have known the lure of the sea since the day of small sailing vessels. For centuries it has always offered adventure and excitement to young men and the same charm exists today for the boys who have enlisted with the United States Coast Guards.

Maysville has sent a number of boys to the Coast Guard service and among them is Ralph White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph White, of the Owl Drug store. Ralph is now stationed with the U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Bibb at Norfolk, Va.

Leaving home on last July 4, Ralph went to St. Louis, Mo., and after a ten-day wait he was sent to Curtis Bay, Md., for a six weeks' period of training. Since this time he has been with the Cutter Bibb, known as the pride of the coast guards. The ship is 127 feet long and the deck alone cost one-half million build.

Ship Gossip

Like all boys he promised to write home. However, he differed from most of them by sending 174 letters, a bunch of cards, and eight telegrams, one of which came from sea on Christmas Day.

Containing bits of ship gossip, explanation of technical terms, the letters present a general picture of life on ship. His first sea voyage of any length lasted from December 16 to January 18. A record of these days is made in letters to his mother. Portions of them follow.

Have Movies

Monday, December 16 — On our way again. We should have left early but fog was so heavy the Bibb couldn't leave dock. The list is up for wheel watch and I get one two-hour watch every 36 hours. (The wheel watch is guiding the boat to laymen).

We are supposed to meet the ship that we are to relieve Friday. So far today it has been pretty calm but tonight it is beginning to get rough. But I expect it to be plenty rough when we get 16 to 18 hundred miles out.

We brought 30 new movies on this trip and when we meet the other ship there will be more.

The Captain is on leave to be home for Christmas and in his absence we are repainting his quarters. He has two nice rooms with two large bunks, plenty of closets, toilet and shower in each room, his own pantry, dishes and ice box. Then there is a large room containing his tables, desks, radio and easy chair. It is just like a suite in a hotel.

The only thing bad about two-hour watch is that they wake you up in the middle of the night to take them.

Sea Is Rough

Tuesday—Another day and it is plenty rough. We haven't eaten a meal off the table since we left. It has been so rough we have had to eat sitting on the deck and even at that we have to hold our plates.

The sea was so rough last night when I was on wheel watch that all I could do was to hold the wheel and stand up. Waves knocked one life boat out of the cradle and made a hole in it.

You can just walk around anywhere on top deck and see fellows lying around sea sick. And what I mean is sick. I am thankful I've never had that feeling.

Wednesday—Still rolling and tossing and the fellows are still all sea sick. They haven't eaten a bite since we left dock . . . or maybe they're just too high class to eat off deck.

There isn't much to write about. Just tossing around. When we get out to sea we will be just 800 miles from the Azores which is much closer to Spain than home. But I guess all we can see of Spain is water and more water. Sure wish something would happen so we would be sent ashore.

Tables For Chow

Friday—Had quarters today. Fire drill and everything that goes with it. Quarters last until 1:30 and then we have the rest of the day off. Some of the gang on the other relief ship were sick and had to be taken to the Azores and we will be supposed to take them back to Norfolk.

The sea is not really rough today . . . even set up tables for chow. Some of the boys are having their first meal since we left port.

Saturday—Had general muster (drill) about 10:30 o'clock . . . dress blues and flat hats. Then up for inspection and the rest of the day off.

The sea is calm again today. A few of the officers sit on deck fishing as we drift. When we drift we don't have to keep wheel watch.

Sunday—It is really rough today. Waves are over the ship. I suppose I can say this is my first storm at sea. They are putting all old hands at the wheel.

The storm sure played the devil with home of the boys who had been sea sick.

Monday—Things got so rough last night that the chief boatswain mate came to get seven of us to sleep in mess hall so he could get us up if we were needed. Of course I was one of the seven.

Waves came up over deck and tore loose two more of the life boats. He tied a rope around my waist and one other fellow and we went out to bring them in. The other boys held the end of the rope.

We are sure having some excitement on this trip. However, there is always an officer and he doesn't let us take chances.

Kind of Homesick

Christmas Day at sea—Here it is Christmas Day at sea and my first one away from home. The Christmas tree here only reminds the boys of home. We had a good dinner today but not our Christmas dinner. We will have that when we get back.

Other letters written continue with the every day drama at sea, but a later letter tells of a hurricane.

Hurricane—Started back into port this morning around 6 o'clock (4 bells) full speed ahead for Norfolk.

We haven't seen the relief ship yet but this gives us six hours start and we shall contact the other ship.

I had watch from 4 to 6 o'clock lookout. It certainly was beautiful. There was a full moon and the ocean was a calm as the Ohio. The water is so blue it looks as if it had been dyed. There is nothing to do and the boys are in the mess hall having a good time and slinging a little bull.

Last night we ran into a gale blowing 85 to 100 miles an hour that took the waves over the bow good and heavy. We had to turn back to sea to hit the tail end of the gale. It is 2:30 now and still blowing.

. . . . Waves Are High . . . . . .

We have two men on the wheel, and boy, are these waves something. They are higher than a house and first one comes over the boy then the stern. Really, this is taking the wind out of my sails too.

It's 9:30 and the wind is up 110 miles an hour. Waves are between 75-100 feet.

At 11:30. Calm now and we have started back to port. It won't be long now.

Sunday—Here we go again. We picked up too much speed on our return and ran into the same storm we had yesterday. It is not as bad as it was but we have to head into it. We are closer to Bermude than we are to Norfolk. I can't do much writing today as I can't even keep up with the paper.

Monday—Still fighting storm but headed in again. We can only make 11 knots an hour (40 miles in about 4 hours). We have received two S. O. S.'s today. We tried to get to one of them but couldn't make it. Ships were sent out from port to take care of them.

Later in the week—Boy, oh boy, here comes a small patrol and that means MAIL. I have given by mail the once over and I did get a load of it.

Suppose we'll be back into Norfolk tomorrow at least into oil dock. Then it's anchor out and fill with oil and then back to our base in Norfolk.

I have had a lot of excitement and outside of missing you all, I have enjoyed every minute of it.

Arrived in Norfolk today and it sure is nice to be back on land. From December 16 to January 18 is plenty long.

USES FOR PAPER

Wax paper when put in the bottom of the ice box is useful. You can easily remove the paper when it catches spilled dishes and you will find it better than cleaning the bottom of the box itself. Always have a pad of paper handy in your kitchen for jotting down your household needs. Keep cut newspapers on your kitchen table in order to hold vegetable peelings. It is easy to wrap and throw in the garbage pail.

Mattress Applications Should Be Filed At Once

Those families eligible for mattress and comfort material under the Kentucky Rural Mattress program should file their applications immediately, according to Mary H. Gillaspie, Home Demonstration Agent.

February 10th was set as the final date for receiving applications but late applications will be accepted if received immediately. One hundred twenty-eight applications have been received to date. Boone County should have families eligible for around 100 mattresses.

Comfort material is also available to those securing mattresses. Applications for mattresses should be filed at the County office immediately.

The only cost for mattresses and comforts is $1.00 for needles, twine, tufts, etc. Those who cooperate in the program are assisting the Southern cotton farmer in useful disposition of surplus cotton material.

43,029 ENROLLED IN 4-H CLUBS IN KENTUCKY IN 1940

A total of 43,029 farm boys and girls were enrolled in 4-H clubs in Kentucky last year, according to the annual report of J. W. Whitehouse of the State College of Agriculture. This is an increase of 849 over the 1939 enrollment.

In addition, 1,235 young men and women were enrolled in Utopia Clubs, which are organizations of older farm youth. All carried projects and also participated in educational, social and recreational activities.

A total of 4,497 local volunteer leaders assisted in 4-H club work in the 120 counties of the State last year. Of these, 2,637 were women.

Extensive training is given in crop production, livestock raising and marketing, cooking, canning, clothing-making, health, recreation, conservation, and home management.

The number of Club members enrolled in the projects last year were: tobacco production, 5,918; poultry raising, 3,495; hog raising, 3,307; corn growing, 3,529; small fruit production, 1,624; beef cattle production, 1,280; food preparation, 3,645; canning, 1,558; clothing making, 8,042; home furnishing, 174.

Major events in 4-H club work in a year include Junior Week at the University of Kentucky, the Kentucky State Fair, the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, the National 4-H Club Camp in Washington, the State baby beef show and sale in Louisville, district fairs and shows of tobacco, beef cattle, swine and sheep and camps.

FARMERS USE VAST TONNAGE OF LIME

The total amount of ground limestone, burned lime and marl used on Kentucky farms in the past 16 years in counties having agricultural agents is put at 6,956,237 tons. Theses lime material probably have cost farmers less than $14,00,000 and should be worth more than $140,000,000 according to S. C. Jones of the State College of Agriculture. Results from experiments conducted by the Agricultural Experiment Station over the State show that lime has returned more than $21 a ton when used on corn, wheat and hay crops.

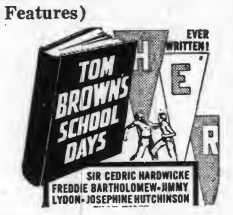
Put in layer of mixture, cover with layer of cracker crumbs and then small amount of white sauce. Repeat until used up. Sprinkle with pepper. Bake three-fourths hour.

GIVES CONTROL FOR SCALE ON OAK TREES

Many of the oak trees, particularly the pin oaks, of the State are infested with scale insects, says a statement from Prof. W. A. Price, State entomologist at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. Their attacks on some trees, especially where the population has been allowed to build up unmolested for three or four years, is severe. Twigs and branches are frequently killed and in some cases large as well as small trees may be destroyed. In addition to this direct injury, the attacks of the pest render the trees more susceptible to a common trouble known as leaf scorch.

As the name implies, these insects are scale-like, more or less flat and small, usually about one-sixteenth inch in diameter.. In bad infestations they encrust the limbs and can be scraped off in numbers with the finger nail.

The insect passes the winter in the half-grown stage beneath an armor which gives it protection. Because of this, sprays should be applied with care and thoroughness. Best results will be obtained by using a power sprayer developing at least 150 pounds pressure per square inch. The spray should be applied during the dormant period when the temperature is above freezing. Any one of the following materials can be used: Miscible oil, 1 part to 15 of water; oil emulsion 3 per cent; or lime sulphur, 1 gallon of the concentrate to 7 gallons of water.



Since scale insects are spread primarily from tree to tree, thru the agency of birds, it is recommended that control measures be considered on the basis of a neighborhood rather than on individual premises.

Delay May Be Costly

If you wear glasses, you should have your eyes examined every year and a half or two years, for a change in their condition. Then any trouble may be taken care of in time. Delay may be costly.

If you do not wear glasses, and your sight is not good, or you have frequent headaches, uncomfortable eyes, or other symptoms of eye-strain, come in for a careful examination of your eyes.

The High Cost of Getting Well

Within recent years much has been said about the high cost of getting well. After giving this problem a great deal of study, we have devised a simple plan whereby the patient may get the best health service at a very nominal cost, without sacrificing any laboratory tests or x-rays which may be necessary in his particular case.

We shall be glad to explain this plan in detail if you will call at this office.

STUDENTS TOLD HOME MAKES NATION STRONG

"The home—the ultimate source of American strength."

Acting on this as a premise, every year home economics students at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture study courses in family relations, according to Dr. Statie E. Erikson, head of the department.

"The philosophy of fine home life, of responsibility to society as a whole, of spiritual perception is studied cooperatively by students and faculty," it is said. Two-thirds of the home economics graduates of the past 10 years have themselves become homemakers, while the others are working in closely-related fields.

The course is open to young women who have had much basic classwork in nutrition, child care and development, health of the family, clothing, etc.

HOG RAISERS USE ELECTRIC FENCES

Electric fences are enabling Kentucky hog producers to use more pasturage and thereby reduce costs, according to Grady Sellards, extension field agent for the State College of Agriculture.

Agricultural agents in 88 Kentucky counties report 7,496 farmers fed balanced rations last year. There is a tendency, however, to skimp on the use of protein supplemental feeds when hog prices are low, as they were last year. This tends to increase costs, accordin gto Sellards. To offset this tendency, he and county agents encourage the use of more pasture for hogs, even to the point of planting special crops for grazing. Pasture helps to insure balanced feeding and cheapens the cost of production.

SAYS BETTER TIMES AHEAD FOR FARMERS

Better times are ahead for farmers, as a result of the defense program and the rise in employment, Oris V. Wells, United States Departmenty of Agriculture economist, said at the Farm and Home Convention at Lexington.

Consumers are expected to have available 15 percent more money this year than they had in 1940, he said, and this will mean better demand for all kinds of food. He thought incomes would rise further in 1942, and that "farmers can look forward to a considerably better price and demand situation during the next few years than has recently prevailed."

Better times, however, will apply only to farmers who produce for domestic consumption. as "the outlook for agricultural exports for the duration of the current war is dark," the economist said. The long-time trend in exports is downward, and he warned that producers of export commodities face a problem in regaining or retaining their export market if and when the war is ended.

Farmers were advised to participate in the agricultural conservation program. "The conservation program, together with the accompanying marketing quota, surplus removal, and commodity loan programs . . . offer farmers a chance to work together in adjusting supplies to the market situation, a chance to supplement their incomes from marketing and government payments, and a chance to conserve both soil resources and human effort, "he concluded.

The nation that always stands fully equipped for war, is usually left in peace.

Gayety Theater News

TONIGHT and FRIDAY
(Double Feature)

The temptations which beset youth are graphically revealed in RKO Radio's picturization of "Tom Brown's School Days," produced by Gene Towne and Graham Baker. Based on Thomas Hughes' well known novel, the story illustrates the oppression and disorder rampant in English public schools about a century ago until Dr. Thomas Arnold instituted the honor system, universally used in public schools since its introduction.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke portrays the noted educator, while other top featured spots are shared by Freddie Bartholomew, Jimmy Lydon, Josephine Hutchinson and Billy Halop.

A western drama with a theme of epochal sweep, with breath-taking action, Indian fights, romance and magnificent scenic backgrounds is offered in "Wagon Train," which serves as the introductory starring vehicle for Tim Holt.

"Wagon Train" actionfully describes how Tim the owner of a train of covered wagon freighters, overcomes the deadly plans of an arch crook and road agent, who is trying to destroy all competition in order to jack up the prices of food in Pecos, New Mexico, where he operates the outpost store. As the story reaches its climax, the town is in danger of famine unless Tim's wagon train gets thru.

Tim Holt, son of Jack Holt, is given a splendid excitement packed vehicle for his bow as a western star.

SATURDAY

Drama, comedy and thrills blend in "Dr. Kildar's Crisis," newest in the Kildare series, which will be shown at the Gayety Saturday. Robert Young is added to the cast as guest star with Lew Ayres, Lionel Barrymore and Loraine Day to play Miss Day's brother who becomes the mystery patient in the new story.

Young develops symptoms of serious sickness on the eve of the wedding of Jimmy Kildare and Mary Lamont (Ayres and Miss Day) and their marriage appears to be on the rock when she breaks her engagement to Dr. Kildare, fearing the disorder may be hereditary. Into the breach comes the veteran Dr. Gillespie who discovers the clew that solves their problem with happy outcome.

SUNDAY and MONDAY

Does any woman ever really know the man she loves.

That is the question propounded in "The Man I Married," the 20th Century-Fox film which is coming to the Gayety. The picture stars Joan Bennett, as the art critic on New York's smartest magazine and Francis Lederer as the man she learns to fear. Also starred are Lloyd Nolan and Anna Sten.

A beautiful girl's amazing experiences, with the husband she found out too late, are dramatically revealed. After they leave with their child for a vacation in the husband's native land, he falls under the influence of the "ther" woman, portrayed by Anna Sten.

Don't miss this big picture.

KENTUCKY PRODUCT GAINS WORLD FAME

Last week the B. L. Kelley & Sons tobacco seed merchants of Lancaster received a cable from Bagdad, Ireq, requesting $50.00 worth of Kelley's burley long leaf cigarette seed to be sent by plane immediately.

The farmers of Kentucky and surrounding states have long known of the quality of Kelley's seeds and the premium prices this tobacco brings, but it is unusual when the fame of a Kentucky product goes so far that it takes eighteen days by air mail to reach its destination.

One thing can be said for today, there isn't any grass growing in our city streets.

IN LOVING MEMORY

Of my dear mother, Jessie Bondurant who passed away February 24, 1938.

Dear mother, you are not forgotten
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with us,
As you always were before.
The world may change from year to year,
And friend from day to day,
But never will those we love,
From memory pass away.
Sadly missed by her daughter Mrs. W. A. Smith.

FOR THE LADIES

For a bath that is good for your skin, cook about 1 cup of oatmeal and it in a piece of gauze, which you mix through your bath water. Drinking buttermilk or rubbing it on your skin will improve your complexion. If you use mascara on your eyelashes, dust them first with talcum and then brush out before applying the mascara. The talcum dries the lashes and makes the mascara stay on them longer. Shorten your nails, or shape them, with an emery board instead of a metal file. Dark nail polish makes heavy hands look more slender.

ANTEN'S STORE, HOME BURNED

FREEZING WEATHER AND HIGH WINDS HAMPER VOLUNTEER FIREMEN — DAMAGE ESTIMATED AT $7,000.00.

Fire swept the 5-room apartment and food market of Ben Anten, 119 Garvey avenue, Elsmere, Monday night, causing an estimated damage of $7,000.00.

The Anten family and a hired girl were all asleep on the second and third floors of the building when Mr. Anten was awakened by the smoke. Before the family could be aroused the stairway was cut off by smoke and flames. They were forced to escape onto a porch roof in near-zero weather until help arrived.

The cold weather and low water pressure hampered efforts of both Erlanger and Elsmere Volunteer fire departments. Only a small part of the household and store equipment was saved. The estimated loss was set at $7,000.00 and only $2,000 was covered by insurance.

Mr. Anten operated two stores, one in Elsmere and one in Florence. He lived in a five-room apartment over his Elsmere store.

Mr. Anten owned the three-story frame building on Garvey avenue. Before firemen were abie to get the flames under control the main structure of the building was damaged almost beyond repair.

It was believed that the fire was started from defective wiring in the basement.

Late Monday afternoon the Florence Fire Department was summoned to the Florence store to extinguish a blaze on the second floor started by an overheated fireplace. The damage was very small.

AT OPENING OF NEW CLUB HOUSE THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13TH — MUSIC, LUNCH AND PICTURE SHOW ENJOYED.

Approximately seventy persons were entertained at the opening of the new club house of the Boone County Fish and Game Protective Association, Thursday night of last week.

Invitations were mailed to all persons contributing toward the project, and preparations were made for 125 persons. Due to inclement weather the crowd was smaller than anticipated.

Music was furnished throughout the evening by Jum and Conn Zellars and Ed Riddle, local colored musicians. Another feature of the program was a picture show given by the Lyman Cooley Production Co., of Cincinnati. Pictures shown were educational and entertaining.

Lunch, consisting of ham, chicken salad, potato chips, pickles and coffee was served to all present. The lunch committee deserves much credit for the preparation of such a splendid meal.

Following the picture shows, guests were entertained at cards, dart game, and music until a late hour.

FIRE DESTROYS TOBACCO BARN

ON FARM OF CHAS. STEPHENS NEAR WATERLOO THURSDAY —LARGE AMOUNT OF IMPLEMENTS DESTROYED.

A large tobacco barn on the farm of Chas. Stephens, East Bend Road, near Waterloo was destroyed by fire Thursday of last week.

Mr. Stephens, who had been burning a tobacco plant bed near the barn, discovered the fire immediately after lunch. When he stepped from the house he noticed the blaze, and before help could be summoned the entire building was ablaze. It was believed a spark from the plant bed ignited some hay stored in the barn.

A large amount of farming tools estimated at $300.00 was destroyed in the blaze, besides a large amount of hay.

The barn was insured in the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance for $800.00, according to F. H. Rouse, secretary of that company. However, no insurance was carried on the farming implements and hay, which were a total loss.

Hamilton, behind 6-5 at the first quarter, moved into an 8-7 lead at the half. The teams matched points in the third period, with Hamilton still ahead, 16-15, going into the final stanza, in which the winners outscored Walton, eight points to five. Williamson paced the Farmers with 15, while Pennington led the Walton boys with seven.

The teams had gone into Tuesday night's game tied for first place in the league, each with nine wins and a loss.

New Haven chalked up another victory Saturday night when they defeated the Hebron five 34-26 on the Hebron floor, giving them a firm grip on third place in the conference standing. Judd paced New Haven with 19, while Aylor and Scroggins divided scoring honors for the losers with seven each.

In the preliminary game, New Haven's Reserves defeated Hebron Reserves 23-15.

Logan and Edwards paced the Beechwood Tigers in a comeback game Friday night at South Ft. Mitchell to defeat the Walton-Verona Bearcats by a 34-29 count. The victory was the second this season for Beechwood over the Boone County boys.

Simpson was high point man for the Walton boys in the absence of Demolsey who was unable to play.

In the preliminary game, Beechwood's Reserves bowed to the Walton Reserves 22-12.

Hamilton's Farmers defeated the Florence Knights Friday night in a one-sided game by a score of 63-26 on the Hamilton floor.

Williamson paced the Farmers with 29 points, while Sullivan collected seven for the Florence nights.

In the preliminary game Hamilton's Reserves won over the Florence youth by a 36-16 count.

Burlington's Eagles suffered defeat Saturday at the hands of the Hamilton Farmers in a hard-fought game by a score of 36-28, eliminating the Burlington Eagles from any chance of copping the Boone County Conference trophy.

Bethel led the attack for the Burlington boys with nine, closely followed by Jarrell with 7, while Williamson, Farmer star colled 24 for the visitors.

Hamilton's Reserves won over the Burlington Reserves in a preliminary game by a 30-14 count.

Burlington will entertain the strong Beechwood fives on the local floor Friday night.

New Haven's Tigers trounced the Sanders five Friday night on the New Haven hardwood by the score of 40-16. The visitors were leading at the half with 15 tallies to New Haven's nine. Shields and Judd sparked on the New Haven offense, hitting the hopp for a total of 26 points between them.

The Burlington Independents defeated the Big Bone Baptist team of the Covington Y. M. C. A. Church league last Saturday night by a score of 48 to 24.

Land Use Planning Shows Nine Community Centers

The preliminary Land Use Survey recently started in the County shows nine community centers and twenty-one neighborhood centers, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The preliminary survey was made by Richard M. Sandefur, Assistant County Agent.

The Land Use Survey program is being made as a part of the County, State and National program as a basis for study for solving major local problems that pertain directly to the land. Plans are to have local community and neighborhood committees to study solutions to local land use problems.

Temporary committees will be appointed in the near future to review information on land uses and to make recommendations. Permanent committees will be elected after the program becomes more fully developed.

Tom Hamilton, of Beaver Lick was a pleasant caller at this office Saturday. While here Mr. Hamilton had his subscription date moved up another year.

I will attend this meeting and outline the necessary procedures to form an organization."

The United States Junior Chamber of Commerce is growing at the rate of one organization per day.

FATS, LASSIES ARE WINNERS

IN BASKETBALL GAMES SPONSORED BY BURLINGTON P.-T. A.—STARS OF FORMER DAYS COMPOSE TEAMS.

In a hard fought game Friday night on the Burlington Hardwood, the "Merry Widows" went down in defeat at the hands of the Burlington Lassies by a score of 26-10. The Lassies had considerable advantage over the "Merry Widows" most of the former having been out of school only a few years, and had not lost their eye for the basket.

The losing team was composed of the following former stars, who received most of their training on cinder courts, dressed in the baggy bloomer suits: Mrs. Maud Kelly, Mrs. B. E. Aylor, Mrs. Galen Kelly, Mrs. Carroll Cropper, Mrs. Virgie Sullivan, Mrs. H. R. Forkner, Miss Alma Rouse, Mrs. Grover Jarrell, Mrs. Mae Benson, Mrs. M. A. Yelton and Mrs. Tinkelenberg.

Climaxing the evening's entertainment, and practically spelling finish for many of the participants, the Burlington Fats trounced the Burlington Leans in a hard-fought, fast-stepping (for a few minutes) game by a score of 26-22.

Both of the above teams were composed of former cinder-court stars, topped on the fat side by Supt. D. H. Norris and on the lean side by County Clerk C. D. Benson.

It is possible that the members of these teams were stars back (we would say 20 or 30 years ago), but Friday night, it appeared that most of them had lost their speed and had shifted into neutral. However, these boys on both teams showed the same spirit to win, as in former years, and battled it out to the finish.

A large crowd was present to witness these games, which proved to furnish more comedy than good basketball, which was expected by most fans.

CULPRIT RAIDS THREE STORES

IN FLORENCE MONDAY MORNING—LOOT SAID TO BE VERY SMALL—TRACKED TO U. S. 42 BY SHERIFFS.

Two stores and a garage in Florence were broken into early Monday morning, it was reported by taining a small amount of loot. Stores broken into were those of Ed Osborn and M. G. Martin, and the garage of Anten and Daugherty.

According to local authorities the culprit failed to obtain any loot from Osborn's store or the M. G. Martin grocery. It was believed by officials that he then forced a window in the garage of Anten & Daugherty, where he forced a lock on the truck of Ben Anten, obtaining a small amount of groceries.

Sheriff Walton and Deputy Sheriff Williams investigating the theft, stated that no clues were left as to the identity of the thief. However, the officers followed his tracks in the snow to U. S. 42 where the trail was lost.

Fruit Outlook Good— Price Outlook Good

Boone County fruit growers heard W. W. Magill, orchard specialist, outline the fruit crop prospects so far 1941 as one of the best on record. He further warned growers that many things could affect the crop between now and harvest time and that the price outlook at present was very bad.

Mr. Magill attributed the poor price to the war situation. He stated that the war had cut off the ten million bushel export market this country had been enjoying.

Recommended spray schedules and good orchard management were recommended to growers as these practices always pay. Plans were made for the holding of a summer tour in July or August to nearby Ohio or other out of county orchards to study new practices.

BETTER DEMAND FOR POULTRY

DURING 1941—BOONE COUNTY POULTRYMEN DISCUSS 1941 PROBLEMS AT MEETING HELD FEBRUARY 11TH.

Boone County poultrymen attending the annual poultry school at Burlington February 11th heard the poultry outlook discussed as much brighter than during the past two years. Prospects are for not much change in feed prices and a better demand for both poultry and eggs.

James Humphrey and Wm. Insko of the College of Agriculture poultry demand and local poultrymen led discussions on the program. Plans were made for stressing poultry as an important part in the Live-at-Home program. A minimum requirement of five laying pullets per member of family was set as a goal. Fifteen early hatched baby chicks ordinarily will be required to produce this number of pullets.

Plans were made for cooperation in the Homemakers' Live-at-Home poultry program, the holding of a marketing tour in May, a summer tour to visit Indiana and Ohio demonstration flocks, electric brooding and clean chick brooding demonstration. producing higher quality market eggs, 4-H poultry club work and use of chicks from disease free flocks.

The 1941 poultry plans committee elected included Grant Maddox, Lucy Lee Grant and Mrs. C. H. Sullivan.

ENOUGH BREAD

With the stressing of industry to speed up its output, the trend seems to be for PUSH in manufacture. However, agriculture speaks for itself in the program for defense and says it has the situation well in hand. During the period of the World War many a farmer around Boone County can recall the heavy program for extra plowing and growing. This year there will continue to exist the restricted crop plan of the government. But we are sold there will be no need to worry of a food shortage in case of war. Our farmers can produce crops and livestock as favorable as any farmers any place in the world. From our abundance of past crops we can rest assured we will suffer no shortage. Don't forget that thru the loss of foreign markets we have an added over-production here. The government feels that since we have these heavy reserves we must not increase production. The farmer's worry is wether due to the heavy demand upon the government money for the increased defense program, that the aid to the farmer will be greatly reduced. There is the feeling that by the increased employment because of the defense work, there will be a demand for more and higher priced [illegible] this would hold true with such as vegetables, dairy products, fruits, meats and poultry and not with corn, wheat, rice, tobacco and cotton, all of which have their prices set more by world conditions. So far the news for local bread baskets is encouraging.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

We are kept busy this month acknowledging famous birthdays, and on February 22, we again ring up the curtain on the anniversary of a man who achieved greatness through a forceful energy and a sweeping personality, who persevered with patience to win freedom for his native land. Such a man was George Washington. As historians have pointed out, this was a character who grasped the opportunity to build and design a structure that developed into a glorious nation. He led an army of unprepared men, but instilled in his followers the principles of erecting a firm foundation upon which to build the house of "America." With his foresight for the future and his appreciation for the grand scale upon which the men of his age had to work, came forth this superstructure.

Washington was only a youth when he served as Commander-in-Chief of Virginia's army. He had lived his life with a code of morals and manners fixed by himself, and this served to aid him in the guiding of his bellows at such an early age—21 years. Washington was a self-taught man who led a colorful life. He fought Indians in the backwoods, was a surveyor who pioneered in the new land and a man who later became the president who overcame problems which tested his ability but found him worthy of the great office. George Washington is recognized in the history of the making of our land as one of the bulwarks of the United States.

THEY'LL LIKE IT

Many proclaim New York City to be an over-grown country town, others say it is a hick town in spite of its population. Anyhow, the big city is going to really go country this next September, for they are now making plans to bring to New York City a real old-fashioned country fair, with all the trimmings! It will be held in Madison Square Garden and there will be awards for procedure, side shows with all the back drops used in country fairs all over the nation. Since this biggest city hasn't had a fair of this type since 1897, they will be putting on a show that will be different than anything happening in that area for some time. It will be an event for the younger generation, many of whom have no idea of what we mean by science displays, 4-H Club displays, blue ribbons for pickles and pumpkins and pigs, juggling acts, hybrid corn and handwork contests. These city slickers will get a thrill over something we have to enjoy in Boone County each fall.

THEY COME FORTH

We don't want to be put in the position of the southern editor who, at the age of 70, recently published an editorial on the front page of his paper, appealing to his subscribers to pay up all indebtedness to him in order that he might undergo a needed operation. Not having the required amount for the surgery but with enough outstanding which would meet the bill the editor made his plea. He used his pen to pay for his operation. That is the way all editors pay their grocery bills, rent and taxes. The subscriber pays his bill. Thank heavens this editor doesn't need to call for money for an operation. We feel if it were necessary many of our subscribers would pay up their past due account with us. Folks around Boone County may be careless and forget, but are on hand if the call comes.

NEEDLESS CASES

The woman who shot her husband because he worked her as a horse to the plow, brings to mind other killings that were for even less grounded reasons. Some are imagined grievances, others are real. A slaying because a roommate used his toothbrush and comb, comes the question of why so many guns are lying around ready for use in quarrels and disputes. When temper arises a gun seems to always be at hand to settle the issue. Our courts of justice are perhaps too lenient in many cases and lead the public to believe that paroles and laws are easy attained or sidestepped. We live in a peaceful community here in Boone County, but even in our county there is romance, love, jealousy and hate, and where there are emotions there is danger of loss of control. Work on your emotions, the courts work on the laws for the guilty and the cutting down of guns in the possession of civilians.

OFFERS NEW THEORIES ON MOON CRATERS IN MOVIE-LECTURE FEB. 23

New theories concerning the famous craters of the moon will be offered by Father Bernard R. Hubbard, noted Jesuit missionary, volcanologist, Alaskan explorer and head of the Santa Clara University geology department who presents his newest film "Moon Craters in Alaska" in Taft Auditorium, Feb. 23. Appearing under auspices of the Xavier University Forum Father Hubbard will present a children's matinees 2:45 p. m. and a night show 8:15 p. m.

It is Father Hubbard's conviction that the amazing craters of the Moon are the result of explosion and not of collision or impact of huge meteors as some scientists hold. Father Hubbard's theory is based on his study of the great volcanos of the Alaskan Peninsula and of the Aleutian Islands extending 2,000 miles in a curve toward Asia.

For fourteen years, Father Hubbard annually has explored these mountains. The crater of Aniakchak, probably the biggest hole in the world has been fully explored twice by Father Hubbard. When other scientists had pronounced Aniakchak a "dead volcano," he maintained that it was still active and his presumptions were proven less than a year later when the huge volcano blew up with a series of blasts that could be heard for 200 miles.

Aniakchak crater today, Father Hubbard's pictures show is a blackened pit 21 miles in circumference, 3,000 feet deep with another mountain 2,200 feet high rising from the center of this great bowl of rock. In the summit of that mountain is still another crater in which molten lava boils.

Interesting experiences during his many Artic trips will be related during the lecture-movie by Father Hubbard. Tickets for the movie-lecture are on sale now at St. Xavier Rectory, Sycamore Street.

INSPIRATIONAL

Happiness in this world comes incidentally. Make it the object of pursuit, and it leads us a wild goose chase and is never attained.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for February 23

JESUS CALLS TO PRAYER

LESSON TEXT—Luke 18:1-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—Lord, teach us to pray. —Luke 11:1.

Imitations may be so clever as to cause us to marvel, but to the one who knows the real thing, they are "just imitations." Particularly is that true in the realm of the spiritual. Make-believe faith in God fools only the hypocrite and those who know as little as he does of real Christianity.

Prayer is undoubtedly the greatest privilege of the Christian, putting him and his life in touch with the omnipotence of God. But it must be real prayer, not just some formal exercise which masquerades under the name of prayer. We combine the two parables of our lesson to contrast prevailing prayer and powerless prayer.

I. Prevailing Prayer.

The prayer which really lays hold upon God and brings results must be the expression of a life of prayer. It is no occasional effort brought about by a great need or a deep sorrow. We must pray

1. Without Ceasing (v. 1). Jesus had just been talking of the trying days which were to come (Luke 17:26-30). To stand fast for Christ in a day when almost all the influences are against such faith, a man needs real prayer or he will surely faint.

To pray constantly is not necessarily to be saying the words of prayer, but is the outreach of the life toward God, the setting of our minds on things above. That we can and may do at all times and in all places.

2. With Assurance (vv. 2-9). If an unjust judge will respond just to escape the constant plea of a widow, we may rest assured that God, who is just and looks upon His people in loving-kindness, will not fail to respond to their plea. He says, "Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and show thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not" (Jer. 33:3).

3. In Humility (vv. 13, 14). We come to God, not to demand, but to humbly plead the blood of Jesus Christ. That was what the publican did. When he said, "Lord, be merciful," he used the word "propitiated," which refers to the mercy seat on which the blood was sprinkled as a propitiation for sin (see Exod. 25:17, 18, 21; Heb. 9:5; Lev. 16:5). Such a plea brought salvation to the repentant sinner.

II. Powerless Prayer.

We use the word prayer here in the broad sense, for strictly speaking there is no such thing as prayer without power. Men call it prayer, but it accomplishes nothing because it is offered

1. In Self-sufficiency (vv. 9, 11). Those who trust "in themselves" will naturally do what the Pharisee did; he "prayed with himself." "He had an intellectual conviction, but that does not make a contact with God. Hell is full of intellectual conviction. God? Oh, yes. But he was so occupied with himself he could not get away from himself" (Morgan).

2. With Boastful Pride (vv. 9, 11, 12). Despising others, the Pharisee boasted of his own fine character and good works. "God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace unto the humble" (James 4:6). It is proper that a man should live uprightly, but if it only makes him self-righteous it becomes a barrier between him and God (Luke 18:14).

3. For the Sake of Publicity (v. 11, cf. v. 13). While the publican hung his head and stood afar off to offer his prayer, the Pharisee apparently took a prominent place and spoke with a loud voice. Jesus described that kind of prayers in Matthew 6:5 as just putting on a publicity "stunt." When men had seen them pray, the transaction was finished. They had not been in touch with God at all.

The result of the two prayers is so well described by Dr. J. Campbell Morgan that we quote his words:

"Two men at prayer. One, eloquently, in phrases circling round his own personality with which he was pre-eminently pleased. The other, hating his sin, and grasping out after the infinite and tender compassion of God to operate for him. . . . The man who justified himself remained unjustified. The man who sought the compassion of God went back to his house justified."

There Is Another Life

I cannot believe, and cannot be brought to believe, that the purpose of our creation is fulfilled by our short existence here. To me the existence of another world is a necessary supplement of this, to adjust its inequalities, and imbue it with moral significance.—Thurlow Weed.

The Road to Power

Self-Reverence,
Self-Knowledge
Self-Control—
These three alone lead life to sovereign power.—Tennyson.

More people than ever realize the truth in "There is no place like home."

One man says the reason he won't go to church is because he was married in one and it would upset him too much.

Foot Machine

N. TULCH

Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S FOOT COMFORT
9th and Madison Covington

Think of your foot as a mechanical device, made up of 26 units of bone, countless muscles, nerves and blood vessels intricately organized to support body weight and to carry the body gracefully through life.

This delicate structure can be thrown out of balance as easily as a fine watch, yet unlike the watch, when the foot is affected, pain results, because these blood vessels and nerves become pinched; hence sore and aching feet.

Our natural effort to favor aching feet causes us to walk shabbily, to stoop and throw UNNATURAL strain on our whole body structure. The result is excessive fatigue, even pains and numbness. RELIEVE the foot strains and not only the feet but the whole body may get relief. We will then stand and walk straighter and more gracefully.

The importance of foot comfort has no relation to age. Men and women in the "Active Age" group, from 20 to 30 need the protection of surgical shoes, which properly support the delicate mechanism of the foot, because of their tremendous activity and the long hours of unusual activity on which they call upon their feet for service.

The "Maturing Age" from 30 to 40 in which the feet are usually overworked, is the time when most foot trouble starts. Wearers of surgical shoes find they obtain comfort that makes the morning last all day.

From 40 to 50 is the "Guarding Age." Most people in this group suffer from one form of foot trouble or another. More serious types of foot trouble show up at this age but relief can be found in reestablishing the balance to the foot in surgical shoes.

After 50 the Comfort Age, when people suffer from combined foot ailments and "Old Age Feet." Foot comfort is everything.

Fortunate is he that realizes even at this late day, foot comfort CAN be had in properly constructed surgical shoes.—Adv.

WHEN COMPANY COMES

If you are planning upon using bridge tables for serving and they aren't large enough, place composition board over the top, slightly larger than the table and you have added space. To seat guests comfortably there should be about two feet from plate center to plate center. If you are using a damask cloth, place a cloth under it but if lace it should be on a bare table. At a large table, salt and pepper should be found at every place.

SLIGHT DEFECTS CAUSE EYE-STRAIN

U. S. TOPS 28 NATIONS IN ACCIDENTAL DEATHS

Of 29 nations reporting to the League of Nations the United States led all but one—Chile—in deaths due to accidents, according to the National Conservation Bureau, accident prevention division of the Association of Casualty and Surety Executives.

"This is a record we can do without," say the safety specialists. "Consider the facts in all of their startling implications: As of the latest published complet reports to Geneva, the United States accidental death rate was 81.4 per 100,000 of population. Canada, our immediate northern neighbor had only 56.2. England and Wales combined reported 42.5 and Germany 41.7.

"There has been some improvement since the period on which the above figures were based. In 1939, the latest year for which complete United States statistics are available, the accidental death rate here was 71 per 100,000 population. But unless most of the other countries have about doubled—in some cases almost trebled—their rate, we still lead them all—save only Chile.

"We want records for the United States—but not this kind. Ninety per cent of all accidents are avoidable. We need not expect perfection in order to hope for much greater improvement in the future."

PASTRY FACTS

Grated cheese mixed with the flour makes delicious pastry for apple pie. Use ½ cup cheese to one and one-half cups sifted flour . . . Pastry is more tender if the dough is handled little and rolled lightly. Add water a few drops at a time and turn with fork until flour barely holds together . . . . Ease pastry into pan without stretching. For single crust bake it on the back of pie pan and prick with fork for steam to escape. . . . Hot water pastries are crumbly, pastry made with cold shortening and cold water are flaky.

GRANT 4-H CLUB NOTES

We organized our new 4-H club for this year Wednesday, February 12, 1941. We did our club work well enough this year, but are going to try to do better this coming year.

Twenty-three members were present and there were two more who have joined. We selected our president, vice president, secretary, cheer leader and reporter. They are as follows: President, Lurry Mattingly; vice president, Charles Newman; secretary, Louise McArthur; cheer leader, Lewis Edwin Kelly; reporter, Emma M. Brady.

We were very sorry to hear that Miss Gillaspie is ill. She could not be here to help in organizing the girls. The Grant 4-H club hopes to see her back the next meeting.

Most of the larger girls plan to take cooking if they can secure a leader. Let's hope they soon find one..

Our principal J. F. Moore was chosen community leader and we are sure he will fill his position most capably.

Emma Brady, Reporter.

EXTENSIVE TESTS FOR HYBRID CORN

Farmers in 105 counties in Kentucky cooperated with county agents and the State College of Agriculture in 798 demonstrations in growing hybrid corn last year. Yields average 9.3 bushels over common kinds. The top yield was 64.7 bushels, made by a yellow hybrid called Ky. Y102.

Demonstrations also were begun last year in cooperation with commercial hybrid corn seed producers in 33 counties. "The dry season was more unfavorable for large, later white hybrids than for small, earlier yellow hybrids," comments W. C. Johnstone of the College of Agriculture. "The yellow hybrids were particularly high in tests where the drouth was severe, but in the high yielding plots, particularly those little affected by drouth, the better white hybrids consistently outyielded the yellows, with the possible exception of Ky. Y102."

NECKWEAR FASHIONS

Lace collars and cuffs are very popular today. Famous designers are styling them for dressing up a frock. You can make your own or purchase inexpensive sets and change the appearance of an old dress. Pique and crisp organdy are used while some are made like bibs and tucked down the dress front. But nothing is less attractive than a slightly soiled neckpiece that is bedraggled and mussed. It doesn't take long to launder the collar and cuffs in a mild suds, ironing is easy and quick. You can press the neckwear on a turkish towel and the result is more satisfactory.

Boneparte declare his defeat was due to bad luck—the eight of spades, and many of us would like to see somebody stack the deck on Hitler.

With all the laws we have to memorize, you can understand why a man forgets some of them now and then.

One of the funniest and yet the saddest of suggestions, was for the United States of Europe.

CROPS AND STOCK SHOULD FIT FARM

Successful farmers usually follow a plan of selecting the crops that do best on the kind of soil they have, and on the slope of their fields, notes R. E. Proctor, a farm management specialist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. In their rotation they plan to have about the same number of acres in each crop every year.

These same farmers, Proctor observes, raise livestock according to the kind and amount of feed they produce. The size and productivity of the farm and the labor supply must also be considered in livestock production. The markets which are available also influence the selection of cash crops and the kind of livestock.

There used to be a few fellows in Boone County who wouldn't have their hair cut in the winter for fear of catching cold.

Have you noticed how many fellows can put in a whole day's work in the morning if they know they will get the afternoon off?

Experience may be a wonderful teacher but folks in Boone County say she doesn't explain things easily.

Delay May Be Costly

If you wear glasses, you should have your eyes examined every year and a half or two years, for a change in their condition. Then any trouble may be taken care of in time. Delay may be costly.

If you do not wear glasses, and your sight is not good, or you have frequent headaches, uncomfortable eyes, or other symptoms of eye-strain, come in for a careful examination of your eyes.

SUGGESTS METHODS TO COMBAT LEAF DISEASE

To have tobacco plant beds free from disease, Russell Hunt, a field agent for the Kentucky College of Agriculture, offers the following suggestions:

Select a new site for the bed, preferably in the open.

Seed lighter than usual.

As the first treatment for blue mold, use a 3-4-50 bordeaux mixture when the plants have four leaves.

Apply same material 10 days to two weeks after the first treatment.

Use the same mixture plus two pounds of arsenate of lead, as the third treatment, just as the plants begin to raise up off the ground. Twenty-five gallons of this mixture should cover 100 yards. Use ordinary hand sprinkler and do not remove canvas to sprinkle.

If old boards or old poles are used, disinfect with the bordeaux mixture or char with fire.

Disinfect old canvas by boiling it in strong soapy water. Do not use home-made tobacco for smoking or chewing while weeding, pulling or setting tobacco plants.

KNOX FARMERS BACK IMPROVEMENT PLANS

A committee of farmers in Knox county, Kentucky, has announced the following program for 1941:

The growing of better corn in every community.

Increased acreage of red clover.

Sufficient potatoes for home use and some to sell.

Live-at-home program in every community.

Dual-purpose cattle for whole county.

More and better poultry.

Soil treatment and the use of more seed to increase pasture production.

DAIRY MEN PLAN BETTER RETURNS

Dairy farmers in Kenton county, Kentucky, made the following New Year's resolution:

Have an ample supply of good water for cows. Cows watered twice a day give 5 percent more milk than cows starved for water, they found.

Put the first cutting of alfalfa hay in a silo. A cow should have 30 pounds of alfalfa silage a day.

Treat pasture land so there will be plenty of grazing early in the spring and late in the fall.

FOR MENDING

When your kid gloves are worn from use, don't throw them away. Keep on hand for mending the children's sweaters and trousers. This leather is soft and therefore nice for reinforcing knees and elbows on the youngsters worn sweaters and trousers. Do your reinforcing before the threads break through and the task is a lighter one.

VALUE OF AN INDUSTRY

You may be surprised at what it means to a community to have an industry that employs 150 persons—

A plant investment of at least $100,000 . . . annual payroll of $200,000; support of 1,000 people; support of one dozen stores; a 10-room schoolhouse; $60,000 annually for transportation; a new market for the farm products from 8,000 acres of land; an annual expenditure in trade of at least $1,000,000; an increased taxable valuation of at least $1,000,000.

Multiply these benefits 100 times, and you have an idea of what Kentucky's brewing industry—which employs 15,000 persons—means to this state.

The purpose of the Kentucky Brewers & Beer Distributors Committee is to help preserve beer's benefits for Kentuckians, by cooperating with law enforcement authorities to keep beer retailing as wholesome as the beverage itself.

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

According to Travis Banton, one Hollywood's top-notch fashion experts, screen fashion designers no longer strive for absolute authenticity in their costumes for historical scenes.

"Except in pictures that are definitely 'documents,'" Banton said on the set of "The Mark of Zorro," 20th Century-Fox picture which stars Tyrone Powers "the screen designer no longer has to struggle to dodge anachronisms in dress when he tackles a period piece.

"Modern audiences seem happier when a designer interprets the spirit of the time rather than trying to make the costume absolutely authentic in every detail. And in this he has been aided of late by the liberal use in modern clothes of style ideas from so many different period that very few types look completely strange.

"For instance, a great many of the dresses worn by Linda Darnell and Gale Sondergaard in "The Mark of Zorro' which deals with life in the California of 1820 could, with a few changes, step comfortably into the modern scene.

SATURDAY

The Keystone Kops are at it again!

Vehicle for the reappearance of the zaney type of comedy that delighted another generation is Columbia's "The Lone Wolf Keeps a Date," with Warren William featured in the leading role.

The action for their antics is a catch-all race between cops and kidnappers, supposedly set on the Miami waterfront. Director Sidney Salkow, playing the scene for laughs, spotted veteran Keystoners Fred Kelsey and Jed Prouty, who have featured parts in the film.

"Hey you two!" he called, "Teach these cops how to play this scene for laughs."

So Kelsey and Prouty became directors for a day and put the neophyte "Kops" through their routine.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Lovers of old Irish folk music will revel in the list of numbers sung by Judy Garland in her first solo starring film, "Little Nellie Kelly," showing at the Gayety Sunday and Monday.

The Irish folk melodies include the lilting "Pretty Girl Milking Her Cow." "It's a Great Day for the Irish" is featured in the St. Patrick's Day Parade sequence, and the rhythmic "Singin' in the Rain" is an important portion of the modern sequence.

"Little Nellie Kelly," filmization of the George M. Cohan stage success, marks Miss Garland's first grown-up screen role. The supporting cast of the film includes George Murphy, Charles Winninger, Douglas McPhail and Arthur Shields.

SAYS DANGER AHEAD FOR POULTRY KEEPER WITH POOR METHODS

Commercial poultry keepers who fail to follow modern methods may soon find their flocks unprofitable, according to a statement issued by the Kentucky Poultry Improvement Association, which cooperates with the Kentucky College of Agriculture in encouraging better methods.

There is a trend toward specialization in the production of market poultry and eggs, says E. A. Baute, field manager for the association. He fears side-line poultry keepers may be forced out of business. This already has happened in the fruit growing and whole milk industries, he says.

For the benefit of persons who would stay in the poultry business and produce eggs for either commercial or hatchery sale Mr. Baute offers these suggestions:

Poorly lighted, improperly ventilated, dilapidated buildings with makeshift feeding, watering and roosting equipment should be replaced or made over.

Start chicks in March and April so that the pullets will be laying by September or October.

Feed the young stock a growing ration until the pullets are housed and laying mash and grain in hoppers thereafter. Don't neglect the water supply.

Sell all stock in April or May. Keep 15 to 25 hens to supply the home table with eggs until the pullets come into production.

Cull slow growing, slow feathering and late maturing pullets and cockerels. Sell non-producing hens.

Home-mixed mashes without fish oil give satisfactory results if the birds have good green range in the late spring and summer months but don't give the best results for breeding flocks. Birds need green feed and fish oil in their feed during January, February and March.

Lice even breed in the winter months and retard egg production. Examine several birds and don't delay treating the flock for lice if necessary.

FOODS MAY AFFECT CHILD DEVELOPMENT

Maybe Frankie and Johnnie were brothers, but—

At 12 years of age, they looked a lot different, as measured by standards of the home economics department of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

One was—

Taller, has a better color, straighter, more erect, eyes clear and steady, hands poised, weight nearer—an all-American tackle potentially.

The difference?

Many factors, admittedly, but the average Kentucky parent can do a lot to help boys and girls, too, to be stronger young citizens by giving them the right foods. A quart of rich milk a day—surely every Kentuckian can produce this if he lives on a farm. And vitamin-rich eggs and meat and vegetables. As well as citrus fruits and codliver oil daily. Most of this food is obtainable at low cost right on the farm, it is pointed out, and farm families should live abundantly today.

MORE BARLEY, LESS CORN IN KENTUCKY

The Kentucky College of Agriculture reports a tendency in many counties of the State to grow less corn and more barley. For the State as a whole the barley acreage nearly doubled in three years. The change from corn to barley has been especially rapid since the introduction of cold-resistant varieties of barley.

In Boyle county, the corn area dropped from about 22,000 acres in 1919 to around 9,000 acres in 1940. Bourbon county farmers just began to grow barley in 1938, but in 1940 they sowed 8,000 acres. Other counties reporting big increases in barley are Daviess, Clark and Logan.

SEARCH FOR NEW CROPS CONTINUE

Farmers in many Kentucky counties are continuing their search for new sources of income. Through the assistance of the county agent and the State College of Agriculture, Calloway county farmers last year produced "green wrap" tomatoes with considerable success. Sixty-eight acres of tomatoes were signed up early in the year, 54 acres were set and commercial selling was done from 48 acres.

John S. Gardner, College of Agriculture specialist in truck crops, reports acre receipts of $31 to $96, with 10 men making more than $90 an acre. The average income from the 48 acres was $49. Two men grew beans following tomatoes, with an average income of $44 an acre from beans.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

ESTABLISHED 1875

VOLUME 65 — BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1941 — NUMBER 38

DRAWINGS HELD MONDAY NIGHT

FOR 33RD DISTRICT TOURNAMENT — BURLINGTON AND HEBRON TO TANGLE IN FIRST BRACKET.

The 33rd District Basketball Tournament will get under way Wednesday, March 5th at 7:00 p. m. when Walton and Hebron Class B teams tangle in the opening on the Walton floor.

Drainge were made Monday night by the various coaches in the Boone County Conference.

Wednesday at 8 p. m. Hamilton and New Haven "B" teams will clash.

Immediately following this game the Hebron and Burlington teams in A class will tangle. This game is expected to be one of the best in the tournament. Hebron, although in the lower bracket of the Conference standing, caused considerable attention when they battled the Hamilton Farmers on the Hebron court Friday night, losing by a score of 43-29. Fans state that the Hebron boys displayed an improved brand of basketball in this game and may prove to be the "dark horse" of the tournament.

Thursday at 7:00 p. m. Burlington "B" team will meet the winner of the Hebron-Walton game, and at 8:00 p. m. Florence will play the winner of the Hamilton-New Haven game.

Thursday 9 p. m. New Haven and Florence will furnish the entertainment. This promises to be a hard fought game.

Hamilton, Conference leaders will take on the winner of the Hebron-Burlington game in "A" class, Friday at 7:30 p. m. At 8:30 Walton will meet the winners of the New Haven-Florence game.

The tournament finals will be played Saturday night both in the "A" and "B" divisions. Winners and runners-up in the "A" division will represent Boone County in the regional tournament.

Admission for each of the four sessions will be 35 cents for adults, and 20 cents for children.

Officials for the tournament will be Colwell and Ernst, both well known Cincinnati referees.

Two Fires In County During Past Week Cause Little Damage

Two fires reported during the past week in Boone County caused little damage, according to F. H. Rouse, secretary of Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Sparks from a chimney ignited the shingle roof of the George H. Tillett home, on Hicks road near New Haven Friday afternoon, causing damage to the roof and a small amount of furniture. Damage was estimated at $40.00 by Mr. Rouse. The fire was extinguished by a bucket brigade.

The home of Jos. O'Neal, of near Waterloo on the East Bend Road was slightly damaged by fire Wednesday afternoon of last week by an overheated stove. Mr. Rouse stated that a paper hanger employed at the O'Neal home extinguished the blaze. Damage was estimated at $10.00.

STOCK OUTLOOK BRIGHT FOR 1941

FARMERS HEAR G. P. SUMMER AT MEETING HELD IN BURLINGTON WEDNESDAY, FEB. 19TH.

Farmers attending the Market Outlook Meeting at Burlington on Wednesday, February 19th, heard G. P. Summer report the livestock price outlook is bright for 1941 and probably for the next year of two to come. Prices of beef cattle, dairy cattle, dairy production, sheep, wool, hogs and poultry look much better for this year especially in reference to the probability that there will be little change in the price of feeds.

Seventy-five farmers attending the meeting heard Mr. Summers state that regardless of the outcome of the war the proposed National Defense expenditure planned for the next three years should have a favorable effect on farm prices especially livestock prices.

Representatives of the Cincinnati Cooperative Commission Association attended the meeting. They recommended methods of preparing and shipping livestock to the market to receive most favorable prices.

GROW SMOKER TYPE TOBACCO

F. H. HIGHER PRICE, RUSSELL HUNT SAYS, IN ADDRESSING FARMERS AT BURLINGTON FEBRUARY 18TH.

Boone County farmers should plan to grow a smoker type of tobacco next year, according to Russell Hunt, tobacco field agent, addressing farmers in a meeting at Burlington on last Tuesday, Feb. 18th. Smoker type of tobacco will continue to demand a better price and many growers are producing from 1500 to 2000 pounds per acre.

Mr. Hunt recommended certain practices for 1941. They included:

(1) Variety—Experiment Station No. 16 or similar type of smoker variety. Experiment Station No. 33 was recommended for river bottom land infected with Fusarium Wilt.

(2) Fertilizers—Use 8 to 12 tons of manure and 500 pounds of 20 percent phosphate per acre and follow with 200 to 500 pounds of 4-8-12 complete fertilizer in the row.

(3) Plant Bed Treatment—Every bed should be treated with the Bluestone lime treatment under all conditions. This treatment will control many of the plant bed and field diseases and is inexpensive.

(4) Topping—Top just before blooming time and then pull the top two suckers about two days before cutting. The tip leaves may be cut out if desired.

(5) Cover Crops—Vetch at the rate of 40 pounds of seed per acre, seeded early and with rye, wheat or barley, makes an excellent green manure crop to turn under when tobacco is to be put on the same land the second year.

Mr. Hunt advised farmers attending the meeting that best tobacco growers are producing more tobacco per acre and better quality is being secured with better tobacco growing practices.

Louvette Rogers, prominent tobacco grower in Belleview community, gave a splendid report on four Fusarium Wilt Resistant varieties that he has used. Experiment Station No. 33 is the best variety he has grown to date so he reported.

County Board Of Tax Supervisors Adjourn

After being in session ten days, the Boone County Board of Tax Supervisors adjourned, after hearing complaints and checking the assessment by County Tax Commission, Wilton Stephens as of July 1, 1940.

There were only fourteen taxpayers to appear before this board asking for adjustments, out of forty-eight hundred lists taken by the assessor. Never before have so few people seemed dissatisfied.

The 1940 assessment has not been officially approved. However, it was stated that it will be approximately the same as 1939, which amounted to approximately $11,000,000.00.

ROY JOHNSON NAMED PASTOR

OF BURLINGTON CHURCH AT MEETING HELD SUNDAY, FEB. 9TH—HAD BEEN PASTOR OF BIG BONE CHURCH 14 YEARS.

Rev. Roy Johnson was selected pastor of the Burlington Baptist Church at a meeting of its members held February 16th. He will assume his duties at this church April 1st.

Rev. Johnson is well known and loved throughout the county, and his work at Big Bone Baptist Church would be a credit to a pastor of many more years' experience.

The following letter was composed by Rev. Johnson and handed us for publication:

My Friends:

The writer was born in Boone County about three miles west of Walton, spending all his days either in Boone or Kenton county, which number more than forty-seven years, and to whatever success we have had in the journey, we feel indebted to our many friends that have helped to make it possible. We say thanks to all, but perhaps there are some that contributed more than others, because of our fellowship and being permitted to work together, and it is to this group that we wish to direct these words.

On October 1, 1926 I began my work as pastor of the Big Bone Baptist Church, one of the great Churches of Boone County. On entering this work I found a group of the best friends I ever knew in my life—friends that knew how to help when the shadows of life came—friends, that were patient with one of the weak vessels thru which God was trying to give His message to people; always ready to look over the mistakes that we might make; ready with a word of encouragement when we seemed to falter by the way. But many of that number have passed from among us, but as they would lay their work aside, God was good in giving us others that were just as faithful, just as loyal. So, for more than fourteen years we have walked the road of life together, thru the valleys of sorrow, up the mountain side of difficulty, into the great hours like unto the transfiguration hour, the mountain top of great blessings, but never thru the years have we walked in greater fellowship than at the present time.

But "God works in a mysterious way, His wonders to perform." So, after much prayer and because we believe in the leadership of the Holy Spirit, we are leaving this great field to become pastor of the Burlington Baptist Church, April 1st. Perhaps there are some that will say, surely there must have been something wrong, but I can say that as far as I know there is no other reason than that it was the will of God. The writer is one that still believes in the leadership of God. Abraham had to go into another field, Moses had to go down into Egypt when he was contented in watching the flock of the hills, Jeremiah had to go because God wanted him. Oh, how the minister of today needs to remember that he is not his own, that he is bought with a price, therefore all that we have we should let God have for His use wherever he desires to use it, and that is what we are trying to do in going to another field.

I don't know of a member but what I can say is my friend, and likewise of the community. From the youngest to the oldest we loved each other. We have shed our tears together, we have laughed together, we have worked together, so I desire to say this word, I am leaving a great Church, a great community. I am sure as I go to the good people of Burlington I will find in them the friend that I have known through the years at Big Bone. I will try and be to you as I have tried to do all through my ministry—a preacher, a pastor, a friend. May our work with you be just as pleasant as that of the church we are leaving, and may God lead us into great hours of rejoicing.

Again to you of Big Bone Church and community, "You are a great people." May God bless you.

BURLINGTON CHALK UP WIN

OVER BEECHWOOD FRIDAY—HAMILTON FARMERS TRIM HEBRON—WALTON DEFEATS SIMON KENTON.

Burlington's Eagles chalked up one on the win side of the leager Friday night when they trounced the Beechwood five by a score of 23 to 22 in a hard fought game on the local floor.

The Eagles displayed a fine brand of basketball, and each man on the squad played his position well. Porter paced the Eagles with ten points, while Taglauer collected eight for the losers.

Beechwood led the Eagles for the first three quarters of the game but were unable to hold their three point lead in the fourth frame.

In a preliminary game the Burlington Reserves defeated Beechwood Reserves by a 13-12 count.

Hamilton's Farmers added another victory to their string Friday night when they defeated the Hebron five by a 43-29 count, on the Hebron floor. The victory was Hamilton's 11th in twelve conference games. This was the last game for the Farmers until the district tournament.

Williamson led the attack for the Farmers with 19 points, closely followed by Miller with 12. At the half Hebron held a lead of one point against the conference leaders.

In the preliminary game, Hamilton's Reserves won over Hebron's Reserves by a score of 28-19.

Walton defeated Simon Kenton 37-23 Friday night on the Walton floor. After a 7-7 first quarter tie the Walton team led handily 18-11 at half time and 27-12 at the third frame. Welch was high point man for Walton with nine, While Breeden collected seven for the losers.

Walton's Reserves trounced the visiting Reserves by a 24-8 count.

Florence defeated the Warsaw basketball team Saturday night on the Florence hardwood by a score of 44-39. Both teams disregarded defensive tactics and played entirely on the offensive.

Reffitt-Ryle

Miss Kathryn Ryle, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hogan Ryle, and Mr. Ray W. Reffitt, handsome son of Mr. and Mrs. James Reffitt, were married on Saturday, February 15. They left immediately on their honeymoon which was spent in Huntington. W. Va.

Their host of friends and relatives wish them a long, happy and prosperous life together. They will make their home at the present on the farm near Verona, Ky.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Kirtley McWethy entertained with a dinner in their honor. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Reffitt, Mr. and Mrs. Hogan Ryle and daughter, Misses Freda and Norma Ryle, of Petersburg, and Elmer Pitts, Jr., of Ludlow, Ky.

ROAD PLANS UNDER WAY

TO CONNECT FOUR-LANE HIGHWAY WITH U. S. 42 SOUTH OF FLORENCE — WOULD GIVE FLORENCE TWO HIGHWAYS.

Charles W. Riley, Boone county attorney is busy procuring rights-of-way for a new highway, a spur, from the northern edge of Florence at the point where the four-lane Dixie Highway ends, cross country to the point where U. S. No. 42 runs dead into U. S. 25, Dixie Highway.

In the event rights-of-way can be procured and the road constructed, Florence would have the distinction of having two national highways running through it.

Such a road would broaden the town, thus giving it a chance to expand and will be important as a national defense measure. The Federal Government is interested in the latter angle, it was said, since a merger of U. S. 25 and 42 would virtually give the Army a direct route from Ft. Knox in the transportation of men and supplies.

APRIL 15TH LAST DAY FOR SIGN-UP

FOUR HUNDRED NINETY FARMERS HAVE FAILED TO SIGN A. C. P. FOR YEAR 1940-41, ACCORDING TO SECRETARY.

Four hundred ninety out of 1,380 eligible farmers have not been signed up for benefits under the 1940-41 program to date, according to John E. Crigler, Secretary of the Association. April 15th has been set as the last date farmers may sign up to receive benefits under this year's Agricultural Conservation Program. June 30th is the closing date for earning soil building practices.

Farmers are beginning to order large quantities of agricultural limestone and phosphate in preparation for spring seeding. Nine hundred sixty-four tons of limestone and 738,800 pounds of phosphate have been ordered to date. Present indications are there will be a shortage in April of both limestone and phosphate. Farmers expecting to use these important soil building fertilizers should file their orders at the county office now. Both limestone and phosphate are supplied as Grant of Aid without cash outlay under the A. C. Program.

SEED CATALOGUE

On the shelf of Boone County homes beside the family Bible you will probably find an almanac and a favorite mail order catalog lined up along side. But on hand with this other literature reposes the seed catalog and it is being given a real work-out at this time of year. The color appeals to the young and the choice vegetables and flowers in many varieties appeal to the oldsters. Most family round-tables have a busy time deciding whether to try for out-size potatoes in last year's petunia bed or give lettuce a chance where formerly blossomed the daisy. This yearly thumbing of the seed catalog is an important part of the American picture. If the planting is done on a large scale there is greater research into the subject. But even in homes where the backyard is small and gardening plots are limited, there is great interest in the seed catalog. Always have the children in on it by allowing them a small amount of garden space to call their very own. There comes a deep appreciation for new life and an understanding of birth, of the slow and deliberate survival of a small seedling, of the care to cultivate and coax. This is all good for children to see and understand. Discuss vegetables and flowers with them, make them take an [illegible] garden. A friend says he never gets spring fever in the spring but it hits him right in the fact when he picks up the seed catalog. He believes the best medicine for distress is to see price strawberries and tomatoes and waken up the red corpuscles, that a cantaloupe and a canterbury bell should mellow the turbulent and if that isn't medicine, what is it?

IT STUMPS YOU

A subscriber tried to straighten out the various committees to aid Amercia, the number of them, their purpose and the minds back of them. Naturally he had a job on his hands for there have been over 200 committees on various subjects relating to the war, formed within this past year! Add this number to those already in existence and you have a list. In many cases the names are similar, in a few cases the purpose is not quite clear, but the attitude of each one toward war seems to be that America is best served by staying out of it. Most of these committees favor aid to Great Britain. Famous names make up the list of directors in many groups and the membership is generally open to all. Their means of support is usually thru contributions and enrollment fees. Here is an idea of the thing you are running up against when you try and cover just a few of those names that you so often see in the public print these days. Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies; American Peace Mobilization; American Defenders of Freedom; America First Committee; League for Human Right, Freedom and Democracy Council for Democracy—National Defense Alliance; No Foreign War Committee; World Peace Foundation.

STOP MOANING

A friend says we should mention the subject of un-Americanism from the standpoint of the individual who listens to whiners and complainers and fretful souls who are expecting the worst to come and insist upon proclaiming their sobs to everyone at hand. The un-American part, he feels, is to be so convinced that all is dead black, the world going to pieces, a future of change dire to all of us, and so on. Perhaps the attitude is not unfounded since we might be into the war, we may suffer great economic changes, that freedom is at stake. Admit all this and yet while we still have our peace and freedom we must build up a reserve of great courage. The effect of the wail is not to anyone's credit and the sound of a hopeful voice is a song, a light in the dark, a flag to the resisting force. Longfellow put it this way,

"But noble souls through dust and heat
Rise from disaster and defeat
The stronger."

CUTTING DOWN

Most people in Boone County realize that rural America is the biggest percentage of the country that is strongly dry. The fact that distillers of intoxicating drink have, in the past, tried to promote advertising in the rural districts because that was the field to be "educated," is the testimony that rural America is dry. There has been a growing sentiments against liquor throughout the country and we are all glad to hear it. Finding out that liquor isn't necessary to social prominent and business success, shows that drinking is not good common sense. Due to industry being opposed to liquor when it interferes with production in business, and it always does interfere, this will tend to bring a drop in the sale. Rural America knew it was right in the first place!

—o—

FEWER AUTOS

Comes the word to Boone County that automobiles are going to take a back seat in production before many months and that 'those in the know' are buying cars while they can. There is the rumor of a government tax, of a lack of steel and especially since so many plants are undertaking defense work will there be reduction in pleasure cars. A subscriber says we haven't seen a stream-lined auto until we get a view of the models that will be exhibited before September as the 1942 motor car. Maybe we are not going to have a shortage of autos and perhaps this is all salesmanship as folks will say, but we do know that the national automobile show in New York this year has been cancelled. So you can believe there is something to the story as it stands.

WOODEN UTENSILS

Many housewives prefer wooden spoons for cake beating. They cream more quickly and beat batter lighter and fluffier. Also, they won't scratch and mark the sides of the mixing bowl as do metal spoons. But always store all wooden cooking utensils in a dry place. Use a small brush to scrub these utensils, in hot water and with soap suds. Be sure they are wiped dry and allow to stand before storing them away. This is especially true of bowls.

FOR HANDWORK

A charming cover that is easily made. Take the quilted chintz, which you can buy by the yard, (or quilt it yourself), make a slip cover to dress up the waste baskets. A zipper sewed down the side gives it a tight fit. You can also use this idea as a cover for a worn lampshade, if the lighting is indirect and the thickness of the chintz doesn't cut off the light. These slip covers can be easily laundered and lightly starched they dress up a room with their freshness.

ABOUT HOUSE PLANTS

Always sponge leaves of houseplants every two weeks with equal parts of milk and lukewarm water. They must be kept moist even while you are away from home. You can put one end of a strip of cloth into the soil of the pot and put the other part of the cloth into a pan of water. The moisture will travel into the dirt. You can place a wet sponge on top of the pot while you are absent from the house. When watering house plants, add a little ammonia to the water as it keeps them healthy and also adds nourishment to the soil.

PARAGRAPHS

It used to be that mothers were embarrassed when their son's shirttails would sneak outside the pants.

This winter will be the lonliest for the man who has not done something in some way, to help someone over there.

About the last we heard of "Wrong Way Corrigan" was when he married. He probably realizes now the truth in the nickname.

THE AUTHORITY OF CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—Luke 19:41—20:8.
GOLDEN TEXT—And why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?—Luke 6:46.

"By what authority doest thou these things?" The question of the scribes was a proper one, even though their spirit and purpose in asking it may have been wrong. Any man who claims to have authority over others should expect to be asked that question and be prepared to give an honest answer.

I. Authority Rejected (vv. 41-44).

On the previous day our Lord had made His kingly triumphant entry into the city and many had acclaimed Him (see vv. 37-40); but the city as a whole—and especially its leaders, both religious and governmental—had rejected Him.

As He came toward the city the next day and it spread out before Him in beautiful panorama, His tender heart was broken and He wept. His tears were not for Himself, but for the people who had rejected Him. We are told that the word used "for weeping here does not mean merely . . . tears" but "rather the heaving of the bosom, and the sob and cry of a soul in agony" (Morgan).

That is how He feels about you who reject His authority today, for the city of Jerusalem represented the attitude of all unbelieving humanity. He loves you, sinner, and weeps over your rejection of Him; but just as He ultimately had to reject the city because it rejected Him, He will have to condemn you in your sin if you continue to reject Him. Why do it?

II. Authority Asserted (vv. 45, 46).

The act of Jesus in cleansing the temple was very bold, for He held no position in the temple and He had no police powers. Only a man with a disordered mind or in a frenzy of anger would assume such authority if it did not belong to him. This means that Jesus acting as He did here, quietly, deliberately, and intelligently, was declaring by His deed that the one whose authority is above and back of all human authority had come to cleanse His Father's house.

It is a striking scene. Let us see in it all the gracious majesty, power and authority of the Son of God, our Saviour and Lord.

III. Authority Accepted (vv. 47, 48).

The people "were very attentive," or more effectively, as in the Revised Version, they "all hung upon him." How remarkable it is that "the common people heard him gladly" (Mark 12:37), while the learned leaders, both in religious and political circles, hated and rejected Him.

That situation has continued throughout the centuries. Let us not be disturbed or confused by the fact that so many "leading" men and women (thank God, not all of them, by any means) reject or question the claims of Christ. It is the very thing we ought to expect.

Young people, be not at all disturbed by that supposedly conclusive statement, "scholarship is agreed," for usually it proves to be wrong. Don't be surprised if some leading novelist, or tycoon of the business world, is not a follower of Christ.

Meet Jesus yourself and you will learn to love Him and want to serve Him. Get the balanced judgment of "the common people" who have really met the Lord, and you will find the right way—God's way.

IV. Authority Defended (20:1-8).

Humanly speaking, the priests and scribes were right when they challenged Christ. He had no official position which justified His acts and His words. But note carefully that the very fact that He, in return for their "Tell us," replied, "Tell me," indicates that the human authority which had a right to challenge other human authority had now met the One who is "the head of all principality and power." He had a supreme right to say, "Before I answer you, tell me."

We are apt to regard the answer of Jesus to their question as a skillful evasion of a difficult situation, but it was far more than that. If they had replied honestly to His question regarding John, and admitted that His authority was from heaven, Jesus would probably have said, "Then what did he say of me?" He would have reminded them of the statement of John that he was not worthy to loose the latchet of His shoes, of his prophecy of the judgment to come, of the baptism of fire (see Luke 3:16-17), of the day when John called Him "the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world" (John 1:29).

Here was proof concerning His authority, but they did not dare to ask for it because they did not want it. You too, reader, if you have questions regarding the claim of Christ to authority over your life may have a satisfying answer, but only if you honestly want it and will receive it with open mind and heart.

He who has the truth at heart need never fear the want of persuasion on his tongue.

FOR YOUR SAKE

Many housewives are burned while working around their kitchen stove. Scalding with hot water is the worst. Always keep the handles of the pans turned to the back of the stove and you will save yourself uncomfortable moments. This is also a safe measure if children are around the kitchen. Don't be careless wnen using an iron. Be sure it is turned off when you go to answer the doorbell or the telephone. Fortunately women today know better than to clean with gasoline in a closed room and where is a flame going. They realize that pouring kerosene into a coal range is heading for trouble.

WOMAN No. 1—

Here's a Woman:— (Not old—that cannot do all the things she would like to do. Why? Her feet hurt. Long before the day is over her legs ache and draw. Early in the afternoon her back begins to ache—then her head aches. When the day is over, she is a physical and nervous wreck, glad to be in bed. Now maybe after a night's sleep (if she gets a night's sleep) she hopes the day will bring her some body and foot comfort.

THE SECOND WOMAN:—About the same age—used to suffer day after day like the first woman. Someone told her that feet out of balance and not properly supported sometimes caused leg pains—backaches — and followed by headaches and general nervousness.

BUT SHE INVESTIGATED and found that these things can be corrected. After wearing surgical shoes, the foot pains disappeared —Corns and callouses vanished—no more leg pains—no more backaches—no more headaches—and the world seemed bright again—Just like being born all over again.

If you are suffering—don't put up with it another day—investigate today—Your feet may be causing all your trouble.—Adv.

NEW HOMES COPYING IDEAS FROM OLD ONES

It is not unusual to see ideas and materials that are popular in new home construction, being used in the modernization of old homes. The Philip Carey Company, Lockland, Cincinnati, Ohio, however, reports a reversal of this practice in the use of its Asbestos-Cement Siding in constructing side walls for new homes.

Asbestos-Cement Siding was first used by home modernizers for covering old, unsightly walls, increasing fire protection and reducing maintenance costs, to say nothing of getting new and pleasing decorative effects. The transformation of old places into beautiful and durable houses attracted such widespread attention among builders, architects and building prospects, that today, according to this authority, there is a rapidly growing use of this material for new homes.

The Philip Carey Company, a pioneer in the development of this material, manufacturers its "Carcystone" Asbestos-Cement Siding in a variety of styles and colors, to give architects and builders the opportunity to obtain the effects that they want.

Among the features that recommend his material to the building industry and to prospective home builders and modernizers, are: its reasonable first cost, its long life, its fireproof and termite-proof qualities.

Following the business session we discussed our personal service work. Our personal service chairman, Jeanette Edwards, was absent but the counselor distributed six dozen towels among the members to be made for the St. Elizabeth Hospital for our personal service work during the month of February.

The program chairman, Billye Wilson, then took charge of the program. The topic for the month was "The Waste of Not Enough." Those taking part on the program were Jean Love, Ella Ruth Black, Alberta Love, Gypsy Clifton, and Mae Smith. The meeting adjourned with prayer by Billye Wilson.

There were five members and seven visitors. Everyone enjoyed a lovely social hour following the meeting. We are to meet at the home of Ella Ruth Black in March, having a special program for the Week of Prayer.

PRUNES ARE STAPLE COLD WEATHER FOOD

Prunes are a winter staple that belong on the pantry shelf along with flour, sugar and spices, declare home economics experts.

Properly cooked so they are plump and juicy, prunes are a modest, but good-tasting fruit. They have more taste appeal when spiced up to go with a meat course, combined with cooked cereal for breakfast, mixed with butter or peanut butter for a sandwich filling, or used like fresh fruit in salads and desserts.

One can figure on about 12 servings from a pound of prunes, and the cost is surprisingly low. It is explained that this pound of prunes supplies food values, too—in the form of iron, calcium, vitamin A, and vitamin B complex.

In deciding on a dessert, keep prunes in mind as a filling for dumplings and turnovers, for topping shortcake and upside-down cake, for combining with sugar sugar and beaten egg whites or with whipped cream to make a fruit whip.

Prune bread offers another way to use this versatile fruit. Made like raisin bread with a yeast dough, it is excellent toasted. Or roll the dough out in a thin rectangular shape, spread with butter and a mixture of chopped pruns, nuts, and brown sugar, roll up like a jelly roll, and cut off pieces, to make pin wheel rolls. Or keep in one big roll for a rolypoly loaf with prune filing. To put chopped prunes in a quick bread is another idea, especially good when made with whole-wheat flour, to make a loaf of dark brown color high in minerals and vitamin B complex.

A GEOGRAPHY LESSON

We are brought more forcibly in touch with geography today than since we left the little red school house. Those people who are anxious to keep up, to ascertain facts and statistics, are people who get out the atlas, the geography and follow boundary lines and find cities in spots all over the globe that are entering into print and the public eye at the present. We marvel at the size of many of the countries, in proportion to the size of various of our states. We think of the great difference in temperament, race and creed, so closely adjoining in land but so far apart in other ways. Here in our country where instead of a division finding a country, the boundary line finds a state. This line is only a map mark for there is little to make a wall between our neighbors. We have no bars in our ways as we journey back and forth, no passports to show as we cross the state lines. It is all home.

From our census figures of last year we can see that people shift about from one state to another for settling. There are a number of the resort states that have added to their population figures. The older people seek the weather favorable to their health, to settle for the latter years where the sun keeps the blood warm. The dust-bowl states have lost in population but they are building larger farms and bigger ranches out there for they know the secret of adjustment now.

How glorious to live where no restrictions demand that you remain within one state, where we flow freely over boundary lines as just going from one home to a similar one.

THEY GET THERE

Our schoolchildren in Boone County are fortunate in their easy access to school. They are protected by safety patrols of students in cities where there is danger in crossing streets and highways. Signs of warning have been put up to help slow down the careless motorist. But in many districts in the U. S. such an easy method for the transportation and protection of the school child is not possible. Perhaps you have not considered that there are other ways of going to school besides on foot or in school buses. Some children still ride horseback despite the popular bicycle. In some of the large cities where children live far from the school parents must drive them back and forth and there is a taxi service that charges a school rate and takes the student and brings him home each day, for a considerate fee.

In some districts, where homes are scattered through the wide spaces, some perhaps 200 miles from the school, the children live in dormitories since they can't go home each day. Dog sleds, seating as high as 40 youngsters, are used in some of the snow-ridden districts. Others go to school in boats. There are a few children who live across a canyon and swing to school in a basket on a cable! But so important is education that we use all manner of ways to see that our nation's children get it.

Peach Cake Is Good Come-On

MAYBE it's an outing you want next Sunday, or help with the curtains.

Whatever you wish from your family, a special Peach Cake for dinner will help win it. For right-hand aid on this dessert, try the new self-rising flour now on the market. The new product has lots of advantages over the old self-rising flour, because action is slowed so that by the time your cake is mixed, the baking powder is only starting to work. Thus, you lose none of the "risin' " power.

Here is the recipe to try with the new flour:

Peach Cake

Cream 7 tablespoons or a scant ½ cup fat. Add ⅔ cup sugar. Cream until sugar has dissolved. Add 1 egg and stir in thoroughly (do not beat). Add ½ cup milk and 1½ cups self-rising flour alternately. Add 1 teaspoon extract. Pour into a greased and floured cake pan, and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 minutes. Whip 1 pint whipping cream and add ¼ cup sugar. Split the cake. Spread lower half with 1 cup crushed peaches and half the whipping cream. Add top layer, and pile with another cup of crushed peaches and remaining cream. Garnish with peach slices.

FARM CONFERENCE FOR 25 COUNTIES

A regional landlord-tenant conference will be held March 5 at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture at Lexington, with land owners, farm operators, county agents and others in attendance from approximately 25 counties. Under the supervision of Dr. W. D. Nicholls of the farm economics department, the conference will consist of an interchange of views on problems of tenancy.

Many county and regional meetings of this type have been held during the past two years.

THREE CROPS IN ONE!

C. A. Turner of Barren county reports a production of 2,423 pounds of tobacco on one acre. The land had been in alfalfa four years. He applied a large amount of manure and 400 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate. The result was about three times the average tobacco yield.

PLAN TO IMPROVE TOBACCO QUALITY

In the interest of producing better rather than more tobacco, the following recommendations were offered growers in Christian county, Kentucky:

Grow No. 16 if land has been limed recently or if root-rot disease has appeared.

Treat beds with bordeaux mixture at least twice to help control blue mold in the bed and leafspot disease in the field.

Select good ground, well-drained and well-supplied with organic material.

In fertilizing, use eight to ten loads of manure to the acre, two-thirds turned under and not more than one-third disked in after breaking.

If not phosphated in the past four years with 500 pounds of 20 percent phosphate or its equivalent, broadcast 500 pounds of 20 percent per acre. The more manure used the more phosphate required.

Apply 250 pounds of 4-12-8 or its equivalent per acre in the row, or 150 pounds of 8-18-18 or its equivalent.

Rate of setting should be determined by the fertility of the land. Sixteen to 18 inches should be the minimum and three to three and a half feet the maximum distance between rows.

Cultivate just enough to keep vegetation down and to maintain a mulch.

No sadder moment for a mother than to see her son perform his first shave.

Alfalfa Acre Should Be Increased, Says County Agent Forkner

The alfalfa acreage should be increased by 2,750 acres in 1941, according to the recommendations of farmers attending the county soils and crops meeting at Burlington on last Tuesday. This would represent an increase of over 100 per cent of the acreages seeded in 1940, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

The county soils and crops improvement program recommended at the meeting included in addition to alfalfa acreage increases, use of Balbo Rye, by far the best variety of rye grown to date; greater attention to conservation and utilization of barnyard manure and crop residues; 23 potash demonstrations; 23 grass variety demonstrations; 17 rye grass demonstrations; use 1,200,000 pounds of phosphate and 13,000 tons of agricultural limestone this year.

YOUTH OF GARRARD STUDY CONTROL OF ANIMAL DISEASES

Farm youth of Garrard county, Kentucky, long famous for their 4-H club cattle, have the first project in the United States whereby they practice methods to prevent livestock diseases. Two hundred and eighteen enrolled last year and 228 have registered for the work this year.

One hundred and ten young men and women are giving the best of care to cattle; 59 vaccinated against blackleg, 50 against hemorrhagic septicemia and 26 against pinkeye.

Eighty-eight are properly housing, feeding, watering and salting lambs; 40 examined ewes for udder troubles; 83 cleaned barns and bedded sheep; 63 treated flocks for worms; 32 will practice pasture rotation, and 34 are guarding against footrot.

One hundred and nineteen are feeding balanced rations to hogs; 89 cleaned and disinfected farrowing pens; 29 removed sows and pigs to clean grounds, and 49 vaccinated against cholera.

One hundred and thirty-two are feeding hens for egg production; 102 are cleaning and disinfecting brooder houses; 37 built sun porches for baby chicks; 28 will provide new range for chickens, and 122 are keeping feed and water in clean containers.

This work is being done under the cooperative supervision of Dr. T. F. Polk of the State College of Agriculture and B. W. Fortenbery, county agent.

STRESS NEED OF BETTER POULTRY

Chickens are kept on approximately 90 percent of the 278,298 farms in Kentucky, and bring in annually about $25,000,000 according to the State College of Agriculture at Lexington. However, more than half of these farms have fewer than 50 chicken each, and another 28 percent have fewer than 100. This means that only 10 percent of the farms of the State have 100 chickens.

Using as a slogan, "An egg a day for each member of the farm family," J. E. Humphrey of the College's poultry section advocates at least five laying pullets for each person in the farm family. To insure this number of hens, he would start off at least 15 chickens per family member this spring.

More and better chickens are considered an essential part of the state-wide live-at-home program, and every farm family should have a flock of sufficient size to supply eggs and some of its meat.

DEFENSE MAN TELLS OF NATION'S NEEDS

Karl Olsen of the National Defense Commission, speaking at the Farm and Home Convention at the College of Agriculture at Lexington, outlined the following course for the United States:

"First, we must, in our total-defense program, see that our own nation is unified. We cannot have unity which is essential for even a semblance of effective defense if we tolerate unemployment, idle industrial plants, the weakening of labor standards, false economizing of the farm program, unnecessary sacrifice of consumers' income, discrimination against Negroes and new immigrant groups, or appeasement on the part of industrialists for the sake of European trade. Unity will demand sacrifices but there must be equal sacrifice on the part of all groups in the nation . . .

"Secondly, we must see to our position in Latin America. The challenge of a German economic penetration and control in South America must be met. The danger here is that Germany will gain political domination over Latin America to be the haphazard and unorganized efforts of private traders . . .

"This raises difficult problems, and no one would advocate dumping the surplus products of Latin America in our own market. But a way must be found to insure that Hitler, through competitive bidding does not get his foodstuffs for nothing and insure the success of his political penetration as well . . ."

"GOOD CITIZENS ON THE HIGHWAY"

A new circular of community programs for Kentucky 4-H clubs contains the following questions relative to highway safety:

As a pedestrian—

Do I always look before I cross a street or highway?

Do I walk facing the traffic?

In town do I wait until I see the proper signal before crossing the street?

Do I stand on the curb and wait for the correct light?

Do I always cross the street at an intersection?

As a driver—

Do I know the hand signals for stop, right and left turn?

Do I always use these signals?

Do I respect the right of other motorists, keeping on the right hand side of the road?

Are the brakes on my car in good condition.

Are the lights on my car in good condition?

Do I ever attempt to "show off" by speeding, or any other way?

REPORTS INTEREST IN FRUIT GROWING

Extensive revival of interest in fruit growing in the Kentucky mountain county of Harlan is reported by Gray H. Williams, agricultural agent. Farmers are planning to renovate old orchards, to start or expand plantings of small fruits. Several hundred trees will be pruned, sprayed and fertilized in orchards of Oscar Hensley and Robert Brown. Ray Calloway will transplant 4,000 Blakemore strawberries and Jess Vornett, 2,000 plants. Mrs. Millard Kelly has plantings of grapes, raspberries and boysenberries. A considerable number of farmers will grow boysenberries for the first time.

KENTUCKY USES BIG PHOSPHATE TONNAGE

The serious attitude of Kentucky farmers toward conservation is reflected by their use of 300,000 tons of superphosphate and phosphate materials in 1940. S. C. Jones of the State College of Agriculture says this amount of phosphate would treat approximately two million acres.

Cooperative tests made by the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Kentucky Experiment Station in Logan, Livingston and Marshall counties show that applications of phosphate materially increases corn yields, and that the use of both phosphate and lime often doubles yields.

Plans of farmers in Henry county include the seeding of about 750 acres of alfalfa next spring and several hundred acres more in the fall of 1941. Many farmers are spreading limestone in fields they are planning to sow to alfalfa next year.

More Mattresses Available To Applicants

Farm and town families cooperating in the Kentucky Rural Mattress Program are eligible for more mattresses under a new ruling, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. A family of three are now eligible to receive two mattresses and a family of five three mattresses. Materials for making comforters are also available.

One hundred sixty-six mattresses have been ordered under the programs todate. Eligible persons who have not already applied should file their applications immediately.

CATTLE FEEDERS REPORT PROFITS

Farmers cooperating with the Kentucky College of Agriculture in demonstrating the value of balanced rations for fattening cattle reported a profit in 1940. Some of them made as much as $35 per animal, and their average profit was $21 a steer.

Wayland Rhoads, field agent for the college, reports that the method of carrying cattle through two summers and one winter and feeding grain before going to market returned profits last year. Profits on short feeding during the winter were about as usual, but in general were less than where cattle were carried over a longer period and more roughage and pasture used in making gains.

Feeders of distillery slop have improved their methods in recent years, according to Rhoads. Feeding large amounts of cottonseed meal in addition to slop has been discontinued.

Through the efforts of the College of Agriculture, most feeders of distillery slop are using a mineral supplement composed largely of ground limestone to balance the ration. Also, corn, molasses, hays, straws and other feeds are being used to supplement the slop. More attention also is being given to providing shelter for slop-fed cattle.

MATTRESS PROGRAM REPORT

Five hundred and fifty-one communities are participating in the Kentucky Rural Mattress Program to date, according to a report by Miss Myrtle Weldon, state leader of county home demonstration agents. Cooperating in the program are the Extension Service, the AAA and the Surplus Commodities Corporation.

By February 1, 1,344 bales of cotton had been received in the State. Applications received for mattresses total 10,495, with 3,886 already certified. On order are 118,848 yards of ticking, with 19,200 yards received so far, and 61,600 yards of percale for comforters ordered. On order for the comforters are 22,640 pounds of cotton, the State leader of home demonstration work stated.

To aid with the problem of surplus cotton, and also to make mattresses available, the Surplus Commodities Corporation is furnishing cotton to those who meet the condition provided in the program. Applications are received by county home demonstration agents, and certified by the local AAA committees.

Families eligible must pay a small fee to cover cost of constructing the mattresses, and the time and labor required to make them under expert supervision. Voluntary community leaders number 458 men and 809 women. The present report, compiled on the basis of 48 counties, is necessarily incomplete, it is emphasized.

Government Reports A Bumper Yield

Lower crop acreages and higher yields are the startling achievements of farmers revealed in the 1939 Government Crop Report. From the fewest number of acres harvested under normal weather conditions since the World War, farmers reaped yields that were only 1 per cent under the record year of 1938, when more acres were harvested.

A step toward bigger yields.

Many major factors behind this accomplishment are revealed in personal interviews with 32,000 farmers in 35 States. Better all around farming practices stand out.

Every farmer interviewed in The National Fertilizer Association survey made an estimate based on yields obtained with and without fertilizer.

Kentucky farmers stated they got an increase of 38 per cent on corn; 38 per cent on tobacco; 67 per cent on wheat; and 50 per cent on potatoes.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

Superphosphate furnished Adair county farmers in the Agricultural Conservation program last year would have cost about $50,000 if bought in the open market, according to County Agent R. R. Rankin.

The Department of Markets at the Kentucky College of Agriculture believes good hog prices may be expected the rest of the winter and in the spring. The demand for pork is increasing, without a corresponding increase in hog marketing.

One hundred and twenty-three reservoirs were constructed on farms in Henry county last year. Preliminary to beginning the work, 105 farmers attended a demonstration in which 750 yards of earth were moved in seven hours.

Forty-five boys were enrolled in a game conservation 4-H club in Hopkins county last year. They protected quail nests, built cat guards on nesting trees, made bird houses, and planted feed and cover crops for birds.

In Hart county, corn produced 57 bushels to the acre, following four years of grass and legumes on land that had been treated with limestone and phosphate. On untreated land, yields averaged about 20 bushels.

Why is it that so many autos in local garages decide they can't wait until spring for a new set of tires?

The deal that most of the small nations are getting, is with a marked deck.

Fertilizer Prices Low Despite War

Contrary to the sharp advance in price of fertilizer during the last World War, demands of the present war and national defense program have not so far boosted the cost of fertilizer to the farmer.

"New developments in science and technology such as the production of synthetic nitrogen have reduced production costs and prices," says the United States Department of Agriculture in a report which also points out that according to 1910-1914 average the price of fertilizer is considerably lower than the prices of most commodities bought by farmers.

Farmers in the eastern part of the United States in 1939 spent on the average only 4.4 cents of each dollar of farm cash income for fertilizer. If the price of fertilizer had been the same as in 1929 it would have taken 5.8 cents, while if farmers were paying 1920 prices their fertilizer purchases would have taken 8.2 cents of each dollar.

Even though the price paid for fertilizer has declined substantially during the past 20 years, the amount of plant food contained in a ton of fertilizer is now 9 per cent greater than it was in 1930 and 40 per cent greater than in 1920. Fertilizer has also been improved in quality in other ways.

UTOPIA CLUB ACTIVE

Members of the Scott county Utopia club, which is an organization of older farm boys and girls, have started herds of beef cattle and flocks of poultry and sheep, are planning to grow hybrid corn, fruit and other products, and are making a study of farm financing. One member owns a herd of registered Angus cattle. Fifteen hundred raspberry plants have been ordered by two members. The 25 young men and women meet once a month, with special meetings now and then, according to James I. Stephens, assistant county agent.

THE FARM AND HOME

Many housewives include in their canning budget several kinds of meats, such as roast beef, lamb, broiled steak, pork and lamb chops, baked spareribs, fried chicken, beef and lamb stews, sausage, tongue and liver.

Some farmers have located markets that pay more for good eggs. They select large, uniform eggs weighing 4 to 26 ounces to the dozen, and deliver them "extra fresh" sometimes taking them directly to customers.

Cranberry ice: Cook 4 cups of cranberries in 4 cups of water. Rub through a strainer, add 2 cups of sugar, and stir until dissolved. Add a half-up of lemon juice and a teaspoon of vanilla. Cool and freeze.

In buying a family cow, select one that has had two or three calves and her productive ability thereby established. In most instances, a grade cow will do, and can be bought cheaper than a registered animal.

The use of lye in cleaning bath tubs and other enameled or china household equipment eventually results in damage. Lye will clog pipes, unless it is followed immediately with large amounts of hot water.

A ewe needs at least a gallon of pure water daily. Loose salt in a box in a shed or barn is better than block salt. Sheep prefer the open most of the time, but should have access to shelter in stormy weather.

Someone in Boone County suggested this was a war of yarns, those handled by women knitters and those handed out by dictators.

SATURDAY

Richard Dix refused an offer of $5,000 to have his twin sons play in Paramount's "Cerokee Strip," in which he is starred. There was a short but important scene for a small boy in the picture and producer Harry Sherman thought he could add to the picture by using Richard and Robert Dix, five years old.

In refusing the offer Dix explained that he has never allowed the twins to be photographed for publication. Obviously the offer was made because they were his sons.

"They'll have to get their picture roles on their own. It's too easy to give the kids false values," he explained. "I want them to stand on their own feet and to depend on their relationship to me."

With Richard Dix in the picture are Florence Rice, William Henry, Victor Jory, Andy Clyde, George E. Stone and Morris Ankrum.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

"No, No Nanette" one of the most successful stage musicals in the history of the theatre, has been brought to the screen by RKO Radio as a scintillating vehicle or Anna Neagle, who scored such a noteworthy success last year in the film version of "Irene."

As in the preceding offering, the lovely star sings and dances in the streamline filmusical, which features such well remembered Vincent Youmans tunes as "Tea for Two," "I Want to Be Happy," and "No, No, Nanette."

Roland Young, Richard Carlson, Victor Mature and Helen Broderick top the distinguished supporting cast in this Herbert Millcox production.

TUESDAY

In the first World War, Charles Vidor enlisted at the age of 16, saw two years of fighting and was decorated four times, thrice sustaining wounds for the bravery that won the medals.

When he arrived in the United States, the four medals were stolen from his hotel room in New York City. Interested only in obtaining a job, Vidor did not harass New York City Police, but forgot about the medals.

Recently, directing Brian Aherne and Rita Hayworth in "The Lady in Question," Vidor recognized a decoration worn by one of the extras. Curious, he asked the extra where he had obtained it. The extra told him that it came from Columbia's property department. Vidor, examining the medal, found his own name on the back. Investigation revealed that the property department had picked up this medal with a host of others from a pawn shop in downtown Los Angeles.

WED., THURS., FRI., AND SAT., MARCH 5, 6, 7, 8TH

The filming of the biggest scene ever photographed was made possible by construction of the largest motion picture camera crane. A giant boom with an extension of 85 feet in any direction, including a direct vertical one, was designed to photograph 1500 extras on the forty-acre Atlanta, Ga., set in "Gone with the Wind," the Technicolor production starring Clark Gable, Leslie Howard and Olivia de Havilland and presenting Vivien Leigh as Scarlett O'Hara. The complete, full-length version of the picture will be shown at the Gayety on the above dates.

So enormous was the crane's weight—140 tons—that a concrete runway two hundred feet long and twelve feet wide was built along the track where the crane moved. The largest camera crane previously in existence had a boom reach of only 33 feet, entirely inadequate for the scenes proposed by Director Victor Fleming. It was desired to shoot a close-up of Miss Leigh as Scarlett O'Hara and swing from that directly to a long shot of Union and Confederate wounded soldiers.

The giant camera boom was built with a contractor's rigging crane, mounted with its caterpillar tractor on two trailers, and supported by forty-six truck-sized pneumatic tired wheels. The crane was designed to handle such heavy loads as structural steel members, tanks and electric signs, so it was rigid enough to support the big Technicolor cameras without vibration.

AGRICULTURAL CLASS MEET

The Part Time class, a class in Agriculture for out-of school young men, met at the home of Lawrence Barnes Monday night, Feb. 24th. The class usually meets at the Hebron school. The meeting Monday, March 3rd, will be at the school house. There were seven members and several visitors present at the meeting last Monday.

The class has been discussing feeding of live stock. We feel this is important as the outlook for livestock farming is very good. Good feeding methods may be the controlling factor between gain and loss in farm income.

We are displeased if someone wrongs us, and equally displeased when we are discovered to be in the wrong by somebody.

A man was overheard to remark that perhaps the reason Hitler can't see the handwriting on the wall is because it might be written in pig-Latin.

When folks tire of war talk they can always return to the more pleasant subject of taxation.

One thing when a fellow forgets anniversary, his wife doesn't worry at nights about burglars stealing jewelry that she hasn't.

You know we aren't too soft from easy living, when they can still sell unsliced bread in shops.

PLEA MADE TO DONALDSON

FOR CONSTRUCTION OF NEW HIGHWAY FROM LUDLOW TO U. S. 42—$90,000 FUND MAY BE AVAILABLE FOR PROJECT.

Construction of a road sought by the West Kenton Good Roads Association from Ludlow to U. S. 42, near Florence and passing thru Bromley, Crescent Springs and Erlanger, will be impossible out of this year's general construction funds, but may be considered if local funds are made available towards its construction, J. Lyter Donaldson, commissioner of Highways, told a delegration representing the association, at Frankfort Saturday.

It was pointed out to Mr. Donaldson that there was a possible $90,000 that might be used toward construction of such a road which John M. Hunnicutt, spokesman for the group, called of "strategic military importance," and would also relieve congestion of traffic now in the area.

There is approximately $60,000 in a bond fund, unexpended out of an approximate $500,000 bond issue voted many years ago, said Mr. Hunnicutt. The county also receives approximately $30,000 a year for its rural program.

Mr. Donaldson declared that the $60,000 fund would have to be made available for expenditure by the bond committee now handling it, and that the $30,000 fund could be used on the new road provided the fiscal court would memorialize the Highway Department to use the money on this road.

CCC Enrollees Play Important Role in National Defense Program

Although soil conservation is a prominent objective of the Walton CCC camp, the enrollees are expected to play an important part in National defense, according to Ward T. Darnell, superintendent.

The boys are not given military training in the camps, Darnell explained, but the training of young men to work and to be more useful citizens is a fundamental part of the Civilian Conservation Corps program.

Building gully control structures, sodding terrace outlet channels, surveying terrace and strip crop contour lines, planting trees and grass on eroded land, drainage rehabilitation, and many other types of conservation work are being done by boys of the camp. But truck driving, tractor skinning, surveying, mapping, truck and tractor repairing, bookkeeping, drafting, and numerous other jobs are also everyday occupations of many enrollees.

Conservation plans for 176 farms composed of more than 23,953 acres have been drawn up and put into execution by the camp and cooperating farmers in Boone, Kenton, Gallatin and Grant counties. This work, coupled with that done by the other CCC camps and the soil conservation service have contributed greatly to saving Kentucky soil and other resources, Darnell said. The training that has been given the thousands of boys who have passed through these camps, however, probably is the most important contribution that the CCC has made to the state.

Teaching the boys to work at useful jobs is the principle upon which the training of CCC enrollees is founded. About 90 percent of the young men who report for duty to the camps have had little, if any, worthwhile experience. Most of them were never able to get a worthwhile job before they came to the CCC. When they leave the camp after their six months to two years' stay, practically all of them are qualified to hold down a job in some useful industry or occupation.

The Army officers, the medical officer, the educational adviser, and the project superintendent, foremen, and technicians from the Soil Conservation Service all cooperate in training enrollees for some useful occupation. It is a practical school for boys, most of them whom never finished their high school education. The CCC educational program teaches theories that have a specific application to the job at hand. "Learning to do by doing" is the motto.

When a group of new enrollees first arrives in camp they are given a few days of intensive training in the camp organization. At the end of this short period they are assigned to a foreman's crew in the field. The labor foremen are responsible for training them in the fundamentals of productive work. First, the boys learn to use a pick and shovel, to know what a hard day's work means, and to observe the "Safety First" regulations of the camp. From then on, they are assigned jobs of increasing responsibility, according to their capabilities.

Nearly all of the better jobs in camp have various grades of responsibility. For example: Some ten to fifteen truck drivers are needed in each camp. They are generally classified as five understudy drivers or swampers, and eight to ten drivers hauling men and materials. Drivers who can be trusted to haul men have been highly trained in the truck driving class. A boy who wishes to become a truck driver and who shows ability along this line is started out as an under-study and advances until he reaches the top grade, if he proves himself worthy and capable of such promotion.

There are usually one or two tractor drivers, two mechanics, ten members of surveying crews and draftsmen, five clerks and property keepers, one filling station operator, cooks, bakers, medical assistants, and other specialized types of workers in each erosion control camp. In addition, there is a group who serve as subforemen, known as leaders and assistant-leaders.

"The question has come up many times recently as to what the CCC is doing toward National Defense," Darnell said. "No Military training is given. All of the boys more than 21 years of age, however, are registered for the Selective Service, just the same as if they were not in camp. They will report for duty in the Army as soon as their numbers are called.

"When CCC boys go into the Army, according to opinions of Army officers, they will make far better soldiers than if they had been enrolled in a camp. They have been vaccinated and have been put through the toughening-up process so necessary for a soldier before he can be trained to fight. They have learned to live together and work together. In other words, these boys have had their elementary training if they are drafted into the Army.

"The CCC is preparing young men for National Defense, however, in many ways beside making them physically and temperamentally fit. The training they receive in skills of vital non-combatant value may be an important part of the defense program. There is only a step between being a driver of a large crawler type tractor and the driver of an army tank. The boy who can be trusted to drive a truck in convoy and haul his fellow enrollees in the field can be held responsible for driving a truck to haul men and material in the Army. He would also make a good driver for an armored car.

"An enrollee who can tear a tractor apart and put it back together again might make a very handy man to have around when a tank breaks down on the battlefield. A boy that has been trained in the fundamentals of surveying and drafting can make military sketches with little additional training. Visitors who have eaten the 'grub' in a CCC camp agree that many of the enrollee cooks would be a blessing to the company mess of some Army unit. These are but a few of the skills taught CCC boys that are preparing them to do their part toward the nation's defense."

In all cases the work training received on the job is supplemented with classroom instruction that gives the essential "book-learning" necessary to make the boys effective in their particular line. Some of the jobs require more theoretical training than others. The surveying crews, draftsmen, clerks and bookkeepers must spend some time studying mathematics. Other boys are taught elementary chemistry, dietetics, first aid, and many other subjects. All illiterates are taught to read and write.

The training program goes even further, however, than just teaching the boys how to hold a job. It also teaches them how to get a job when they are graduated from camp. Each boy is taught how to fill out an application blank and make application for a job. The correct approach in applying for a job is often as important to these unemployed youngsters as their skill as workmen.

"Most of the boys who graduate from the camps get a job at the time they leave the camp, or soon thereafter," Darnell reported.

"There are some, however, who go back to the home farm. These boys also find that their training in camp has been highly beneficial because soil conservation is one of the things all of the boys are taught thoroughly."

Loans Available To Boone County Farmers

Emergency crop and feed loans for 1941 are now available to farmers in Boone County, and applications for these loans are now being received at the County Agent's office on Tuesday afternoons by Henry D. Dicken, Field Supervisor of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Section of the Farm Credit Administration.

These loans will be made, as in the past, only to farmers whose cash requirements are small and who cannot obtain a loan from any other source, including production credit associations, banks, or other private concerns or individuals.

As in former years, the money loaned will be limited to the applicant's necessary cash needs in preparing and cultivating his 1941 crops, or in purchasing or producing feed for his livestock.

Borrowers who obtain loans for the production of cash crops are required to give as security a first lien on the crop financed, or, in the case of loans for the purchase or production of feed for livestock, a first lien on the livestock to be fed.

MARCH

Back on the old Roman calendar March was the first month of the year. They were a smart people, these Greeks, for surely the month of March signifies a beginning of a new year in new life. March overcomes January in growth and its wind tempers itself to being mild and often balmy, the song of the bird seeps through March days and a few persevering crocus and tulip push up their heads to proclaim that the Greeks had the right word for it. Days begin to lengthen and winter darkness gives way to more daylight for man's work in Boone County. March does have a way of dampening our enthusiasm as she causes her winds to chill our glow, her storms to stamp on our sentiment. But we remain true to our faith in her as the forerunner of spring and feel that indeed does March herald in a new year.

OFF TO BERMUDA

You wonder what will be the reaction of the Britisher of Bermuda to the establishing of Americans on their island. This is one of our new defense bases and Uncle Sam is sending about 6,000 soldiers, sailors, marines and their families to Bermuda to establish residence. There is a prediction that although it will be difficult for a native Bermudian to change from his allegiance to Britain, with the establishing of homes and places of business that the American influence will be great enough that in time the islands will become completely American. Remember that America is given a 90-year lease on this island and that is a long enough time to prove some theory or other. There has been a report that already there were words between the American soldiers and the British over who won the last war! Sounds sort of like us.

Perhaps that it is well for the defense base to be located on a group of the small islands at the end of the country, furthest from the exclusive clubs, beaches, shops and hotels which are managed by the British. Of course American businessmen will follow to this 19 square miles of tropical Eden. Time will iron out the difficulties and after all its was a blow to the Bermudian that his little empire was turned over to Uncle Sam. They will do business with these Americans who bring in new life, freshness, pep, push and money, but underneath their sentiments are British and it will take years of living on the islands to work out the problem.

NEW MAIL SERVICE

A new U. S. Highway Mail Service is to be inaugurated in a short time to accommodate that part of the country where railroad postal service does not extend. These mail busses will answer more of the problem than the rural mail service as we now know it. They will carry postal clerks who will cancel and sort mail en route and if any mail is addressed to stops on the road it will be dropped off as they do on the railroads. They will carry stamps, make regular stops and conduct usual postoffice services. This is expected to become a very useful institution after it gets under way.

The original idea for this motor postal service was first put into effect in Sweden about four years ago. They used carriages to reach isolated villages in the mountains where railroads did not travel. Then came the postal bus to replace the carriage method and was designed and equipped the same as the postal car on the train. In Sweden they have special stamps, postcards and special cancellation to show the delivery service was by auto. We may get this later on if our system proves as satisfactory.

It all goes to prove that we are today a widespread land and that with all of our progress we are still isolated in areas from the railroad line of communication. We will await the outcome of this new idea.

THERE WAY A WAY

And so they built a church to replace one that had been burned to the ground the year before. They did it because the congregation had a young minister who was convinced that with cooperation on the part of all, the work would be done. So there it stands, the new church, free of debt and as a memorial of trust in the Lord and of faith in man's works. With sleeves rolled, clad in overalls, the young minister went to the heart of the business by removing the wreckage of the old and preparing for the new bricks. Members of the congregation came to assist as crews. Women gave of their time. A record was kept of all hours spent and valued at 70 cents an hour for labor. Over 16,000 hours was the total and this plus the cash contributions developed into the new building. A lesson for Boone Countians in good works, faith, co-operation and leadership.

NO KITCHEN POLICE?

Army life ain't what it used to be! This is proven by the description of the new mess hall of one of the army camps erected in the east. From the angle of potato peeling and dish washing the days of the kitchen police are of the past. The present mess hall in one of the camps is a thing of beauty and a joy forever, in chromium and enamel. All of the equipment found in the kitchen of the most modern hotels. There are the automatic meat and bread slicers, huge ovens for baking, electric mixers and dish washing machines with the automatic potato peeler to lighten the task for any kitchen policeman! Of course there will still be the task of mopping the floor and emptying the garbage.

The basketball team of Liberty School, Oldham County, visited the New Haven teams Friday night. During the game one of the Liberty boys had the misfortune to fall and break his leg.

Rex Kite is confined to his bed with an attack of measles.

CHRIST REJECTED

LESSON TEXT—Luke 20:9-20.
GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake.—Matthew 5:11.

Rejection of Christ by Israel as a nation is pictured in our lesson. We know how the judgment of God has come upon that nation because of its failure to receive Him and believe on Him. God had to take the vineyard from them and give it to others (v. 16).

Men today reject Christ, and we find that the sin which causes them to do so and the judgment which follows are essentially the same as in the case of Israel. There is a reason for Christ rejection, and there is a certain time of answering to God for that sin.

I. Why Men Reject Christ (vv. 9-15).

Self-will, the very heart of all sin, underlies every refusal to let Christ have His rightful control over our lives. There are two forces which may dominate and direct my life—God's will or self-will. Just as love of God is the essence of all virtue (Matt. 22:37-38), so love of self is the essence of all sin.

The leaders of Israel, both political and religious, had one great fear which dominated all of their thinking concerning Jesus; namely, that they would lose all their authority if He were recognized by the people for what the leaders must have known Him to be—the Son of God, and their rightful King. God had entrusted to them as underservants the care of His vineyard, and in their wicked greed they had determined to have it all for themselves, even though it meant destroying the Son and rightful Heir.

We need only a moment's reflection to realize that this is exactly what occurs every time someone now rejects Christ. It is because in self-will that person decides that the one who has a right to his life is not to have it. There are many sins, but this is the root sin of them all.

II. What Happens When Men Reject Christ (vv. 16-18).

Judgment. It came to Israel, as all history even to this dark day so strikingly testifies. Just so, it will come to every one who rejects Christ.

It is not a slight matter of comparative unimportance whether a man accepts or rejects Christ. He likes to make it appear so, saying that it is just something about the local church that he does not like, or the preacher does not exactly suit him; or perchance he hides behind the time-worn excuse that there are hypocrites in the church, when in doing so he proves that he is himself the worst of hypocrites.

All of these excuses do not hide the fact that in self-will he is rejecting God's will for his life in Christ. At the end of that road he will have to meet the judgment of God upon sin. God reads the heart, knows the falsity of every excuse and the real rebellion against Christ, which may be hidden from fellow men by smooth words and polite manners.

Tear off that mask, unbelieving friend who may read these words. Face the truth that you are refusing Christ's authority because you are self-willed, and look squarely at the fact that "it is appointed unto men once to die, and after this cometh the judgment" (Heb. 9:27. R. V.)

III. How Men Reject Christ (vv. 19, 20).

Deceit and treachery of the vilest kind marked the rejection of Christ by Israel's leaders. They feared the people, and lacking the authority to condemn Him themselves they had to obtain some evidence under which the Roman law would have to sentence Him. It is significant that they could not find one bit of real evidence against Him and had to proceed by trickery and treachery.

Christ rejection in our day is just as deceitful and treacherous, although it does not often appear so outwardly. As a matter of fact, the leaders of Israel were outwardly polite and careful. They sent spies who could "feign themselves to be just men." They "feared the people" and did not dare to speak openly against Him.

Men cover up their motives today. Some would wish to excuse themselves on the ground of lack of knowledge, but in our land at least that is largely their own choice. Others might say they have only been careless, but on what ground can one justify neglect of a life and death matter? Some blame the sins of professing Christians, but this is an individual matter—you must answer for your own soul.

No matter which way man may turn in seeking for an excuse for his rejection of Christ, if he is honest he will have to admit that he has dealt deceitfully with God. When he does that, he is ready in repentance and faith to take Christ as his Saviour and Lord.

Charity is never lost; it may meet with ingratitude, or be of no service to those on whom it was bestowed, yet it ever does a work of beauty and grace upon the heart of the giver. —Ruskin

FOR COOKIES

Make plain cookies into something fancy for company. Put small sugar cookies together with a filling of jam and cream cheese mixed equally. Children like peanut butter so make a filling for spice or butterscotch cookies of it. Make a sugar frosting of white confectioner's sugar and add chopped raisins and nuts to it for a thick filling for large cookies.

Ninety-nine out of a hundred babies are born with good feet, even if they do appear to be flat at the start. We say babies are born with flat feet because the bony masses in a new-born baby's feet are held in place by fat pads. As the baby starts to stand and walk, these fatty pads are absorbed and muscles take their place. By about the third year the arch of the foot should be pretty well defined if the child is going to have any arch. We say if, because every one isn't intended to have a high arched contour to the foot, any more than every one is meant to have the same color of hair or eyes. Perhaps when the child starts to stand he is overweight, or undernourished or has gone thru a serious illness. In that event the muscles may not develop enough to produce an arch in his foot. He then grows with a natural flat foot. The condition is rarely painful. However, many cases of flat feet can be averted if the child is provided with shoes that hold the weak foot in alignment. Such shoes are usually wedged slightly under the inner border of the heel bone. This prevents tipping in of the ankles and by over correction has a tendency to cause the muscles on the inner border of the leg to shorten. These muscles are the ones which keep the foot arched.—Adv.

Letter Received By Mrs. Poston From Lady In Sussex, England

The following letter was received by Mrs. Elza Poston, Burlington from a member of the National Federation of Women's Institutes, of Sussex, England. The letter follows:

Eagle House
Midhurst
Sussex

Dear Mrs. Poston,

I have today heard from the National Federation of Women's Institutes that you and I are to be "Letter Friends." So I write with all speed to say that I shall be delighted to hear from you, and shall look forward to an exchange of letters between us.

There seems so much to say as an introduction that I hardly know where to begin—more especially as I don't know if you will have been told anything about me, other than my simple name—as I have about you. I heard of this letter friend business one day when I was attending a meeting of the Women's Council, collected by Miss Margaret Bonfield. (You probably know she was the first woman to be a Cabinet Minister here, and was in the Labor Court). She collected a large book of women at the beginning of the war, primarily to show problems of evacuation—but lately dealing more with reconstruction. Until last September we were attending meeting pretty regularly in London, and at one of them Mrs. Russell described the Letter Friend scheme. I thought it might be interesting and handed in my name, even tho I am not a regular Women's Institute member.

How shall I tell you things in a nutshell? I am 52, a Yorkshire woman by birth, I lived in Leeds until and through the last war. When I was working hard at War Pensions and, as voluntary Secretary to a committee of ladies dealing with supplies to the War Hospitals, I was with the present lady Halifax when she was Lady Dorothy Ward and chairman to the ladies' committee.

My three brothers were all killed, my father died shortly after the end of the war, and as I was then left completely on my own, I spent almost four years travelling. First I spent a good time in the Argentine, where I had a married school friend, then I went right around the world, across Canada, and I just came into the states to look at Niagara, I then went to Seattle and California, sailing from there to Japan, China, Siam, India and back by S. Africa. I went with a friend and we planned the whole trip to stay with friends on the way.

Then I set off again to E. Africa. I settled down in 1924 with a college friend in Chelsea, London, where I have been ever since. Her name is Moberly Bell and she is the daughter of a man who was managing director of The Times newspaper at the time (1908) when there was an attempt to get it into German hands. My friend is a keen church woman and she is head mistress of a Secondary School which is a church foundation, but which is what we call "aided"—that is it takes a State grant, and so has a proportion of State scholars tho it gives up none of its freedom of action in religious teaching.

Since 1924 I have been acting as secretary and treasurer to the school, because I believe the work it is doing is important. Incidentally it is very interesting to see how many people at this crisis are coming to the belief that we have made a fearful mistake here in England in eliminating religious teaching from our schools.

We have loved our little house in Chelsea (it is a modern house, very small, no basement, but with a tiny garden) and have enjoyed having our friends there. For the Coronation we packed it full of nephews and nieces and had a good time, but the last years have been too anxious to be enjoyable. We were miserable over Munich, neither of us having any faith in Chamberlain, and feeling desperate and ashamed. We were marked further back over Abyssinia.

Sammy Hoare is our Chelsea member and the Hoare legal plan made us foam with rage. In Sept. 1938 we were all packed up ready to evacuate from London with our children. (It is a day-school without about 300 girls aged from 5-18) and we sat in our little sitting room listening to the wireless telling us that Chamberlain was going to Munich—with despair in our hearts..

Then we had that horrible year and at last the end of August 1939. I was away on a riding tour on the Berkshire Downs, having a niece who is my special charge, who taught riding and I was just cleaning saddles and harness at the stable where we had landed for the night when the wireless 6 o'clock news began "Everyone connected with London Schools to report for Evacuation." I dropped my work and flew to get a car to catch a train and got to a strange pitch-dark London at 11 p. m. Then there was a day of preparation and revision. We had all been packed up for evacuation since September 1938. with emergency rations and all, and finally evacuation itself, with all our children marching in orderly lines to the station.

You will have seen already masses of pictures of it, so you know exactly what it was like.

Curiously enough, I and four other members of the staff of the school found ourselves billeted with a friend of mine (a woman who has done housing and Slum Clearence work with me in London—That is another story) and for a month we were there. Then in October 1939 we took this little house here, and have sat here ever since.

Midhurst is a charming little town, less than 2,000 inhabitants normally, much of it extremely pretty, with old fashioned half timbered houses, and set in really lovely countryside. It's within 20 miles of the South Coast, divided from it by a line of South Downs—so it hasn't been supposed to be a specially safe part of the country. But so far, though, we've heard guns and bombs and many German planes overhead, we haven't been damaged here, though we've twice been without any electricity, and since we cook and heat ourselves by it, as well as use it for light, it was rather uncomfortable. The light went peacefully out one night as we were at dinner, and as we hadn't heard any places, we remarked that it must be a fault at the dynamo. I was curious that we had time to remark that before we heard the bomb that did the trick. It was only a mile away. We went next day to see the enormous hole made in the main road by the stray bomb.

It is queer to live in this way. Of course we haven't suffered here at all, but I go up to London (50 miles away) once a week or so, to attend meetings, and I have seen the wrecks and ruins there, and have been there through the alarms and gun fire. One notices them so little. The meetings go on, business goes on, we go about fairly as usual, tho of course one's journey may take an interminable time, if the railway line has been bashed.

Here we have a red light in the street if there is a day time raid. Just now as I walked up the street the light was on, nobody seems to pay it the smallest attention.

We have air battles overhead, and of course our schemes of firewatchers and wardens and Red Cross and bicycle messengers are all pretty well organized by now. The difficulty in a place like this is to keep people keen when they never have anything to do after all their drills.

I have just been put in charge of cyclist messengers who are to function if the telephone is crashed, and I am planning an immediate rehearsal with them. But all this can't help seeming rather a waste of time. We are much more interested in the kind of England we want after the war. Nobody of course ever has the smallest doubt that we shall win. We never have had, even in what we now realize were agonizing moments after France fell—but we are all determined to show that we have learned something from all these troubles, and that we can make our country democratic.

I must stop! You will be bored at reading all this , and I don't at all know if I have said anything you want to hear. It will be easier to tell you when I have heard from you—especially if you will ask questions. I will ask a few now. What are you specially interested in? Do you do social work? Have you at all studied your own slums, or your Green Belt towns? Probably Kentucky it quite free from any kind of troubles in the housing way. I belong to a place called the Housing Centre in London which was copied first in Toronto and then in Cleveland, Ohio.

I want to meet Mr. Wendell Willkie, but I shan't get the chance!

Yours sincerely,
ANNE LUPTON.

HELM HAS HIGH HEN IN ILLINOIS EGG LAYING CONTEST

Again this past month the Champion hen of all breeds in the Illinois Egg Laying Contest is owned by the Illinois Hatchery of Metropolis, Illinois, and Paducah, Ky. This hen laid every day during the month and her eggs were so large that she earned 34 points. She made the same record for December. This hen started laying in November and has been laying every day since without having missed a day. It is hoped that she will establish a new record.

This record is being made by a Danish Brown Leghorn hen. This is unusual for Brown Leghorns for as a breed they have not been such good layers but this is an entirely new strain of Brown Leghorns introduced to this Country several years ago by Herbert C. Helm. These Danish Brown Leghorns are much larger in size, being as big as the largest English White Leghorns and many of the pullets weigh close to 6 lbs. Their egg size is also extra large and of good color and interior market quality. For years the people of Denmark have developed and bred these new Brown Leghorns in the same way as the people of this country have bred the large White Leghorns. Those who are looking for a heavy laying breed with extra health vigor and disease resistance will find just what they are looking for in these new improved big bodied heavy laying imported Danish Brown Leghorns.

THE FARM AND HOME

Low, moist temperature softens the connective tissue and should be used in cooking the less tender cuts of beef. Meat cooked at a constant low temperature in the uncovered utensil is tendered, juicier and better flavored than when cooked at a high temperature in a covered vessel.

Dried fruit and dried beans and peas which have been soaked for several hours or overnight need less cooking. They should be cooked in the water in which they are soaked.

Paints containing spar varnish are used on porches, floors and steps where there is much traffic. These same paints are good for farm machinery, since they are hard and water resistant.

Farmers feeding distillery slop to hogs are advised to use a supplemental feed, such as corn, in the proportion of not less than one bushel of corn to 50 gallons of slop. A lower ratio produces unsatisfactory carcasses.

Many poultry raisers prefer a commercial starting mash until chicks are about four weeks old. If the feed is not wasted, a pound per chick will be sufficient for this time. Chicks may be fed as soon as they are hatched, and it is never advisable to wait longer than 48 hours.

IS YOUR CHILD A TEASER?

By Mrs. Mary M. Van Vleve, Department of Home Economics, University of Ky.

If the teasing only takes the form of good-natured banter, the results are no doubt good. There should be a balanced give and take in a teasing situation. It may help to develop a good sense of humor and perhaps successful repartee in adult life. Also the disapproved behavior which brings forth teasing often disappears as a result of a little good-natured banter. It often occurs between good pals and can be enjoyed by both individuals.

But teasing often is a serious problem. Good-natured banter gives way to tantalizing, jeering and real bullying, and the poor victim suffers both physically and mentally. If the age, physical size, ability or temperament of the aggressor and victim are very different, then the teasing is more apt to take an extreme form. As a result the victim may come to have an irritable disposition, perhaps a feeling of real inferiority, or even worse, he may try to retreat from reality and shun social contacts of all kinds. The teaser of course meanwhile is not developing a brotherly and kindly spirit, which is a necessary part of ideal social relationships.

Sometimes parents use teasing to try to overcome undesirable behavior in their children and much to their surprise and chagrin find later that they have brought on a very negativistic attitude and have developed an additional bad trait instead of successfully discouraging the original behavior.

Teasing is rather natural to most of us and often gives the aggressor a real sense of power, so satisfying to his ego. Often his teasing is a definite indication that there is something wrong with his personality. Perhaps he has an inferiority complex and if he does, teasing would naturally give him a sense of achievement as he watches for the reaction of his victim. We have all heard the familiar nicknames such as "skinny," "pig-eye," "big lummox." When several children pick on one particular child, it is more tragic still. The victim at first tries to retaliate and give the teaser a dose of the same medicine, probably weakens, perhaps throws a temper tantrum or cries for help and protection. Then these reactions stimulate the aggressor to further teasing, resulting in still more distress for the weaker individual.

Sometimes parents unwittingly put their children in situations which make them appear different, such as keeping boys in curls or knickers after all their pals have reached the following stage of development. A child would rather take physical punishment than be socially ostracized by his peers. We cannot always control his overweight; we cannot change the color of his hair of straighten crooked legs or back. We can, however, help the child to learn to meet his difficulty squarely and adjust to it as happily as possible. We can make him self-reliant and develop particular characteristics or qualities. His playmates will not ridicule him if he does any one thing well, which is socially acceptable to them.

To over-protect the child not help him to learn to defend himself simply makes him a "sissy" and his friends will soon be saying he is tied to his mother's apron strings. We should encourage him to take his own part and meet the group single-handed if he is ever going to make a happy adjustment to the group in which he so much wants to be included.

Sometimes the one who is doing the teasing has no idea how his victim feels and in this case, he really needs to have some one land on him with some stiff teasing in order for him to fully appreciate what such discomfort can be. A parent will help in this manner with proper explanation of his reasons for indulging in this behavior toward the child, teasing him just enough to let him see what a bitter dose it can be. Jealousy of another child often younger, will promote teasing and the jealousy must first of all be overcome in that case. Children who are unduly teased at home often practice the same type of behavior on their playmates at school.

SPORTSMEN AID 4-H CONSERVATION PLAN

The League of Kentucky Sportsmen again is actively sponsoring the 4-H club conservation plan, according to Dennie Gooch, Somerset, president of the league. Members of county sportsmen groups are being asked to help county agents interest 4-H'ers in wildlife conservation, and to send at least one boy per county to the Bingham 4-H Club Camp in Washington county in July. Charles L. Horn of Minneapolis, is helping sponsor this camp.

Horn also is making it possible to have a camp for Negro 4-H club boys in July, probably at the Boy Scout Grounds in Christian county.

Four-H club members taking part in the conservation plan have a 20-point program, including the following things: knowing the hunting and fishing laws, attending meeting of county conservation clubs, knowing the habits of birds and animals, protecting quail during hatching season, seeding crops furnishing food for wildlife, building feeding stations and bird houses, and planting trees. They also will lead community discussions on wildlife.

For soil erosion control, forest trees should be planted on more than two million acres of Kentucky land which cannot profitably be used for cropping, says W. B. Jackson, extension forester for the State College of Agriculture. Much of this land was originally in timber and should never have been cropped. By nature it was meant for forests.

Seven members of the Rabbit Hash Homemakers' Club answered roll call at the home of Mrs. Opal Kelly Thursday, Feb. 20th.

The club was very fortunate in having Mrs. Geo. Kottmyer, of Constance Homemakers attend our meeting in the absence of our H. D. A., Miss Gillaspie.

WIDER USE OF ASBESTOS IN HOME CONSTRUCTION

The word "Asbestos' has taken on a new meaning in recent years, in connection with the building and modernization of homes. In the form of prefabricated jackets, or built up with cement, it has long been in universal use for insulating the piping of domestic heating and hot water supply systems. Processed with cement in the form of shingles, it has become and accepted standard for colorful, fireproof, long-life roofs. The attractive appearance and durability of Asbestos-Cement as a protective material later brought it into prominence for covering exterior side walls of houses.

This long lasting, fireproof material, with its faithful reproduction of wood grain was first used as siding in the modernization of old homes where it was found to be ideal for covering old, unsightly surfaces, in minimizing upkeep, and getting new effects desired by the owner. The satisfactory results obtained; the ease and low cost of application; and its record for durability and protection, soon also made it popular in the construction of new homes.

The Philip Carey Company, Lockland, Cincinnati, Ohio, one of the larges organizations interested in the mining and fabricating of asbestos, reports an active demand for a variety of its Careystone Asbestos-Cement grained shingles and for its "Colonial Clapboard," which is designed to be applied, either over the entire side walls, or to cover the walls of upper stories and gables, when the shingles are used on lower walls.

COMPARES SOYBEAN SEED, HAY RETURN

The club hopes to have a better club this year than last. The club members are working for a 100 per cent completion. The club has a rather large number this year with some new members.

Defense Equipment Rolling Off Line In Score Of U. S. Automobile Plants Today

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 27—At least 150,000 men will be working on national defense contracts of the automobile companies by the latter part of the present year, and between 100,000 and 200,000 more men will be employed by the time its bomber parts program gets in full swing, according to a progress report issued in pictorial form today by the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

Every company in the automobile industry now is represented in production of one or more defense items, the report shows, with the load growing rapidly.

Defining the defense assignments as this industry's "No. 1 Job" today, Alvan Macauley, President of the Association in a foreword stated:

"From the start the automobile companies saw this job as one that must have the right of way. They voluntarily pledged to subordinate their forward tooling programs wherever by doing so they could expedite defense production. All along the line the job has been and is, a fight against time."

Special recognition is given the "energetic and devoted efforts" of the hundred of technical men in engineering and tool departments, on construction jobs and elsewhere, whose long hours and close application have pushed the preparations for production "as never before."

"The same effort goes forward in production itself," says Mr. Macauley. "The record of accomplishment to date is one of which the people of the country generally as well as those within the industry can feel proud. It is evidence again of America's ability to produce for the well-being of all."

The report summarizes the following items:

1. Airplane engines from the automobile industry have been going into service since July, 1940; are coming out now at the rate of 350 a month; will in a short time be many times that number.

2. Two new airplane engine plants are in the final stages of construction and equipment; will be producing this summer. Two more are to be in operation by the end of the year.

3. Ammunition components of many types, such as shells, shell casings, fuses, bomb and torpedo parts are being produced in several automobile plants; will shortly be coming out in a steady stream of large volume. Converted automobile equipment is being used on shell production now.

4. Plants will shortly be ready for machine gun production, and several companies are working on parts and accessories for big guns, such as breech housing, recoil cylinders, ammunition hoists, etc.

5. Thanks to construction workers who carried forward even under heavy snow, and other comparable preparatory effort, tank production will begin well ahead of schedule, if current rate of progress can be maintained. A start on actual parts production work has been made.

6. Six companies are actively at work producing or preparing to produce airplane body, wing and tail parts. First shipments of subassembly units have already been made. Ultimately from 100,000 to 200,000 men will be required for this work along, especially in the projected output of parts for bombers to be assembled at new Army plants in the Midwest.

7. Continuous deliveries, at a rising rate, are being made on power plants for navy vessels, ranging from the superspeed motors for 'mosquito boats" to submarine diesels.

8. Extensive and systematic subcontracting of precision-made parts for aircraft engines and many other defense products has been resorted to as a means of expediting and enlarging production. Major motor companies have taken on such parts assignments. More sub-contracting is expected through the efforts of the Automotive Committee for Air Defense.

9. Material "bottlenecks" have been attacked through erection by members of the industry, of foundries for magnesium and aluminum both now entering production.

10. Despite all these added jobs, not in the regular line of automotive work, the industry's assembly lines are turning out 13,000 special cars and trucks for the U. S. Army each week; expect to step this rate up to 20,000 to pace the Army's expansion, and to have more than a quarter million vehicles in service by the latter part of this year.

Pointing out that this list still is only a partial accounting of the industry's defense work, the report concludes:

"Every American at the wheel, whether driving car or truck, can look at the nameplate of his vehicle and know this: the company that turned it out is doing its bit today."

TODAY, FRI., AND SATURDAY

The Gayety is happy to present on the above nights "Gone With the Wind," starring Clark Gable, Vivien Leigh, Leslie Howard and a large supporting cast. SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Tender romance . . . earthly humor . . . colorful people in a wandering tent show! That's the thrilling background for "Chad Hanna," by Walter D. Edmonds' Technicolor hit from the 20th Century Fox studios which stars Henry Fonda, Dorothy Lamour and Linda Darnell.

Published in the Saturday Evening Post as "Red Wheels Rolling," and later taking its place on the best-seller lists, "Chad Hanna" narrates the adventures of a country boy played by Henry Fonda, who runs away with a tent show.

There are two women in Chad's life—one a love-starved country waif, portrayed by Linda Darnell, who clothed Chad in a glory of worship and Albany Yates, played by Dorothy Lamour, who so dazzled him with her sultry allure that he forgot the girl at his side.

TUESDAY

Ben Hecht, the man who once rated actors several notches lower than writers, has turned actor himself. And Hecht considers himself an admirable choice for the part, that of a bum accused of aiding and abetting the world's oldest, if least honorable profession.

"Angels Over Broadway" stars Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Rita Hayworth, Thomas Mitchell, John Qualen and several hundreds of other actors.

WEDNESDAY

All the colorful atmosphere of the tropics and all the musicianship of the noted composer Jerome Kern went into the making of Universal's fast-moving romantic comedy "One Night in the Tropics" to be shown at the Gayety.

Starring Allan Jones, Nancy Kelly, Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, and Robert Cummings as key figures in an impressive cast, the new film brings to the screen what is rated one of the most novel stories of recent years.

Based on the Earl Derr Biggers story, "Love Insurance," the picture deals with the romantic complications of two couples, arising when Jones sells his best friend (Cummings) a million-dollar "love insurance" policy under-writing an impending marriage.

VERONA

The Y. W. A. girls will meet with Mrs. Vernon Shelter this week.

Measles have appeared in this community again.

Friends of Ted McClure will be glad to hear that he is improving, after a recent operation for appendicitis.

Those enjoying the delicious dinner consisting of duck, rolls, pies, cakes, salad, etc., were the following Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vest and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Waller and family, the honored guest, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Vest and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pennington and daughter Wanda.

THE LIFE WE LIVE

Editor of The Times:—Probably after it is all summed up, a man's life is something like the following:

LIFE

Man comes into this world without his consent—and leaves it against his will. During his stay on earth his time is spent in one continual round of contraries and misunderstandings by the rest of the species.

In his infancy he is an angel; in his boyhood he is a little devil; in his manhood he is everything from a lizard up; in his duties he is a fool; if he raises a family he is a chump and if he raises a small check he is a thief and the law raises the sentence for him; if he is a poor man he is a poor manager and has no chance; if he is rich he is dishonest and greedy, but is considered smart; if he is in politics he is a grafter and a dirty crook; if he goes to church he is a hypocrite; if he stays away he is a lowly sinner and will suffer the pangs of Hell; if he donates to foreign missions, he does it to show off and if he doesn't he is a stingy fool.

When he comes into the world everyone wants to kiss him; before he goes out everyone wants to kick him.

If he dies young, there was a brilliant future ahead of him; if he lives to a ripe old age, he is simply a conceited old ass—in the way and living to save funeral expenses.

This life is a funny road, but we all like to travel it. When old man death makes a swish with his scythe we grab at the last bit of hope like the drowning man grabs for the straw.

Oh! well—you live it——.

Yours very truly,
JOHN B. SCOTT,
Barlow

LET'S NOT SKIMP ON OUR AIRPORT

By Richard Renneisen

Following is a column by Mr. Richard Renneisen in the Louisville Courier-Journal February 28, 1941.

Certain local people are on the verge of losing their tempers right at this time, over the Civil Aeronautics Board's apparent intention to skimp out a $111,000 airport for the city on Crittenden Drive, when the funds are available to build a $270,850 one. Bowman Field to all appearances, is headed for long-time Army use, and that will leave the old town with but one airport where all the commercial and civil flying will have to be done. That one airport ought to be a good one. It couldn't be a world-beater even at $270,850. But it could be considerably more of a show at $270,850 than it will be at $111,000.

The C. A. B. seems to intend for it to be a $111,000 airport. Since early this month, when the President approved a W. P. A. grant of $159,000-odd for the specific purpose of helping the city build its new airfield, local interested folks have been trying to get the C. A. B. (please) pick up the money and add it to its own stack of $111,000 similarly approved for the Louisville port. But all the word from the Washington contacts of local air enthusiasts is that the C. A. B. has its nose turned up toward W. P. A. help, and that it probably won't pick up the $159,000. Seems the C. A. B. had some bad luck before with W. P. A. in some other state or states and it wishes no part of W. P. A. construction.

But if it holds out against the W. P. A. in Kentucky, it will just be making itself a laughing stock. For years the Kentucky W. P. A. has ranked right with the topmost of the nation's state administrative units and its engineering and work records have been unsurpassed for efficiency anywhere. As this is written the W. P. A. is winding up a job at Bowman Field for the army. That job has popped open the eyes of even the hardest-boiled construction men. With the weather frequently below freezing W. P. A. crews worked twenty-four-hour days and slammed out a twelve-acre apron of concrete and a lot of affiliated gadgets six weeks ahead of schedule, to the high praise of army and air board officials.

W. P. A. could move those crews tomorrow to the Crittenden site (the land, of course, isn't available yet) and go to work. The same foreman, the same equipment, the same schedules are all set. But the C. A. B.'s answer, as this piece goes to the composing room. is still non-committal, to wit, "No." The local people who are interested in this are saying that the C. A. B. either oughtn't light a cigar with a $159,000 check, or should make a full explanation of why they would do a thing like that. They are listening . . .

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

ESTABLISHED 1875

VOLUME 65 — BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY THURSDAY, MARCH 13, 1941 — NUMBER 40

U. S. 25 MAY BE RELOCATED

DUE TO FAILURE OF BOONE FISCAL COURT TO OBTAIN RIGHT OF WAY—HIGH PRICES ASKED BY PROPERTY OWNERS

Due to the fact that the Boone Fiscal Court is having trouble obtaining rights of way that would permit the State Highway Commission to reroute the Dixie Highway slightly to the East of Florence from the end of the four-lane highway at the northern boundary of the town, the Dixie Highway may be relocated from Covington to South of Dry Ridge, it was intimated last week.

It is understood that certain property owners along the proposed Florence by-pass have offered to deed property for a right of way free of charge, while others are said to be demanding prices that Boone Fiscal Court cannot meet.

Marion D. Ross, Covington, District Highway Engineer, stated that high prices sought for rights of way might force a change in the plan to by-pass Florence. "The prices are so high that it looks like we will have to abandon the plan," Ross said.

It has been pointed out that if the by-pass is constructed in accordance with present plans of the Highway Department the town of Florence will have two state-maintained highways traversing it north and south. If the by-pass is not built to eliminate the bottleneck, the Highway Department, pressed by the Federal Government for a high-type, high-speed, north-south road, may build the Dixie Highway along an alternate route.

This alternate route, surveyed two years ago, would have the Dixie follow Madison Pike from Covington to Sanfordtown, from which point it would veer to the west, pass through a point equidistant from Independence and Walton, and rejoin the present highway between Dry Ridge and Williamstown.

It is understood that persons owning property along the proposed new route are anxious to donate rights of way.

All members are urged to attend this meeting.

VOTERS URGED TO REGISTER

BEFORE JUNE 3RD FOR COMING AUGUST PRIMARY — IMPOSSIBLE TO CHANGE PARTY AFFILIATION AT PRESENT.

If you have moved from one precinct to another since the last election, or if you have not voted at all in the last two years or failed to register entirely, you must register properly with the County Clerk on or before June 3, 1941 in order to vote in the coming August primary, it was announced by C. D. Benson, County Clerk, this week.

Party affiliation, however, cannot be changed before the primary, as that was determined by the regular election in November of last year. In other words, if you registered Republican in the last regular election, you cannot change your party affiliation now in order to vote in the Democratic primary in August.

Many persons are denied the right to vote because they are not properly registered. If you are in doubt about your registration, see Mr. Benson at the Clerk's office before June 3rd.

Death Rate On Increase During Past Twelve Months In Boone Co.

The death rate in Boone County for the past twelve months is very much higher than in past years, it was made known this week from the registration files in the court house.

During the past year there has been 175 deaths in Boone County, with a population of 10,000 people. In the town of Florence alone, with an estimated population of 1,000 people, there has been 23 deaths since June 28, 1940, a period of less than nine months.

The death rate for this county has been on the increase for several years, the past year, however, reaching its highest peak.

House Damaged By Fire Sunday

Slight damage was reported to the house of John Rogers, two miles from Belleview on the Petersburg - Belleview Road, when sparks from the chimney ignited the shingle roof.

Class For Major Project Leaders Held Here Tuesday

A class for Major project leaders of Boone County Homemakers Clubs, was conducted by Miss Vivian Curnutt, specialist from University of Kentucky at the court house in Burlington last Tuesday. The lesson was the fourth of a series in "Rug Making" and dealt with the construction of braided rugs and mats. Twenty-two leaders from twelve clubs attended.

Interesting designs in hooked mats and rugs were displayed as evidence of application of the previous lessons Miss Curnutt had presented. The designs were original and had been carefully worked up in tints and shades from the dye-pot. The leaders reported interesting things done by members of their clubs. They will present the lesson braided rugs before local groups this month.

Fruit Growers Plan Service

Northern Kentucky fruit growers are cooperating with the College of Agriculture in a special educational spray service again this year, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Boone County fruit growers attending a planning meeting at the County Agent's Office in Covington the past week were Emmett Riddell, Charles L. Hempfling and B. C. Stephens.

Fruit growers will assist in supplying samples of leaves infected with scab, spores, run coddling moth traps and jar peach trees for curculio. Result of this work will be forwarded immediately to the horticultural department which will, through letters and radio reports, keep growers informed on the timeliness for applying necessary sprays and control measures.

DEADLINE SET FOR MARCH 31ST

FOR 1940 PAYMENTS IN ACP—APPLICATIONS OF THIRTY-TWO FARMERS IN BOONE COUNTY INCOMPLETE.

March 31 is the final date for farmers to file applications for payments under the 1940 Agricultural Conservation Program, Mark Cook, chairman of the Boone County Agricultural Conservation Association, announced today.

Applications of 32 farmers in Boone county are incomplete, Mr. Cook stated, and must be completed this month in order that the farmers may qualify for payments under the program.

Of the 1088 applications from Boone county under the 1940 program, Mr. Cook said, 1056 have been completed and 946 have already been paid.

Reports from the State AAA Office, Lexington, indicate that approximately 94 per cent of the 1940 conservation payment applications of Kentucky farmers have been completed. Of the 165,400 expected for the year, 155,949 had been filed up to March 6, and most of these had been paid.

The number of applications already filed under the 1940 program is 4.3 per cent larger than the total of 149,473 filed under the 1939 program, reflecting a general increased participation in the program throughout the State.

Order For 107,000 Tons Of AAA Lime Set New State Record

Distribution of lime as a conservation material supplied by the AAA for use in the 1941 Agricultural Conservation Program has already passed the mark set in 1940, the State AAA office announces.

With four months to go on the 1941 program, orders for 107,000 tons of agricultural lime for 64 Kentucky counties had been booked by the AAA through March. In 1940 program 87,939 tons of lime was supplied as a conservation material to farmers in 26 counties in the State.

Orders for more than 90,000 tons of phosphates for use on legumes and grasses in the 1941 program are also reported. This material is being distributed in the Agricultural Conservation Program in all counties of Kentucky.

Both of these materials are needed on farms in Boone county, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent; and Mark Cook, chairman of the Boone County Agricultural Conservation Association, advises farmers who have not done so to make plans now for using both lime and phosphate in earning soil-building allowances before the 1941 program closes on June 30.

Revival To Close Friday

Revival services which have been in progress at the Belleview Church of Christ for the past two weeks, will close Friday night, March 14th. The meeting has been well attended each night, and your presence will be appreciated at the remainder of the services.

373 ENROLLED IN FOUR-H CLUBS

WITH ORGANIZATION WORK COMPLETED IN TEN CLUBS—179 GIRLS ENROLLED IN HOME ECONOMICS.

Organization of 4-H clubs in Boone County has been completed and at this time there is an enrollment of 373 in ten clubs. Others are expected to join during the next few weeks as the work with projects gets underway. Of this number 179 girls are enrolled in home economics projects.

Girls in clothing projects will begin work immediately on costumes for the annual county Style Revue and State Fair exhibits. While they sew, they will study standards in clothing, preparatory for the clothing judging contest.

Foods units have attracted many of the girls who will study the nutritional needs of the body, food preparation, and baking standards. A few will participate in the foods judging contest and will send exhibits to the State Fair.

Many girls will can vegetables and fruits from their farm gardens and some others will work with room improvement. Each member is required to carry a project under the direction of a local leader and to keep a record of the work she does, money spent, time consumed and estimate of money saved.

Local volunteer leaders direct this project work in cooperation with the county Home Demonstration Agent. These leaders give much time and thought to this program and are to be praised for their achievements. Parents of club members must value 4-H as an opportunity for their children and encourage them to participate in all activities.

Community 4-H clubs will study "Citizenship" as outlined for the clubs throughout the State. Health, production of food on the farm for home use, safety, the good neighbor attitude, and life on a give rather than a get basis—all these things and more are included in being good citizens is the belief of J. W. Whitehouse, State 4-H leader and members of his staff.

MEETING SERIES IS SCHEDULED

TO SIGN-UP FARM PLANS FOR 1941 AGRICULTURAL PROGRAM—JUNE 30 IS CLOSING DATE OF PROGRAM.

A series of meetings has been arranged in the following communities to sign up the Farm Plans in the 1941 A. C. Program. A large number of checks that have recently been received for cooperating in the 1940 A. C. Program will be delivered, according to John E. Crigler, Secretary Boone County Agricultural Conservation Association.

April 15 is the closing date for signing the 1941 program. All producers are urged to attend these meetings if they have not signed to date. The schedule of meetings is as follows:

Hebron Bank, March 14, 8:00-12 noon.

Petersburg Bank, March 14, 1:00-3:00 p. m.

Verona Bank, March 15, 8:00-12 noon.

Walton Town Hall, March 15, 1:00-3.00 p. m. (fast time).

Burlington, AAA office, March 15 8:00-11:30 a. m.

Grant Bank, March 17, 8:00-11:30 a. m.

Hamilton School, March 17, 1:00-3:00 p. m.

Union Bank, March 18, 8:00-12 noon.

Beaver, Sleet's Store March 18th, 1:00-3:00 p. m.

Now is the best time to order the balance of the 1941 soil-building allowance in limestone and phosphate. Five carloads of 20 per cent phosphate have been ordered and should be in within the next few days. A rush of limestone orders is expected shortly and a delay in receiving it will probably occur unless an order is placed early. Under the grant of aid system no money is needed to receive the limestone and phosphate under the 1941 A. C. Program.

June 30, is the closing date of the program and last date on which soil-building practices may be carried out.

4-H Sheep Project Shows Increased Enrollment

Many Boone County 4-H club members are enrolling in the sheep project this year for the first time, according to H. B. Drake, Assistant County Agent. This project is organized for boys and girls who are interested in starting with a small number of good animals and building a flock from them.

This increase in enrollment is partially due to the favorable outlook for sheep products. Indications are that both wool and lamb prices will be above those of last year and will compare very favorably with other livestock products.

The enrollment of 4-H members probably reflects an increased interest among Boone County farmers in sheep raising which has always been an important livestock enterprise in this county.

"For Over Fifty Years"

IT WOULD DO IT

Business houses in Boone County wouldn't do it to their customers, but that doesn't mean that they wouldn't like to see how it would work. A London firm of military tailors had difficulty in collecting outstanding bills. Finally they decided a way to get action and to warn other tailors was to give publicity to the defaulters. So up on their front window they posted a list with the name, private address, unit and amount due the firm. As you know it resulted in 50 percent settlement of the debts. When the neighborhood is to hear of it, when it becomes public conversation over town, the man will think twice before courting such wide-spread notice of his refusal to meet just obligations.

The use of the charge account should not be abused, but because it has been abused we must suffer an increase in cost on goods. If a merchant can carry charge accounts on his books and not lose on any of them at the end of the year, then he is fortunate and he will pass his good luck on to his trade. For the convenience of charge accounts and delivery service you must naturally expect a slightly higher price on goods. But this is for your consideration, as the merchant expects you to assist in making the custom pay. Of course in the London case only 50 percent of them paid their accounts. Probably the others had already established a reputation for themselves and didn't mind the additional advertising. The men who serve the people here in Boone County have an investment in goods, an overhead to meet, but they are not making up lists to paste in their front windows. They are hoping their customers will read this article.

KEEP THEM BUSY

Every so often there comes an investigation by states into the prison labor working plan and they find, unfortunately for those inside the big house, that there is not enough work to keep the hands busy. Laws have been made to restrict certain labor in prisons, from doing jobs that would cause competition in the outside industry. Since prison labor is so cheap it would mean that the outside market would be harmed for the man who has abided by the law and remained free. There is the creation of the problem of idle prisoners. Prisoners should have to help the tax payer maintain them. They have a duty to this world which is clothing, feeding and sheltering them. Prisoners should not be idle. They should be in training for renewing life on the outside when they are discharged. State institutions have tried to keep the prisoners busy with goods needed for state institutions, but this is not enough work.

Now that the defense industry is calling for skilled labor and such labor is hard to find to fill the bill, there might be sense to developing skilled labor within our prison walls. Could our national defense problem tie up with our national prison problam and a way found to assist both?

LEANING ON HIS SHOVEL

This is the time of year when tempers are pretty short around Boone County homes. A fellow doesn't get up so cheerful and he is not apt to wax enthusiastic during the day. His disposition is termed as unpleasant. But he has managed to keep going these past months with things fairly well under control. He did his sighing when alone, tried grumbling just to himself but he has just about reached the end of his rope. The trouble is an ailment called "shovel sickness" and it comes with an over-dose of winter with its accompanying drafts, checks and smoke. Perhaps where you live they call it fireman's fever and the illness reaches its peak about the time the shovel strikes the bottom of the coal bin. A typical speech heard in many homes each year at this time is "you won't catch me going through this again next winter. I'll either go to Florida or borrow on my insurance and heat the house with oil or gas!"

HIP, HIP, HOORAY

Your editor hopes this is not taken too personally by any woman who has been wearing some of the British insignia as patriotic costume jewelery. We think there are some pretty pieces and like to know that even fashion bows to the present emergency in display of sentimental fancywork. But we do feel that our own flag makes an attractive pin, our eagle as pretty a lapel piece and the stars and stripes lend as much charm and distinction to the feminine costume. American women have given, and are continuing to give, time and money for British relief. This will go on as long as the need demands it. But in decorating her costume, if she is going to wear patriotic pieces, we would like to see the eagle instead of the lion. It is only natural to feel that the insignia of our own land should be given preference on an American woman's outfit.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

A lonely dog makes the front page and the photo section, a dog with no pedigree, no blue ribbons, no fame attached to him until he died because he loved with all his dog's heart. We are a people who have been criticised for being overly sentimental, that are easy prey for emotionalism. That is the reason we gave such importance to the story of a dog who died of loneliness for his master who had left him to join an army and serve his country. The American press prints the last details of the case for newspaper space is not too scare to overlook a human interest story when it comes their way. People all over the country were interested and followed the news of blood transfusions, intravenous injections, an airplane flight to see the master. Folks stood in a cold rain and shivering winds to see the plane as it made its stops from Kansas to California. Yes, we are sentimental, and so we are sad for the dog who couldn't win the fight, the soldier who lost his friend and for the basic reason that caused the separation in the first place!

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

THE LORD'S SUPPER

LESSON TEXT—Luke 22:14-30.
GOLDEN TEXT—As often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do show the Lord's death till he come.—I Corinthians 11:26.

Old things pass away, and new things take their place—such seems to be the law of life. That which is useful and greatly desired fulfills its time of service and is set aside for that which takes its place. The change which occurred in our lesson shared this aspect, but was in reality so vital and fundamental that it merits our closest attention.

The Passover feast had (since that great and awful night of Israel's redemption out of Egypt's bondage) pointed forward to the Christ and His cross as the fulfillment of the type of redemption by the shedding of blood. But now the hour had come for Him to give Himself in death, and He set aside the Passover (because it has been fulfilled) to establish the great Christian feast of remembrance—the Lord's table, showing forth His death till He come.

I. The Last Passover (vv. 14-18).

Our Lord looked forward with intense desire to the Passover which He now observed with His disciples, for it was the last feast of that kind recognized by God. All that it had foreshadowed of deliverance and hope was fulfilled in Him who now sat at the head of the table. He had moved forward with resolute purpose and desire to the day when His mission on earth was to be accomplished, and He was to become our Passover (I Cor. 5:7).

The fact that He had looked forward to it with desire does not in any sense minimize the deep darkness of either Gethsemane or Calvary. Remember that, when in the garden he faced that hour and thought of the possibility of the cup being taken from Him, He said to the Father, "Not what I will, but what thou wilt." Praying concerning the same matter (in John 12:27), He said, "Now is my soul troubled; and what shall I say? Father, save me from this hour: but for this cause came I unto this hour."

II. The First Communion (vv. 19, 20).

Taking the unleavened bread and the unfermented wine of the Passover, which had just been observed by Him for the last time, Jesus established a new feast, the Christian feast of remembrance, which we call communion or the Lord's table.

As we have already suggested, it is a feast of remembrance. "For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup ye do show the Lord's death till he come" (I Cor. 11:26). At the Lord's table His followers find spiritual strength in remembering His death for them, and they also find joy as they remember that He is to come again. In doing so they testify to the world that they believe in and cherish these truths.

This feast is also rightly called "communion," for down through the ages and until He does come the saints of God have at His table sweet communion, first of all with Him, and then with one another.

We also note that our Lord spoke of the cup as "my blood of the new testament." The word "testament" means "covenant." The Lord's table therefore speaks of our allegiance to Him, of our loyalty to our Lord, and our devotion to His service. The Christian Church therefore speaks of the communion service as a sacrament, a word taken from the Latin "sacramentum," meaning oath, and essentially an oath of allegiance.

III. Betrayal and Strife (vv. 21-30).

Someone will say, "That point does not belong with the other two. Both the feast of the Passover and the Lord's Supper are for the joyful remembrance of deliverance and redemption." The objection is well taken except for one thing—we are dealing with human beings as they are, not as they should be and could be by the grace of God.

Here in the inner circle of the twelve there was one traitor. It seems impossible, but apparently Judas had maintained such outward conduct as to turn no suspicion in his direction, even though all along he had in his heart the blackest of treachery against his Lord. It is a sad and soul-searching fact which is here revealed, that it is possible for one to make a high profession of faith in Christ and even so to live as to give no cause for criticism, and yet to be unregenerate and in fact the enemy of Christ.

What about the strife regarding position? Shame on us, for it still goes on in the church. Not even the remembrance of our Lord's death and the reminder that He is coming again is enough to keep men from wanting to be greatest.

May the spirit of Christ get hold of some self-seeking Christian as he today sees Christ as the One whose body was broken and whose blood was shed for him.

Foot Health In Relation To Mental Health

N. TULCH

Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S FOOT COMFORT
9th and Madison Covington

When you suffer from flat feet, your muscular system is taxed and irritates the nerves of the foot, simultaneously affecting the entire delicate nervous system, causing it to function at less their normal capacity. The result of this whole action is a generalized irritability and unrest in the individual.

Ordinarily the body can overcome the irritations of its various sick parts, and is capable of removing the effects of the disease. The disturbances of the foot, however, are often subject to influences which the body has great difficulty in combating.

The foot according to dictates of society should be housed in a protective leather or cloth covering, which must meet the aesthetic tastes of the prevailing fashion. Thus, if the fashion dictates that, long thin shoes be worn, thousands of individuals with short wide feet will attempt to crowd them into long, thin, shoes, and visa versa.

The vagaries of fashion may thus make you comfortable one season and uncomfortable another. However, when we consider the permanent effects of this change of style, we realize that the foot, which has a fairly permanent shape, has to respond like an elastic band. The harm wrought in one season does not disappear the next, but may rather be accentuated in some significant defect as for example the BUNION.

Once this defect is formed the foot is placed daily in what may be considered a vice or mold and the normal metabolis or growth activity of the foot is interferred with. The attempts of the body to overcome the irritation are frustrated and the physical ailment grows and becomes more pernicious. The mental effects of this constant irritant are such as to set up a continual hypersensitiveness in all behavior.—Adv.

NEW HAVEN P.-T. A.

The New Haven P.-T. A. held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday night, March 4th. The main business feature of the evening was the election of officers for another year. Those elected were: President, Mrs. Irvin Rouse; vice president, Mrs. Harold Weaver; secretary Mrs. John Masters; and treasurer, Mrs. Iva Presser. Mrs. Alva Dickerson was reelected to serve in the school kitchen and lunchroom.

In behalf of the members of the P.-T. A. I wish to commend the present officers and Miss Alva for their most efficient work for the past year.

The P.-T. A. feels that its objectives set forth at the beginning of the year have been accomplished. Some of the objectives are: The Frigidaire has been paid for, new books for the library and equipment for the science department have been bought, and the purchasing of a new cyclorama for the stage which is now under way.

We feel that New Haven school is making rapid progress under the able supervision of our principal, Mr. Masters. Another year Mr. Masters expects to add to our school a commercial deportment. This will mean for New Haven students, a complete commercial course. Mr. Masters asked for the full support of the P.-T. A. in getting this course for the school. The P.-T. A. in turn asks for the support of each New Haven parent. Will you give it to us?

ABOUT WAFFLES

If your waffle iron is new, grease it with a soft cloth and allow the iron to heat before you pour in the batter. This pre-heating with grease will do away with the smoking that comes with the new iron. If the iron is made of aluminum do not wash it off with water, using a wire brush is more satisfactory. Do not put more than a tablespoon of batter in each compartment or the batter will over-flow. Don't open waffle iron while the cooking is going on. A waffle is done when the steam stops coming out from the iron. If you like your waffle crisp let it remain in the iron a bit longer. Add one-half cup grated cheese to waffle recipe and serve with creamed meat, fish or fowl. Add nuts or bacon slices to vary the regular waffle recipe.

FOR THE TABLEPIECE

Take a large sized squash, a very long squash if you can find one. Cut off a section of the bottom to let it stand flat. Cut off part of the top half, hollow out the contents and begin to fill the "hold," for you are making a ship to ride the center of your Thanksgiving table! Make masts (two) by using sticks, cut from cardboard or use birch bark, sails and have three graduated in size on each mast. You can make some three-cornered sails for the front and back of your boat. Fill the inside with fruits and vegetables. Place the boat on a mirror or surrounded by leaves.

Local Farmers Will Grow Tobacco Seed

L. W. Rogers of Belleview, Andy Cook and sons, of Petersburg and Charles L. Hempfling, of Taylorsport are planning to grow a limited amount of Experiment Station No. 33 tobacco seed for sale in 1942. A small amount of seed was recently secured for these growers direct from the Experiment Station to produce the 1942 seed crop, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Experiment Station No. 33 variety is especially for the growers in the river bottom sections who are having losses in their growing crops from Fusarium Wilt. This disease attacks the plant on one side, killing that side of the plant and sometimes the whole plant. Experiment Station No. 33 is a proven good variety but is no better in quality than other commonly grown varieties. It is not recommended for hill land where growers are not having trouble from wilt.

Something almost as out-moded as the cigar store Indian, is a bunch of drunks on the corner singing "Sweet Adeline."

The season is almost here when some folks will stop paying on coal they used up during the winter.

The G. A.'s of the Big Bone Baptist Church met at the home of their leader, Miss Clara Mae Hamilton, in observance of the Season of Prayer, Saturday, March 8th.

A very delightful dinner was served at noon hour after which the girls were called together for a Season of Prayer.

We were very glad to welcome our visitor Miss Billye Wilson and we want to thank her for furnishing transportation.

The Lord bless thee, and keep thee. The Lord make his face shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee. The Lord lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace. Let this be the prayer of our hearts to our Home and Foreign Missionaries.

With economy popping all over the place, what would happen if filling stations would stop giving out road maps?

I don't expect to be paid for this advertising, but why wouldn't Dodge be a good name for all autos? If it isn't the payments it's the pedestrians.

Seven Thousand People To Attend 3rd Anniversary Celebration At New James

Just three years ago the New James Theatre opened its door to the public and has enjoyed an ever increasing attendance ever since. This theatre specializes in getting all the big first class pictures that are made. The public has learned this one fact and do not throng to the big city as soon as a picture is released for showing. They know they can depend on seeing it at the James in a very short time after release date. The management invites you to compare its pictures with any shows in the surrounding territory and see for yourself.

The pictures selected for showing during this big celebration were picked from over five hundred pictures and we believe we have made a fine selection, pictures of ever kind to satisfy the most select critics. The first picture will be "Dr. Kildaire Goes Home," with Lionel Barrymore and Lew Ayres. Everyone loves the grand old actor Lionel Barrymore and always looking forward to seeing one of these series of productions. These pictures are not only entertaining but educational as well. With this picture we know the big week will get off to a fine start.

On the second big night, which has always been our largest attendance on bargain night attractions, we find your favorite singing cowboy and comedian in their best production "Ride Tenderfoot Ride," with Gene Autry and Smiley Burnette. Remember all these shows are only 10 cent admisslon—you couldn' ask for more, could you? With this picture we also have the "Dead End Kids and Little Tough Guys" in second chapter of serial "Junior G-Men." Here's one show you can't afford to miss. Come early for the first showing of same at 6:30; second show at 8:15 p. m.

Who do we find playing on Tuesday night, March 18th? Wallace Beery in his greatest role since Min and Bill, co-starred with Leo Carrilla, Ann Rutherford and Marjorie Main, in "Wyoming." We don't mind telling you we feel this will be the greatest week in our 20 years of motion picture business. Each night we feel we have a better picture for you—but truthfully say, we don't believe after you've seen them all you will know just which one you have enjoyed the most, because these pictures were selected especially for this one big occasion and everyone of them is an outstanding production.

The fourth night of our celebration is just getting under way, and look—"Li'l Abner" for your evening of entertainment. The boy wonder of the comic pages and air waves and all his pals in a big feature production of ho-ho-hokum.

Everyone likes big historical western productions. Here we have the thundering epic drama of America's last fighting frontier, ruthless as the outlaw's code, dangerous as a loaded gun, lawless as the untamed wilderness — it's "Cherokee Strip" with Richard Dix, Andy Clyde, Florence Rice and William Henry.

Take off those Santa Claus whiskers because we know you've had a fine time up to now and looking forward to Christmas again. So on our sixth big night we give you "Xmas in July" with Dick Powell and Ellen Drek as the outstanding stars. It's hotter than a firecracker and merrier than Christmas. Here's a picture that you will really enjoy.

We won't tell you we've saved the best picture to the last because we know they have all been good, although we do say if you haven't seen any of these pictures or have seen them all you still owe it to yourself not to miss the oustanding picture of the year. Not since "Alexander's Ragtime Band" have you had an opportunity to see such a marvelous production—it's "Tin Pan Alley" with Alice Faye, Betty Grable, Jack Oakie and John Payne. Wouldn't you like to hear "K-K-K-Katy," "When You Wore a Tulip and I Wore a Big Red Rose," "Moonlight Bay," "Goodbye Broadway, Hello France," "The Shiek of Araby," "America I Love You" and the new song, "You Say The Sweetest Things." Well here's your chance to hear all these sung as only Alice Faye can sing them —Saturday night, March 22nd.

Remember, two shows every night this week at 6:30 and 8:15 p. m. Admission price for all these pictures is only 10 cents for everyone except Saturday nights, 10 and 22 cents.

We ask you to cooperate with us by being present at the very beginning of the first show if possible so we may have a complete empty house for our second big crowd. We want to thank you for making this our biggest week in my twenty years of motion picture work, and your splendid cooperation and interest in making this house one of the finest in northern Kentucky. We always strive to give you the best at the least prices and it is only through your support that we can maintain this pledge.

As we leave our third anniversary behind us in our new house, we start right in again to make the future years in this business more entertaining and more enjoyable for you. Right here, we want to mention just a few of the big pictures we have under contract to show here in te very near future—pictures that we know are good and everyone wants to see: "Maise Was A Lady," "Moon Over Burma," "Come Live With Me," "The Letter," "Flight Command," "They Knew What They Wanted," "Comrade X," "Thief of Bagdad," "Arlse My Love," "So End Our Night," "Back Street," "Mr. and Mrs. Smith," "Andy Hard's Private Secretary," "Kitty Foyle," "Tobacco Road," "Ziegfield Girl," Virginia, "Northwest Mounted Police," "Love Thy Neighbor," "Arkansas Judge," "Barnyard Follies," "You'll Find Out," "Chad Hanna," "Santa Fe Trail," "Four Mothers,' "High Sierra," "Strawberry Blonde," "Western Union," "Second Chorus" "Citizen Kane," "That Night in Rio," "The Flame From New Orlean."

These pictures will all enrich your lives and make your life more enjoyable and happy during these turbulent days. We ask you to see as many of them as possible. If you fail to receive one of our monthly calendars let us know and we will be glad to mail you one. Our weekly advertisements appear in the Walton Advertiser, Boone County Recorder and the daily Kentucky Post, and our telephone No. is Walton 423, so it's might easy to find out what' playing here.

COVINGTON KENTUCKY

There's no doubt about it, the sow is the real center of hog profits. Feeders make or lose on what she gives in the litter. Sows need pig-building feed if they're to farrow big litters of heavy pigs — and Purina Sow and Pig Chow is built especially to go with grain to give sows what they need to produce big litters.
Come into the store and see us about Sow and Pig Chow. We'll show you records that prove it's a meat-pork-making ration.

Gayety Theater News

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Harpo Marx, appearing with Groucho and Chico on "Go West," to be shown at the Gayety, is recognized as one of the world's best harpists, but he cannot read a note of music nor has he ever had a harp lesson. The comedian tunes his instrument in a manner no other harpist can duplicate, and produces his music in an unorthodox manner which is the wonder of the music world.

SATURDAY

Double Joes . . . double laughs . . . double thrills! The Brown bomber of mirth socks your funny-bone for another laughing knock-out! No fooling about this being the wide-mouthed star's biggest hit . . . when he loses his beard only to learn he's the double of the king of the mobsters. "So You Won't Talk?" with Joe E. Brown in his greatest laugh-filled comedy, in the double roles of timid book critic and terror-inspiring gunman! The new Columbia comedy has Frances Robinson in the leading feminine role, and other important players are Bernard Nedell, Vivienne Osborne and Tom Dugan. Edward Sedgwick directed, from an original story by Richard Flournoy.

TUESDAY
(Double Feature)

Taking advantage of Leap Year, a college coed recently asked Cesear Romero, who appears the "Cisco Kid" in "The Gay Caballero" at the Gayety, for a date and offered to pay all his expenses.

The coed, a student at Christian College, Columbia, Mo., sent the handsome 20th Century-Fox star an invitation to be her escort at the school's formal ball. She stated that she had saved enough money to pay his railway fare to Columbia. Romero couldn't get to the ball but he sent the girl a corsage to wear at the affair.

All the romance of the calm South Seas moved to Hollywood recently with the erection, at Columbia Studios of a tropical island waterfront. The huge set, one of 15, was used in filming "The Phantom Submarine." Anita Louise and Bruce Bennett have the featured roles in the fast-moving, mystery thriller.

SEWING TIPS

Pleats hang better when hips are wide if the pleats are spaced farther apart and are wider at the bottom than at the top. Also, cut the side seam with a bit of a flare and this will add to the appearance. A subscriber sent in this following suggestion to those women who do needle-point work. Needle-point pulls out of shape as you work with it. It is easy to get it back in shape by going over it with a damp cloth and allowing it to dry for several hours. Be sure it is dampened evenly but do not get it too wet!

IN MEMORY

Of our father Owen E. Aylor who died March 13th, 1928.
It has been thirteen long years
Since you left us all in tears;
We loved you then, we love you still
But yet we know it was God's will.

You had been gone away just seven
When dear mother too, was called to Heaven,
No one knows how we miss you two
But hope some day we'll meet with you.

A limited supply of State Income Tax Return blanks and Farm Schedules for 1940 has been sent to county court clerks, the Department of Revenue announced today. It was pointed out that single persons having a gross income of $1,500 or a net income of $1,000 and married persons having a gross income of $3,000 or a net income of $2,500 are required to file State income tax returns by April 15th.

According to figures released by Commissioner of Revenue H. Clyde Reeves, 15,900 individuals and 1,450 corporations had filed returns by the close of business March 14. Of this number 6,035 individuals and 723 corporations showed that no payment was due, and the remainder paid $364,451.50 and $305,299.51 respectively. Comparable figures for the same date last year show 11,550 individuals and 956 corporations filing returns, of which 4606 individuals and 586 corporations showed no payment due, and the remainder paid a total of $274,838.18 and $97,402.67 respectively.

"Save The Shade Tree" Is Slogan To Be Adapted

"Save the Shade Tree" is the slogan to be adapted by the home landscaper during the early spring month, according to Mr. N. R. Elliott, specialist of the University Kentucky. "Shade trees need practically no pruning, except occasional removal of dead or broken branches." Decay usually starts in stubs that are left by ruthless pruning which may cause death to the tree.

Boone County Homemakers are receiving such instruction, as well as other timely information, from Mr. Elliott each month through their local landscape project leaders. hey are interested in what can be done at small cost to make their home landscapes beautiful. Native shrubs and trees are being set and plans being made to utilize material at hand and the commercially procured stock to better advantage.

This month Mr. Elliott is cautioning "tree lovers" against mistreatment of valuable shade trees.

"There is already a scarcity of good trees in most communities and it certainly would be a good policy to take care of these rather than have someone, who measures the effectiveness of his work by the amount of brush removed, to prune them. Practically every home, farm and community needs more good looking shade trees. Let's take care of those that we have and plant more for the future," says the specialist.

HAMILTON SCHOOL PLEA REJECTED

BY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION — STUDENTS WILL RECEIVE CREDITS THIS YEAR ONLY, GODMAN SAYS.

A plea made to Mark Godman and L. N. Taylor high school inspectors, asking that the matter of accrediting Hamilton school be opened for consideration was rejected by Mr. Godman in a letter mailed February 24, 1941 from Mr. Godman's office. However, Mr. Godman stated that they would be willing to recommend the accreditation of the high school for this year and this year only.

The Boone County Board of Education pointed out in their plea to the State Board that many pupils in the Hamilton precinct would be unable to attend high school if the school should be discontinued.

The board also pointed out that the Hamilton school had graduated approximately 80 students during the past ten years, and stressed the point that prior to its establishment, not more than 20 had graduated from the community now served by the school.

The letter from Mark Godman follows:

February 24, 1941

Supt. D. H. Norris
Burlington, Kentucky
Dear Mr. Norris:

I am writing you regarding the status of the Hamilton High School. As you know, accrediting regulations require that four-year high schools, grades 9-12, in order to be accredited Class B, shall employ at least three full-time teachers and have a bona fide enrollment of not fewer than sixty pupils. Six-year high school, in order to be accredited Class B, shall employ at least four full-time teachers an dhave a bona fide enrollment of not fewer than eighty-five pupils, sixty of whom shall be enrolled in grades 9-12.

This year the Hamilton High School enrolled only 61 pupils in the six-year organization, and instead of employing four teachers employed only three. The enrollment in grades 9-12, instead of being 60 as required, was 34. The high school failed to meet requirements either in the four-year part of its organization or in the six-year organization.

According to the principal's report, there are nine young people enrolled in grade twelve. Doubtless, some of these pupils will wish to enter college in the fall. I am confident that you and your board do not want to operate a high school that cannot be accredited. You want the credits that are made by students in your high school to be fully accepted by the colleges which they may wish to enter. For that reason we are interested in protecting the credits of the nine graduates.

It is apparent that the State Board of Education cannot continue to accredit this high school. I am therefore writing you and the board of education to advise that in order to protect this year's graduates we will be willing to recommend the accreditation of the high school for this year and this year only. We will make such a recommendation provided we can have assurances from you and your board of education that you will not attempt another year to continue to operate an unaccredited high school. When I secure this assurance, then I will be happy to recommend to the State Board of Education at its next meeting that the high school work at Hamilton be accredited for this year and this year only.

With best wishes, I am
Very truly yours,
MARK GODMAN,
Director of Supervision.

JESUS CONDEMNED AND CRUCIFIED

LESSON TEXT—Luke 23:13-25, 32-34a.
GOLDEN TEXT—What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ?—Matthew 27:22.

Two nights stand out in the story of the life of Christ, and therefore in the history of the world. The first was His first night on earth—that "silent night, holy night" of which we sing at Christmas, when He was born as the babe of Bethlehem. The other was His last night on earth. Except for the precious hour of fellowship in the upper room and His communion with the Father in the agony of Gethsemane, it was a night of darkness, denial, and betrayal.

There were six trials—or mock trials—of Jesus, three religious ones before Annas, then Caiaphas, and then again before the Sanhedrin; three political trials, before Pilate, then Herod, and Pilate again. At the close of this last trial before Pilate Jesus stands

I. Cleared by the Evidence (vv. 13-17).

At the first trial before him Pilate had declared on the basis of his examination that Jesus was "Not guilty" (v. 4). Herod, to whom He had been sent, had only played with Him (vv. 8-11). What a travesty! Now Pilate again presents Him to the people as having "no fault." It is a striking truth that no man of any age has ever been able honestly to point to any fault in the life or character of Jesus Christ. Think that over—unbeliever!

Now came Pilate's first step in the wrong direction. An accused man without guilt should be declared innocent and released. But Pilate feared the Jews who had already made trouble for him with Caesar. So he compromised and said he would chastise Jesus before releasing Him. John Morely was right when he said, "Under some circumstances compromise is the most immoral word in the English language." It gained Pilate nothing; in fact, it led to his next step downward.

II. Condemned Through Cowardice (vv. 18-25).

To avoid a disturbance and to keep the leaders from complaining to Caesar, Pilate gave Jesus into their hands with the "sentence that it should be as they required" (v. 24) when they cried "Crucify Him!"

Pilate was in a difficult place, but that does not excuse him. It is in the hard and trying place that a man should stand for the right, come what may. Too many of those who profess to follow Christ are afraid to stand up for Him in the hour when men deny Him. Some unbelievers are fearful about declaring their allegiance to Him, because they fear the opposition of men.

Where is our courage, our manliness? Have we lost the moral stamina of our pioneer forefathers, the religious conviction of our Christian fathers and mothers? Pilate was a coward, and we are ashamed of him. Let us not be cowardly and make Christ ashamed of us (read Matt. 10:32, 33).

III. Crucified with Malefactors (vv. 32-34a).

The details of and circumstances surrounding the crucifixion are of deep interest to every Christian. We stand with Luther and weep as we see Christ's unspeakable agony, not only of body but of spirit, and we cry as did Luther, "For me, for me!" How can any believer contemplate the cross and withhold self, substance, or service from Christ?

Equally earnest and heart-searching is the message of the cross to the unbeliever. He knows he is a sinner (Rom. 3:23), he knows that "the wages of sin is death" (Rom. 6:23), and he knows that "neither is there salvation in any other, for there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12). Here at the cross he meets that one "who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed" (I Pet. 2:24).

There were two malefactors who were crucified with Him (v. 32), and one railed at Him. The other said, "Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom"; and Jesus said to him, "Today thou shalt be with me in paradise" (Luke 23:39-43). Unbeliever, will you not just now take the eternal life which Jesus died to make possible for you?

Loving His enemies to the last, our Lord prayed for the forgiveness of those who thus despitefully used Him. What matchless grace! One wonders how many of them by repentance for their deeds made it possible for that prayer to be answered. That door of redemption stands open today for every one who up to now has crucified the Son of God afresh (Heb. 6:6) by sin and unbelief.

Before the radio music was apt to be music and now it is more apt to be just noise.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE, MR. TAXPAYER

. . . between an unregulated traffic contributing nothing in state, county or local taxes, and Kentucky's $20,000,000 legalized beer industry which has paid more than $6,000,000 in taxes to the state alone during the past six years!

But occasionally some people, losing sight of this difference, would unwittingly deprive state and county treasuries of this revenue, thereby increasing their own tax burdens as well as inviting a return of the anti-social conditions resulting from unlicensed, unregulated outlets.

Through our Committee's self-regulation program, the Kentucky beer industry is cooperating with law-enforcement officials to preserve these benefits by helping maintain wholesome conditions in the retailing of beer. YOU can help by patronizing the law-abiding beer outlets in your community!

Poor posture may be directly caused by defective reasons, eyestrain, impaired hearing, or bone defects which may occur in children during adolescence. Thrusting the head forward to see better may be associated with nearsightedness. Cocking the head toward a speaker may indicate loss of hear ing, or bone defects which may indicate loss of hearing in one ear. Marked "round shoulders" may be a sign of some disease of the bones of the spine. All children should have competent and thorough physical examinations, including tests of sight and hearing, before entering school, and at regular intervals thereafter.

If the mind and the body are healthy, the will is after all, the directing factor in maintaining good posture or correcting bad posture. The feet play a very important part in body balance, as they support the entire weight of the body both in standing and in moving and hold it upright against the downward pull of gravity. The feet being the foundation of the body are very important in regard to good posture and without proper fitted shoes, weakness will develop in the muscles causing the bones of the feet to sag and throwing the whole body out of posture. You cannot have good health and unhappy feet.—Adv.

IN LOVING MEMORY

Of our sister Laura Porter Huey, who departed this life July 1, 1937.
For your Birthday, March 24th.
We who loved you sadly miss you,
As it dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of you are ever near.
From this world of pain and sorrow,
To the land of joy and rest,
God has taken our dear loved one,
To where she has found eternal rest.
On the beautiful isle of somewhere
In the heavens beyond the stars,
Peacefully resting with Jesus,
Lives that wonderful sister of ours.
Keep her, Jesus in thy keeping
Till we reach that shining shore,
Then, of Master, let us have her
And love here as we did before.

Gayety Theater News

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Fred Allen had the time of his life for one whole day while making "Love Thy Neighbor," which will be shown at the Gayety, in which he co-stars with Jack Benny. He spent the time taking pot shots at "Jack Benny and the Merry Macs" with a shotgun.

Mark Sandrich, the producer-director of the picture for Paramount, wasn't at all sure of Fred's marksmanship. Neither was Fred. The last time he had handled a shotgun was an indistinct memory from his childhood.

Fearful that the shot might go wild and injure innocent bystanders, Sandrich requested a brace of officers of the law, to stand by. Their arrival at the studio in a patrol wagon convinced everyone that finally the feud of a decade had gotten out of control. They followed the police car in droves.

Imagine their surprise when they found Fred waving a shotgun gleefully in the air, then aiming and firing like a trained marksman—at an electric sign on a theatre marquee reading, "Jack Benny and The Merry Macs," and gradually putting it out, letter by letter.

Assisting in this feud of the age, either to egg them on or keep them apart, are Mary Martin, Veree Teasdale, the Merry Macs, Virginia Dale and Rochester.

SATURDAY

Constance Bennett has solved the expensive silk stocking problem for motion picture stars. With sound stages cluttered with camera and lighting equipment and silk stockings, of the quality stars are obliged to wear, costing from three to five dollars a pair, the hose mortality rate has been costing her from $75 to $150 a picture until she started work in Columbia's "Escape To Glory," which will be shown at the Gayety with Pat O'Brien also starred.

With the aid of a sun tan lamp, Connie keeps her legs at a degree of tan that matches exactly the flesh color of sheer stocking. With a light brown crayon, she drew down the back of her leg, a line that photographed like a seam. On the screen, the effect is the same as an expensive pair of hose!

TUESDAY
(Double Feature)

An amusing slant is taken on the age-old conflict of business versus marriage in "Mexican Spitfire Out West" the latest in the hilarious "Spitfire" series starring Lupe Velez and Leon Errol.

The newest offering has to do with the efforts of a young man to land an advertising contract from an important English distiller. But, between his wife's scatterbrained escapades in Reno, where she is pretending to get a divorce, and his uncle's attempts to aid the business deal by masquerading as the British client, the advertising man's life becomes as hectic as a nightmare.

Although Baby Sandy is less than three years old, she makes her fifth screen appearance as the star of Universal's rollicking comedy film "Sandy Gets Her Man," which is one the features in the twin bill Tuesday at the Gayety, with Stuart Erwin, Una Merkel, William Frawley, Edgar Kennedy, Jack Carson, Wally Vernon and Edward Brophy.

YOUTHS ROB LUDLOW MAN

NEAR WALTON—DRESSED IN CCC UNIFORMS—CAR ABANDONED NEAR WALTON RESERVOIR.

Albert Duff of Ludlow R. 2 was taken for a "ride" early Saturday by three youths wearing CCC uniforms, two of whom were armed with revolvers.

Mr. Duff, an employee of Newport Rolling Mill, received his pay check upon completing his night's work shortly after 4 a. m. and went to a restaurant-cafe at Ninth and Brighton streets, Newport, where he had his check cashed. As he entered his auto, the victim said he was accosted by the three uniformed bandits.

"Don't get smart or we might drill you," one of the trio commanded as two of the bandits pointed revolvers at their victim.

Mr. Duff was forced to drive out the LLL highway to Nicholson, thence over No. 17 toward Walton. When about two miles from Walton, Mr. Duff was ordered to stop the car and surrender his money. The youths took $81 from the victim and then drove toward Walton.

Duff started walking to Walton and was picked up by a passing motorist. Upon reaching Walton, he reported his experience to R. E. Brugh, and James Bolington, Walton town marshals.

Marshal Brugh started a search immediately for Duff's car which was found abandoned near the Walton reservoir.

Officials checked CCC units at Walton and Georgetown and were advised by the commanding officers of the two camps that all enrollees were registered in Friday night and accounted for at their respective units.

Bradley Combs, commanding officer of the Walton camp, and Leslie Bidlack, in charge of the Georgetown unit, told police it was possible that while the bandits were clad in CCC uniforms they were no longer connected with any CCC division. The two officers explained that during the last month a number of CCC members have been released and they were permitted to retain one of their uniforms.

Logan Keith, of Florence, Ky., was a visitor in Burlington Monday morning of this week, and while here called at The Recorder office, having his subscription moved up another year.

GROUNDS TO BE BEAUTIFIED

AT BURLINGTON SCHOOL BY PLANTING SHRUBS AND TREES—P.-T. A. TO LEAD DRIVE.

The Burlington P.-T. A. Committee on Building and Grounds are making elaborate plans for a general clean up and planting of the Burlington school grounds. All patrons of the school have been asked to cooperate and help make the program a success. Letters have been sent to them by their children in school, asking them to turn out and help with the work and to donate some trees and shrubs such as they may have, to be planted under the direction of the committee.

The P.-T. A. will appreciate the help of any person or persons who are not patrons of the school or members of the P.-T. A., and will be glad to receive any contributions of shrubs or trees which would be suitable for use. It is suggested that any one wishing to make a donation of this kind to get in touch with the committee in order that the planting will fit in with the program.

The day set for work is Saturday, April 5th, if the weather permits, and if weather conditions do not permit this day to be used, the time will be April 12th.

The Parent-Teachers' Association will appreciate the help of any one who can and will come to work on that day. There will be lots of work for everyone and of a nature that will benefit the entire community. Anyone desiring to help on the above date please notify A. D. Yelton, Chairman of the Committee by postal card or telephone by calling Burlington 287 or 60, as the P.-T. A. will furnish lunch for the workers and it will be necessary to know how many will be present.

Won't you come and help?

Plans For Measuring Crop Acreages Before Planting Are Proposed

Tentative plans to be used this year for measurement of fields and parts of fields of special allotment crops such as corn, wheat, cotton and tobacco before the crops are planted have been outlined by the State AAA office and may be adopted for Boone county if premeasurement is desired by a sufficient number of farmers, Mark Cook, chairman of the Boone County Agricultural Conservation Association, announces.

Premeasurements will be made only upon request from individual farmers, Mr. Cook points out, and half of the cost of premeasurement will be borne by the farmer making the request if the plan is approved for Boone county.

According to the plan, he states, measurement or determination of acreage before planting will be final for the 1941 program if the crop is planted within the area laid out. A compliance check will be made later in the year to determine whether the farmer has planted beyond the boundaries previously established at his request.

BAD TEETH

The fact that many of the would-be soldiers have failed to pass physical exams due to faulty dental requirements, is enough of a hint to Boone County parents to give a look at Junior and check up on the child who might be undergoing discomfort rather than say "ah" to a dentist. In the case of our soldiers, duty calls for courage, but so does going to a dentist. The case of the draftee who spent 10½ hours in a dental chair one day so he could leave for a training camp the next, shows that soldiers are brave not only in the line of fire. Praise to all of them who face the electric drill willingly in order to serve their Uncle Sam.

Our youth have bad eyes and bad teeth say the examining boards and we think we have progressed so far with our school clinics, free medical and physical attention fostered on our youngsters in the public schools. This matter brings to our attention the fact that we must be more careful to guard against faulty teeth and eyes. More families are realizing the importance of having the dentist watch over the health of the child. Doctors warn the new mother of proper foods for babies to lay the ground work for good teeth. But we must strive to do better by the child for the fight is a never-dying one. Bad eyes and bad teeth they say? Ask Junior to step over here to the light.

EASY PICKING

In our great west they arrested a chap who was accused of robbing the farmers out that way, of many thousands of dollars. They invested in a machine that was called a "death-ray" contraption. There have been rumors many times that some foreign power had perfected this machine and would use it in the next war. So far there has been no indication that there was ever such a machine. But it seems that these farmers fell for the story. It caused the big business men of the financial centers to say something about 'hicks.' Of course we know that if such a death-ray machine had been invented it could have been disposed of to many a government. No sir, you couldn't get away with this hoax on the fellow doing business in the big city and who runs up against promoters all the time! You can't sell city slickers gold bricks today, you bet. But what about the big business men in an eastern state who have been defrauded of about half a million dollars in a proposition that dealt in a heatless light that sounds like "bottled sunshine?" The promoter in this instance had been getting by since 1925 with a bit of selling of paintings supposedly by the old masters. So it goes with the farmer taking the death-ray and the city slicker the bottled sunshine. It is a laugh all around.

STRANGE GOINGS-ON

'Way back in the year 1900, the he-men of the day could tote along a sack of fine-cut tobacco in their pocket without causing so much comment from the women of the house. It was man's choice and a package of "eatin'-tobacco" on the hip, was acceptable and to be freely enjoyed. It was consumed in such quantity to figure over two pounds a head a day. That was in 1900 when the fellow who used cigarettes was digging his own grave, for the chap who used those "coffin-nails" wasn't the hardy individual the chewer was. But who could hit a bull's eye with a mouthful of cigarette? 1900 was a great day for the chaw in the jaw. Only about two ounces of tobacco per person went into cigarettes that year. But then began the decline of "eatin'-tobacco" and today cigarettes have climbed to amount to four pounds a person and that is a lot of smoking in any league. But here is a fact for you old-time chewers—America consumes forty million pounds of snuff a year and this is 30 times more than in 1870! Shades of our departed ancestors!

IT'S OVERALLS

Not uniforms but overalls, is what England needs from Boone County she says. That means she needs the work of our hands, the materials of war that we produce by remaining in factories and sweating over the job. That is what we have been asked to do and we are trying to produce. A reader remarks that you plant corn one day but don't expect to eat roasting ears the next. We have been slow in getting under way, to assist England by means of our nation's overalls. But a boat, a tank, an airplane, aren't built in a day. Time is valuable and it is a real task getting the defense materials turned out as rapidly as they are required. Gearing the machinery, oiling the wheels for a speedy output does take time. The problem of striking labor is not a minor issue. But we have donned the overall and we will produce as best we can and our best has been found to be successful in the past!

DEATH TO RATS

Communities have clean-up campaigns during the spring, certain cities have put on a campaign against vice, others against dirty politics, some work campaigning for civic projects for the building up of the town. But have we ever had a campaign against rats? He is a deadly enemy and through his efforts there is disease and great loss of food and property. Perhaps we have not considered the menace great enough to extinguish it and might not have thought of it seriously but for a London bombing which brought the matter to our attention. In London, where its hiding places were destroyed, the rats sought new shelters and added fresh horror to a desperate situation. So afraid was London of disease that she is undertaking a campaign against the rat. Already some cities in our country are making a fight against him and a word at this time might be of sense right here in our home county.

CHRIST'S COMMISSION

LESSON TEXT—Luke 24:36-53.
GOLDEN TEXT—Behold, I send the promise of my Father upon you.—Luke 24:49 .

Calvary and the darkness of the tomb gave way to the glory of the resurrection morning. Jesus had appeared to the two on the Emmaus road, and when they hurried back to Jerusalem to tell the eleven disciples, who were gathered behind barred doors, they found that He had already appeared, not only to the women, whose story they did not believe (see v. 11), but also to Peter (v. 34). While they were excitedly discussing this great wonder, apparently torn between belief and unbelief, joy and sorrow, suddenly Jesus appeared, coming through the barred door and greeting them with a blessed message of peace.

I. A Risen Christ for Fellowship (vv. 36-43).

The disciples were bewildered and slow to believe. Perhaps we would have done no better.

Note how patient and gracious He was in dealing with these frightened —and, in a sense, stupid—disciples. He might have been so discouraged by their unbelief as to be short and sharp with them, but He was not. We need to learn of Him. There are weak brethren even in the church of Christ who need our tender and patient consideration (see Rom. 15:1; I Thess. 5:14). Christ died for the weak brother too (I Cor. 8:11).

What a blessed time of fellowship the disciples and the Lord had together. Such times are greatly needed for our mutual encouragement. Let us not forsake the assembling of ourselves together (Heb. 10: 25). In a day of need and trial those that fear the Lord should speak often with one another and with the Lord (Mal. 3:16; I John 1:7).

II. A Dependable Book for Guidance and Instruction (vv. 44-46).

Jesus gave His own endorsement to the Old Testament as a dependable record of the prophecies concerning His person and His work of redemption. The critics of God's Word must face the fact that their man-made theories are in conflict with the testimony of the Son of God. Of the two, we know whom we will believe!

Notice that an important part of the Lord's fellowship with His disciples was devoted to opening their minds so they could understand the Scripture. The word "opened" might be translated "disentangled." He took out the prejudices, the wrong ideas, and set them free to understand and appreciate the Scriptures.

III. A Great Message for Proclamation (vv. 47-49).

Fellowship with Christ and a knowledge of God's Word which does not result in an aggressive witness for Him is quite useless. We meet Him and learn His truth that we may carry it out to all nations, not forgetting (note it!) to begin at the wicked Jerusalem which is right at our doorstep.

The business, and the only business, of the Church is that witness. We need to renew our commission, get it clearly in mind, and then proceed to carry it out. "But," someone may say, "we are not able for this great task." Of course not; but He is able, and will enable us.

"Power from on high" is the portion of God's witnesses. This world worships power—mechanical, political or military power. The greatest power of all is spiritual power, and God is ready to give it to His faithful witnesses.

Note that the message is one of repentance and remission of sins "in His name." The gospel of Christ is the primary need of men and women, boys and girls, in your community and mine; yes, and to the very ends of the earth.

IV. An Ascended Lord to Worship (vv. 50-53).

The ascension of Christ is not often made the subject of a sermon or message in the church, but it is an important doctrine of Scripture. It marks the completion of the work of Christ, and His return to the place of honor at the right hand of the Father. There, before the Father's throne, He is the advocate of every believer, the pledge and assurance of a perfect and eternal fellowship between God and believing man.

The worship which the disciples gave to Christ as He ascended went on as they returned to their appointed place of witness, for they continually praised Him. Such should be the attitude of every true believer. In the temple of his own heart there should always be the joy of the Lord as He is there worshiped and adored.

Now we have completed our study of Luke, but we cannot stop here, for the Gospel, according to Luke's own statement in Acts 1:1, was only the story of what Jesus "began both to do and to teach." The continuation of that account is found in the book of Acts, which we begin to study next Sunday.

HISTORY—Mrs. G. E. M. suffered headaches and neckaches. Her neck ached so intensely at the base of the skull she could hardly see. Days at a time she could not get out of bed because of the severity of the pains. She read one of our ads., telling of the good work we were doing, and decided to see what we could do for her. After a very short time wearing surgical shoes, pain in the head and neck lessened till finally it disappeared entirely and she is well and happy. It is now possible for her to do her own work even when it is necessary for her to climb stepladders. Surgical shoes seemingly worked miracles for her.

COMMENT — Strain on ligaments and tendons naturally has a weakening effect upon muscles. Continued neglect of these conditions may be the cause of your aches and pains in the neck and back, and you have been unable to get relief, come in and let us see what we can do for you.

If your ankles are weak and you are constantly rolling them, surgical shoes are definitely the answer to your problem.—Adv.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

With interest in next August primary races already forming the issues at stake in the next election should be brought before the public.

Candidates for State Senator and Representative are now seeking promises of the peoples vote. So here are some of the questions they will have to legislate on if they are elected.

The State debt will be almost paid by the time they take office and when they come to legislative halls at Frankfort they will be faced with momentous decisions on which may depend the future progress of the Commonwealth.

There is much talk in Eastern Kentucky about the State income tax. Opponents of this tax claim it is driving much taxable wealth and many industries into Ohio and other States. We know of cases where this is true. Perhaps it would be a good thing to abolish the State income tax. This should be thoroughly debated and investigated at Frankfort.

The Buildings and equipment of State institutions are sadly in need or repair. They have been neglected for years in an effort to pay the State out of debt. It is a pitiful thing to see how crowded the State Asylums are and perhaps the funds should be used to operate the new building for mental patients at Herrington Lake and the repairing of all the State buildings and institutions.

President Roosevelt has said the old age assistance payments should be raised in some States. Is this true of Kentucky? Although the maximum payments were raised to $30.00 a month by the last legislature, the average is still far under $15.00.

Should part of the surplus revenue be used in giving assistance to more old people, create assistance to the ones already being aided, or to both?

Kentucky has lagged far behind on its tourist business. Other states with fewer and less well known attractions are getting more business by advertising them. Should part of the surplus funds be spent for an active, progressive, tourist and publicity bureau that will make an effort to get large numbers of tourists into the State? Or shouldn't it?

Should taxes be eased and reduced all along the line because Federal taxes must become more burdensome in order to carry the defense program?

Would a reduction in taxes bring new industries to Kentucky, new payrolls and thus more taxable wealth?

Would it be better to leave taxes where they are and help expenditures down until a surplus is built up?

Shall we make some effort to give financial assistance to the counties in debt? A number of counties are suffering because of road bonds, the revenue from which was turned over to the State. Shouldn't these counties be aided?

Will business decline after the rearmament boom, should we count on this as a natural decrease in revenue resulting and leave the tax and expenditure as it is so we can continue to be financially sound.

These are a few of the questions that face the law makers at the next session, and that is why it will be one of the most important sessions to the State's future welfare.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF UNION HOLD MEETING

The members of the Union Baptist Missionary Society held their regular monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. J. A. Fothergill. There were fifteen members present.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Kirtley McWethy, president and was opened by singing our hymn for the year "Jesus Saves Minutes of the previous meeting were then read and approved, roll called, business discussed and reports of young people's organizations heard after which we were dismissed for the noon hour with prayer by Mrs. Austin Gschwind.

At the call of our president, we assembled for the afternoon program. We sang "The Way of the Cross Leads Home," then the devotional Psalm 107:1-16, "Homes for All" was brought in a very helpful and impressive manner by Mrs. Anna Smith.

Mrs. Alma Head talked on "The Land of the Free"; Mrs. Marie Gschwind "Preserving Christian Ideals"; Mrs. Doretta Rouse, "Safeguarding Christian Liberties"; Mrs. Ruth Mason, "Speeding the Gospel in the Homeland"; Mrs. Elaine Greenup, "Speeding the Gospel to the Jew"; Mrs. Opha Bristow "Speeding the Gospel in the Mountains." The talks were all very interesting and made each one present feel our responsibility and duty to Home Mission.

We were dismissed by prayer by Mrs. McWethy.

The Society held their all-day prayer service at the church Wednesday, March 5th in observance of the week of prayer for Home Missions. A good program was rendered and many fervent prayers offered, after which a liberal offering was taken.

Frankfort, Ky., March—As the spring season goes into full swing much activity will be noted among the various 4-H Clubs of Kentucky. This organization boasts a membership of more than 43,000 boys and girls who are taught many phases of farm work and other projects as well as the value of conserving and developing the natural resources—soil, water, vegetation, minerals and wildlife—of Kentucky.

Early in 1940 the State Division of Game and Fish, the Extension service of the Department of Agriculture at the University of Kentucky and the Kentucky League of Kentucky Sportsmen, working together, conceived a 20-point conservation work plan for 4-H Club boys and girls, where by phases of conservation work such as soil erosion control, forestry, seeding crops for wildlife food, building shelters and feeding stations and learning the general habits of bird and animal life could be carried on by these farm boys and girls in the form of a contest. The student making the most points in the contest is declared the winner in the county and is sent to a state 4-H-club camp the latter part of the summer with all expenses paid by the local Game and Fish Club.

The same type of program will be conducted again this year with the Division, League, and Department of Agriculture at the University of Kentucky working closely with county agents and local sportsmen in educating the boys and girls in the necessity of conservation and development of our natural resources.

Information pertaining to the contest can be obtained from county agents or by writing Denie Gooch, president of the League of Kentucky Sportsmen, Somerset, Ky., or to the Division of Game and Fish at Frankfort.

EARLY FISHING ENJOYED BY KENTUCKY SPORTSMEN

Frankfort, Ky., March—Lack of general seasonal rains have resulted in clear streams, for the most part, throughout the state during the entire winter. This favorable stream condition coupled with unusually mild winter temperatures has sent many anglers to their favorite "fishin' hole."

With the first day of spring slated for March 21 and waters ideal for fishing, reports are already coming in to the Division of Game and Fish office here of seeing the white bass working up stream in several of the large rivers and of nice strings of newlights and bass being caught.

Reports have it that a 22-pound musky was caught in Green River recently by a Cave City angler. That is some fish for winter fishing and now it the time of the year for the fighting muskie to take to the hook. Those streams listed as containing muskie are the Kinkiconick creek; Little Sandy River; Tygarts Creek; Upper Licking River; Slate Creek; Green River; Barren River; Red River, and Drake's Creek. The muskie will strike readily not later than the middle of April. After that time this particular fish ceases activity until next fall.

The Kentucky streams, at present, are generally clear and these sun shinny days are enough of an invitation for any fisherman to get out the rod and reel and try for the members of the finny tribes.

Resident state-wide fishing license sells for $1; non-resident seven-day license sells for $1, and non-resident year license sells for $2.50. Every person, both male and female, 16 years of age or older must possess a fishing license in order to enjoy that sport in Kentucky.

A PRIZE

An attractive prize for your next party, practical and to be appreciated by either man or woman, is to arrange assorted cheeses in a box or basket. It will delight the guest and you will find it is not an expensive gift. Delicacies in the grocery line are finding a favorable spot in the gift and prize line.

BURLINGTON HOMEMAKERS

On April 8, 1941, the regular meeting of the Burlington Homemakers will be held at the courthouse in Burlington at 10:30 a. m.

The major subject for the day will be "Crocheted Rugs." Any one interested in making rugs will be sure to get some pointers, such as in braiding rugs, never have the three strips the same length, in having them different lengths it tends to make the joining much stronger. Then one learns also how to determine the first turn for the size ruge she is making, and many little details which help so much in the finished rug.

At this time of year the "Garden Lessons" and discussions are especially interesting. To learn proper ways of planting is a big help and a help also to profit by other's experiences.

Any who are interested in the planting of shrubbery will get much out of these meetings. We have a capable exterior beautification chairman who tells us when and where, how and what to plant around our homes as a foundation planting, to get best results.

A good meeting is promised. Any ladies who are interested come and bring a covered dish. A good time will be had. Remember the date, Thursday, April 3rd.

THANKS

The Florence P.-T. A. wishes to thank the cast and all those who helped make "The Gay Nineties Revue" a huge success.

A REPORT to America

The Ford Motor Company's business has always been to serve the needs of the American people. In providing them with low-cost transportation for the past 38 years, we have developed one of the country's largest and most useful industrial units. During a national emergency, we feel that these facilities should be devoted without reserve to our country's needs. Toward that end we started rolling months ago, with these results:

1 A $21,000,000 Ford airplane engine factory, started only 6 months ago, is nearly completed. Production will start with an initial order for 4,236 eighteen cylinder, air-cooled, double-row, radial engines.

2 We are building a new $800,000 Ford magnesium alloy foundry, one of the few in the country. It is already producing lightweight airplane engine castings.

3 Army reconnaissance cars — military vehicles of an entirely new type — are rolling off special Ford assembly lines at the rate of more than 600 a month. We have produced Army staff cars and bomber service trucks.

4 The government has given the "go-ahead" and work is now under way for the fast construction of an $11,000,000 Ford plant to produce bomber airframe assemblies by mass production methods.

5 Several months ago work was started, on our own initiative, on an entirely new 1500 horsepower airplane engine especially designed for mass production. This engine is now in the test stage and plans are being developed for producing it in large quantities when and if needed.

6 A Ford aircraft apprentice school has been established, to train 2000 students at a time.

That is a report of progress to date.

The experience and facilities of this company can be used to do much of the job which America now needs to get done in a hurry.

Our way of working, which avoids all possible red tape, enables us to get results and get them fast. This benefits users of our products and workers who produce them.

We are ready to make anything we know how to make, to make it to the limit of our capacity if need be, to make it as fast as we can go, and to start the next job whenever our country asks us to. And to this end, we know we have the full confidence and loyal support of the workmen throughout our plants.

TONIGHT and FRIDAY

Clark Gable, who so dislikes putting on evening clothes that he rarely is seen wearing a tuxedo or full-dress suit in private life or on the screen, had to be uncomfortably done up in tails, boiled shirt and a high silk topper throughout the entire first sequence of "Comrade X," fast-action comedy costarring Hedy Lamarr.

It was all in fun, however and Gable was able to appear in full evening regalia as he, himself would have chosen. He wore the fancy outfit in a pig truck with the duds grimy, wrinkled and rumpled as much as were some of his oilman's clothes in "Boom Town." Gable plays a daredevil American newspaperman and Miss Lamarr a Russian street car "motorman" in the fast-moving comedy.

TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY

Rosalind Russell is particular about any ring put on the third finger of her left hand.

When Director Alexander Hall asked Jack Wrenn, property man on Columbia's "This Think Called Love" set, to measure Miss Russell's finger for a ring which would be slipped on by Melvyn Douglas, her so-star in their new comedy, she informed Wrenn that it wasn't necessary, that whenever she wore a wedding ring in pictures it was her own.

The star revealed that she has one of three rings made from her grandmother's wedding ring and presented to her and two sisters by her father. She always wears it in movie scenes which require her to play the part of a wife.

DEFENSE PROGRAM RAPIDLY TAKING SHAPE

The Defense Program is fast taking shape in this trade area, and each step of the operations has been carefully followed. Through a National advertising service, we obtain complete, country-wide information concerning contracts proposed and awarded, by air mail, and such information gained affecting respective communities of our correspondents and other friends has been passed on and we will continue to advise our friends of developments which may be of interest to them.

It may be of interest to review the progress made on the major projects circling this section, with Louisville as the hub. Recent estimates report the cost of construction to be $175,000,000 and 50,000 workers employed in projects now approved.

Indiana Ordnane Works

Best known of these projects is the Indiana Ordnance Works or Powder Plant at Charlestown, Indiana—the largest in the World—which covers an area of 5,000 acres, and which is estimated to cost from $74,000,000 to $80,000,000. E. I. duPont de Nemours & Company contracted to build this plant with United States Government money, on a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee basis, and to operate it when completed. Incidentally, it speaks well of the management to report construction is two months ahead of schedule.

The present payroll is about $1,000,000 weekly, for a force of 16,000 workers, which is being increased to a peak from 20,000 to 25,000 employees. A daily output of 600,000 pounds of powder is to be the full capacity, and operations are to begin May 1, according to recent reports.

Near the Powder Plant is located the Hoosier Ordnance Works, which is under construction by the Goodyear Engineering Corporation, at an outlay of $18,000,000 and is to cover 4,500 acres. When completed, the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company will manufacture rubberized silk containers for handling and storing powder. Of the 3,500 to 4,000 permanent workers, the majority will be women seamstresses. No doubt, operations will start simultaneously or shortly after those of the Powder Plant, and information available indicates a joint payroll of $3,000,000 if operations are at capacity.

Other Indiana Projects

Adjacent to these plants and near Madison, a 60-acre tract is being converted into an Army Proving Ground for tanks and other weapons, at a cost of $15,000,000. Soldiers from the three Forts in this area, conducting the tests, will be housed and cared for in the 275 barracks, administration, hospital, and utility buildings under construction.

Just across the river from Louisville, in Jeffersonville, is located the U. S. Quartermasters Depot, operating a buying unit for large quantities of supplies needed by various Government departments. Expansion of this old operation is by the addition of sixteen immense new warehouses, which are estimated to cost $3,000,000.

At Burns City are located the Naval Munitions Depot and the Star Shell Plant, which are being constructed by the Maxon Construction Company, under the supervision of the Navy, at a reported cost of $15,000,000. Storage of explosives is the purpose of this Unit, and the major portions of the buildings are to be underground.

KENTUCKY PROJECTS
Ammonia Plant

Near Henderson is a tract of 5,000 acres, proposed for the site of a huge $11,000,000 Anhydrous Ammonia Plant, which the Allied Chemical & Dye Company will operate with a force of 500 employees. Ammonia is used in manufacturing explosives, and some element incident to its manufacture is used as fertilizer, which indicates a permanent industry for Henderson.

Fort Knox

Fort Knox, a permanent army post, is being increased tremendously by the Expansion Program, which is allocating $16,000,000 for the project. Within its 100,000 acres is a military population of 16,000, plus 4,000 civilians; the Gold Vault containing bullian valued at $8,500,000,000 and a major portion of the world's mined gold, which we are advised is being added to at short intervals, and the Headquarters of the Commander of our Mechanized Army.

The additions being made by 10,000 workmen, with a weekly payroll of $500,000 will permit an increase of military population up to 40,000 men, we are informed. The soldiers draw, weekly, a payroll of $250,000, which quickly finds its way into various trade channels. Supplies, food, and other maintenance items for the Fort, account for an expenditure of an additional $1,500,000 monthly.

Louisville Projects

Great concrete runways and hangars needed for the movement and care of giant bombers and other aircraft, together with barracks to provide housing for nearly 3,000 cadets of the air force, have been installed at Bowman Field, at a cost of $2,400,000 and an Auxiliary Airport of 500 acres on Crittenden Drive, which is to provide for any overflow and some commercial aeronautical needs, is being provided at an outlay of $1,000,000.

Preparations are under way by the J G White Engineering Company, of New York, for the construction of a huge Shipbuilding Plant on the Ohio River, at Jeffersonville, which will be operated by the Navy, and which will employ 10,000 workers. Another huge Shipbuilding Plant is to be built at South Louisville, the "Naval Ordnance Plant" for operation by the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company. Plans call for an expenditure of from $5,000,000 to $7,500,000 to provide a plant for assembling and completing gun mountings, manufactured at Charleston, West Virginia, by a force of 1,800 highly-skilled workmen, we are told. Near Shepherdsville will be located the Testing Grounds for this Unit.

A recent announcement by the Air Reduction Company concerned plans to build a 60-acre Carbide Manufacturing Plant which is to cost $1,000,000. Carbide is used for welding and other allied operations. In anticipation of heavy demands for electrical power, the Louisville Gas & Electric Company is also completing plans for an additional Steam-Generating Power Plant, which is said will cost $5,600,000.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS STUDY CITIZENSHIP

Kentucky's 43,029 4-H club members have "Citizenship" as a major subject of study this year. Health, production of food on the farm for home use, safety, the good-neighbor attitude, and life on a give rather than a get basis—all these things and more are included in being good citizens, says J. W. Whitehouse, state 4-H leader.

By producing in home gardens, in herds and flocks, most of the food required by the family, more money will be left to buy books, radios, for travel, etc. Therefore the 4-H'ers are encouraging wiser expenditure of money for the greater good of the family, in their live-at-home program.

And getting vitamins A through G may be very important to young citizens who regard health as vital to good citizenship. Boys and girls who have adequate food, exercise, sleep and right attitudes will be more alert in all respects.

In fact, it's an all-inclusive kind of program the 4-H'ers are getting this year, the State leader declares. After the world war of 1914-19, many people settled down into a negative attitude toward patriotism for their country. This program is emphasizing that, rather than trying to get something from America, the main emphasis should be on giving something to it, concludes Whitehouse.

RELATES HOW GOOD FARMER FINDS WAY TO SPEND HIS TIME

How Paul Waldrop finds ways to spend his time on his farm in Edmonson county, Kentucky, is related by George M. Kurtz, county agent. In the first place, he has spread six tons of limestone on every acre of his 200-acre farm in the past 20 years. Also he has used large quantities of phosphate

He has 20 acres of alfalfa and is planning to grow more. He has bluegrass pasture almost as good as grows in the Bluegrass region of the State. The barley acreage on his farm will be increased and the corn acreage reduced. Land that once produced only five bushels of corn to the acre now yields 50 bushels of hybrid corn. Limestone and sweet clover helped rehabilitate this land. He doesn't need such a large acreage of corn anymore, Kurtz points out.

Livestock on the Waldrop farm includes registered Angus and Hereford cattle, Southdown rams and western ewes. He buys little or no feed.

A community leader Mr. Waldrop takes an active part in the "live-at-home" program and other affairs affecting the public welfare.

It just seemed like yesterday that we were reading where Mickey Rooney was getting his first shave

It won't be long now before you can't find the porch because of the handbills.

COMMITTEES ARE ORGANIZED

IN FIVE COMMUNITIES TO STUDY TYPE OF LAND AND TYPES OF AGRICULTURE IN THEIR COMMUNITIES.

Land use planning committees have been organized in five communities, according to H. B. Drake, Assistant County Agent. Land use planning is a new program designed to coordinate the efforts of professional agricultural agencies in an attempt to affect a solution to problems farmers feel important in limiting agricultural income.

These committees started a study of type of land and types of agriculture in their own communities. They are working on the assumption that many problems vital to farmers can be traced directly to the land. Mr. Richard M. Sandefur, Assistant County Agent in Grant County, who has been conducting land use planning work there, assisted in the meetings.

Meetings will be conducted in four other communities in the near future. Committees organized to date include: Grant, L. W. Rogers chairman, Lee McNeely, vice chairman; Petersburg, Chas. W. White, chairman, J. H. Huey, vice chairman; Burlington, Hubert White, chairman, W. Carpenter, vice chairman; New Haven, S. B. Sleet, chairman, J. O. Griffith, vice chairman; Walton, Jesse Wilson, chairman, J. G. Pennington, vice chairman.

HAROLD CONNER ENTERS RACE

ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY FOR SHERIFF OF BOONE COUNTY SUBJECT TO ACTION OF DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY.

Harold, as he is known by everyone, needs no introduction to the voters of Boone County, but makes the following statement regarding the coming campaign:

"I was born and reared in Boone County, graduated from the Burlington High School and later attended the University of Kentucky. I am a charter member of the Modern Woodman of America. I am also a member of the American Legion, Boone Post No. 4 of Kentucky, which Post, with the help of the late Ben H. Riley, County Attorney at that time, I helped organize and acted as Post Adjutant for several years.

"With humble pride I point to my record as Deputy Sheriff of Boone County under my father L. A. Conner, which ended with my enlistment in the United States Army. Also, as Deputy under the late B. B. Hume, and at present, Chief Deputy under the present Sheriff Frank M. Walton.

"I am thoroughly familiar with the clerical and legal duties of the Sheriff's office, and wish to state, that Boone County has ranked second among the one hundred and twenty counties in the State for the past three years, in regard to efficiency and record keeping, and I point with pride to the part I have had, as Chief Deputy Sheriff, in establishing this record and holding it for the voters and taxpayers of Boone County.

"I am exceptionally proud of the above record and if elected Sheriff of Boone County I shall serve with dignity and emphasize the square dealing policy, for which the Sheriff's office should be known.

"I sincerely solicit the support of all the voters of Boone County and feel that my record will assure them of a capable, honest and sincere administration of office."

Health Nurse Urges Correction Of Defects In School Children

Boone County's Red Cross Nurse is working hard to get as many defects of school children corrected as possible now, so that these boys and girls may enter into the county-wide Blue Ribbon. Ribbons will be awarded at the Four-H Club Fair in August. The nurse will begin immediately checking all Blue Ribbon programs.

A county Tuberculosis X-ray Clinic for finding early cases has been discussed by county physicians and The Red Cross. This is considered a much needed piece of work for Boone County.

In reply to an inquiry sent by the Red Cross, the following message has just arrived from Dr. John B. Floyd, Director of Bureau of Tuberculosis, State Department of Health.

"To Miss Elizabeth C. Lowry,
"R. N.
"Burlington, Ky.

"We regret that it will be impossible to give field X-ray service before the next two or three months. In the meantime we hope to have the opportunity to visit you personally for a discussion of your problems."

The nurse has sent letters to all presidents of P.-T. A.'s in the county in regard to conducting Summer round-ups or pre-school clinics for children entering school next year. It is felt we are better organized to do this before school closes, and parents will have all summer for having children immunized and corrections made before school starts.

E. L. Aylor, former of Walton, has been seriously ill for the past three months at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John D. Gilpin, Russell, Ky. His condition is reported to be serious. His many friends in this county wish for him a speedy recovery.

Four-H Leaders Urged To Meet Changing Conditions

Boone County 4-H Leaders in their annual conference Saturday were encouraged by D. H. Norris, County Superintendent of Schools, to help 4-H boys and girls adjust themselves to changing world conditions. Mr. Norris in talking to the leaders stated that we have experienced a rapid rise in the standard of living and many of our youth are inclined to believe they should be able to start at the top rather than work themselves up to responsible position. He suggested that 4-H leaders could do much to correct this viewpoint.

Other local speakers on the program included John Masters, community club leader and principal of the New Haven School, and Mrs. Elizabeth Morehead, club leader of Taylorsport, who outlined many ways 4-H leaders could help their members and how members and parents could help the 4-H leader. J. F. Moore, community club leader and principal of the Grant School, led the group in recreation.

Forty leaders attended this annual event, according to H. B. Drake, Assistant County Agent. Leaders were awarded pins and certificates of service for past years of service. E. E. Fish of the State Club department attended the meeting and discussed State Club Activities.

SPECIAL MEETING SET FOR TONIGHT

PRESIDENT OF SPORTSMEN TO NAME QUAIL COMMITTEE—DISTRIBUTION TO BE MADE SATURDAY.

A special meeting of the Boone County Fish and Game Protective Association is being called for tonight, (Thursday) at 7:30 by the president, Justin Dolph. The purpose of this meeting is to select a committee from each precinct in the county to distribute the spring allotment of quail which will be received here Saturday.

Boone County's allotment this year will be materially reduced, due to the small amount of money in the treasury of State Division. However, all counties in the state will suffer in like manner. Boone's allotment this year will be 200 birds against 450 birds last year.

Due to a mild winter, sportsmen throughout the county report that this section of the state has considerable quail left, and that the 200 to be received Saturday will give us a fair amount of birds this fall, if favorable weather conditions prevail during nesting season.

Farmers and sportsmen who are interested in obtaining quail for planting are invited to attend the meeting tonight at the new club house on Burlington-Idlewild road. Applications will be received by the various representatives following their appointment by the president.

In making plans for releasing quail sportsmen and farmers should make a special effort to liberate the birds close to a permanent water supply, where there is plenty of food and cover. If these things are taken into consideration during the planting, sportsmen's efforts will be greatly rewarded this fall, by a large supply of bob white.

SPRING

A springtime of flowers, buds bombs, but still a springtime! There lie those defeated nations burying sorrow beneath blooms. For though fire and shock and roar has wrecked the home and the spirit, still the earth throws up a bloom or two. Come to England the street vendor calling their wares, the blossoms. To horrified France will appear welcome loveliness. To lift hearts in Belgium, Norway and Holland springs the buds of a scent and sweetness. A welcome sight is the bloom of spring and a needed message to this sorry globe. If only the warm glow that flowers cast on hard hearts and sceptical minds, be shed to move a Hitler or a Mussolini. May the gentleness of spring make gentler the spirit of dictatorship. How can the earth stay cold and unwelcome to the breaking through of gold and rose and heaven's blue The peacefulness of the growing bloom which sends its shoots through dark ground as it prepares itself for its new life! Comes the climb upward through darkness and dirt to sunshine and to add to the happiness and joy of a wary people. This is the new spring, the new lift, the new life and the new day. We should be grateful here in Boone County for the small, unattractive seeds which will later burst into glory. Sad would we be for no planting, harrowing, sowing, digging and sweating. Unhappy if one's effort to assist in the rebirth were to no avail, if one's land was taken from him, his health prevented cultivation. Torn apart with war, the nations of the world still sing a song in the spring. If only the streets of Europe were flooded with folk-songs of the merry souls who weave garlands to celebrate the arrival of springtime.

IT SOUNDS GOOD

There have been many parents who have objected to the types of comic strips that are read by their young. Children were treated to a series of drawings and stories dealing with kidnappings, shootings, robbery, impossible situations and fantastically impossible characters. What could the parent do when the child insisted upon buying this sort of thing One well-known newspaper eliminated such types of comics from its pages and substituted a strip dealing with historical events told in pictures and with a story-like interpretation. Then comes a new magazine for children called "True Comics." It is not like any of these 75 comic magazines that you have dreaded having your youngsters read. It is given a different editorial and subject treatto the delight of old and young. The first issue deals with history of past and present, the life of Churchill, adventures of Bolivar the liberator of South America, story of the conquest of yellow fever in Cuba, of George Rogers Clarke, of the first naval submarine, of frontier fighters, an adventure of Lowell Thomas. Parents and teachers are endorsing this magazine for its instructive and desirable reading for children. The advisory editors of the magazine include Virginia Weidler, Mickey Rooney, Shirley Temple, Gloria Jean. Another step we go in the right direction for worthwhile educational studies for young minds.

NAMED TO DIE

If radios and newspapers around Boone County were to blare forth the news that 100,000 children were marked to meet with an immediate death in a designated tragedy, consider the speed with which we would unite to fight the disaster so named. There is to be death for this number of children, only instead of hitting at one time it will spread over a ten-year period. Are we still so keen to come forth to battle or will we bide our time and take care of the matter later on? These 100,000 children are those headed for sudden death by traffic in the next ten years, and one of these children may be yours and one of the cars that strikes a child may be yours! The violent death visited upon Europe's children can be no worse. Our last year's record for auto deaths reached a total of over nine million. This is probably greater than the number of Britain's dead and injured from air raids. We pick them off here and there in our country, with motors instead of bombs. Traffic pours down the road regardless of the death-rate. A heartache is equally great, cruelty equally unforgivable, when it is able to be prevented.

—o—

YOUR PRIVILEGE

We like to be stopped on the street by a Recorder reader who comments upon certain editorials which either appealed or else caused disapproval. This is the kind of a reader to have, who will be open-minded and line up his opinion with someone else and then weigh each. A subscriber remarked that so many editors wait until they see which way the Gallup poll goes before he will come out with his sentiments. It depends upon which side has the biggest majority. We haven't gone using the editorial page for free expression, of campaigning for the home town, of citing other's beliefs. We may not see eye to eye and it is probably best that we don't. We don't mean that we are on the right side always, just because we have the advantage of expressing our side to the most people. But to be fair, to be free to discuss conditions as they seem to get the facts right, to let the reader have his own opinion and judge for himself, that is the reason for the editorial.

—o—

FROM 40 ONWARD

Men of 40 and over became resigned to the fact that it seemed to be a young man's world, at last in the employment game. It was a sorry state for man and also for employment. But one good brought by the defense industry is to prove to the man of 40 and over that he is greatly needed in industry. We seem to lack artisans, the precision workers and skilled hands who have learned their business through years of experience. They have acquired this precision by years of strain and patience, physical endurance to managing a delicate instrument with infinite care and painstaking effort. The call goes out for toolmakers, and toolmaking is one of the arts! This has taken years to accomplish and the man is no youth who has spent his life at a white-collared job. So comes the swing to the older worker in industry who has the experience of years back of him. He is beginning to take some stock in the remark that perhaps after all, "life does begin at 40."

CHRIST PROMISES POWER

LESSON TEXT—Acts 1:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me, both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.—Acts 1:8.

Important things bear repetition. Luke, who wrote both the Gospel and the Acts, presents the ascension of Christ, His promise of power, and His command to witness, at the conclusion of the Gospel and at the beginning of the Acts. "The one is all suffused with evening light; the other is radiant with the promise of a new day. The one is the record of a tender farewell; in the other, the sense of parting has almost been absorbed in the forward look to the new phase of relationship which is to begin."—(Alexander Maclaren).

I. The Proof of Christ's Resurrection (vv. 1-3).

Before telling of "the day in which he was taken up," Luke makes it clear that the ascended Christ, who had made the promise of power to His disciples, was the very one who died for our sins, but who could not be holden of death or the grave. He arose, of which there are indeed "many infallible proofs" (v. 3). At Easter time we recall the fact that leading historians and experts in the field of evidence have declared that the resurrection is the best established fact in all history.

The fact that for forty days after His resurrection Christ was among His disciples, speaking to them of the things of the kingdom of God, is significant and conclusive proof in itself.

As the indispensable dynamic of their service as His witnesses, He now assures them that they will receive power.

II. The Promise of Christ's Power (vv. 4-8).

They were to tarry in Jerusalem until the power of the Holy Ghost came upon them. This took place on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2) when the Holy Spirit came to abide. We no longer are called on to tarry for the Holy Spirit to fall on us, for the moment we believe. He comes into our lives in blessed abiding presence. But we do need to tarry, to wait for His fullness of power, before we attempt to minister for Christ. We need to yield to Him for His fullness, bringing out emptiness that He may fill us and then use us.

The disciples had an important question to ask (v. 6) regarding the restoration of the kingdom. The reply of Jesus turned their attention from that future matter to their present obligation to witness for Him and their need of power for that witness. This does not mean that His followers are to lack interest in the Kingdom which Christ will one day establish, nor that they should fail to be interested in prophecy and its fulfillment. It does clearly mean that we must leave times, seasons and dates to the Lord and be diligently about the business of witnessing for Him.

How greatly the little band of disciples needed power in that day to face a hostile, unbelieving world, sunken in bondage to Satan, and bring to it the convicting and converting message of the gospel. They received that power, and in spite of every hindrance the gospel through the centuries has made its way to the hearts of men, and won its victories for God.

We need that power today. The Holy Spirit is here to give it to us, as we yield our lives to God. There are many Spirit-empowered men and women in the Church today, but relatively their number is small. Who is ready to yield to His control now, and thus swell the host of faithful and effective witnesses?

III. The Pledge of Christ's Return (vv. 9-12).

We mentioned last week that sermons are seldom preached on the ascension of Christ, although it has an important place in the Bible. Even more glaring and disturbing is the failure of preachers and teachers to declare the truth of the second coming of Christ. The promise of it is written large on the pages of the Bible, but some men seem to ignore it.

How plain and understandable is the promise in this passage. "This Jesus"—not some other—"shall so come"; that is, personally, literally, and visibly. There is no ground here for spiritualizing, to say, for example that He comes in death, or that this was but a metaphorical expression.

The text is very plain and emphatic. In agreement, we find, among others, such texts as Luke 21: 7; John 14:3; Philippians 3:20, 21; I Thessalonians 1:7-10; I Thessalonians 4:16; II Timothy 4:8; Hebrews 9:28; Revelation 1:7. Unless we reject God's Word, we must receive this truth, and should receive it with joy, for it is the blessed hope of the Church (Titus 2:13). He is coming again!

Hitler favors changes, but one thing he is having difficulty changing and that is human nature.

So often the man who has been waiting for his ship to come in, finds it to be a receivership.

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Kitty Foyle," her current RKO Radio starring assignment, requires Ginger Rogers to work in every scene of the screen version of Christopher Morley's modern class of white collar girls.

This strenuous schedule is due to the method of telling the story—the stream-of-consciousness technique employed by Morley. Kitty Foyle "thinks" about her life and her problems, and her inner voice reminds here of her most dramatic moments. This subconscious reminiscing thus needs the presence of the subject herself.

Sam Wood, of "Goodbye Mr. Chips" fame directed "Kitty Foyle" for RKO Radio with Dennis Morgan and James Craig playing the two romantic male leads opposite Ginger.

Bryant Washburn once held Wally Reid Jr., in his arms and crooned lullabies to him when he was a baby, and now the two appear as arch enemies in the Republic serial, "King of the Royal Mounted," the first episode playing at the Gayety Saturday.

TUESDAY

The eternal search for the Most Beautiful Woman has come to an end.

As far as Paul Coze, internationally known artist and life member of the Societe Nationale des Beaux Arts, is concerned, it ended during the filming of "Lady of the Tropics," co-starring Robert Taylor and Heddy Lamarr.

Coze, who painted a portrait of Miss Lamarr for France's greatest art exhibit of the year, The Salon at the Grand Palais in Paris, declares that she is the most unusual type of beauty he has found on his world travels devoted to painting beautiful women.

Why Be Old At 40?

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S FOOT COMFORT
9th and Madison Covington

Do you have severe pains in the muscles of your legs?

Do you walk with toes pointed out?

Are you bedeviled by a thousand demons tearing at your back?

Do you hate to get up in the morning?

Do you experience foot pain when walking?

Can you be on your feet all day without fatigue?

Any or all of these conditions may indicate that one or more of the four arches of your feet are on the verge of collapse. There is really no end of the trouble that such a condition could cause. Around the bones and muscles of your feet are numerous nerves, all of which are directly connected with the nerve center. Severe pains in your feet are transmitted to every part of your body.

What can you do about it?

For years men and women have withstood the aches and misery due to some foot condition and have always decided "There is nothing you can do about it."

Now Comes a Sure Way to Relief for many aches and pains due to faulty foot condition. You will be eager to rise each morning and meet the conditions of the new day. You will have the springy active step of a youngster of eighteen. You will not be old at forty! There is no secret to it. You don't have to take a long rest, nor a change of climate. You need only to be correctly fitted in a pair of surgical shoes. You may think this is a simple way to end all of pain and misery, you have been suffering for a good many years, but after all don't the simplest things in life bring the greatest joy?

Resolve today that you will pronounce the death sentence on the misery, aches and pains due to foot trouble.—Adv.

Roof Coating made with Real Asbestos
CAREY Fibre Coating does more than cover the surface of a felt roof—it renews the life of the material. The light oils soak into the dried-out felt, thoroughly waterproofing it. The heavy oils fill up exposed cracks and form a new wearing surface. This new surface is reinforced with fibres of genuine asbestos; the wonderful mineral which is practically impervious to exposure.
Carey Fibre Coating is made for felt roofs, but it is also fine for badly worn metal roofs. One gallon covers about 50 square feet — get our money-saving prices on any quantity.

SPORTSMEN TO GIVE FISH FRY

AT NEW CLUB HOUSE TONIGHT (THURSDAY)—SPORTSMEN INVITED TO BECOME MEMBERS AT THIS MEETING.

Members of the Boone County Fish and Game Protective Association will hold their regular monthly meeting tonight Thursday) at 7:30 at the new club house on Burlington-Idlewild Road.

Fish, coffee, bread and other refreshments will be served at this meeting, according to the refreshment committee.

Several business matters are to come before the club at this meeting, and a discussion will be heard concerning a campaign for new members.

The local club has been very active in the restocking of fields and streams with birds and fish and have accomplished much in conservation work.

Club membership has been materially reduced this year, and it is requested that all sportsmen in the county attend this meeting, at which time an invitation is extended to become a member and to share in the work that is now being carried out.

Two hundred quail were distributed throughout the county over the week-end, which will increase the supply for the opening season in November.

Boone County's allotment was distributed by club members and placed where there was plenty of feed, cover and water. All birds released were apparently in the best of health and are expected to increase our supply to a large extent.

All sportsmen throughout the county are urgently requested to attend the meeting tonight. Your presence will show your interest in wildlife conservation.

HIGH QUALITY WOOL IS URGED

BY POOL MEMBERS AT MEETING HELD IN BURLINGTON MONDAY—CARE SHOULD BE USED IN HANDLING CLIP.

The Boone County Wool Pool members met Monday, April 7, at Burlington to make plans for selling the county's 1941 wool clip, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The pool went on record as making recommendations that all growers use care in handling their wool so that it may be delivered in the best marketable condition.

The following points should be stressed:

(1) The sheep should be sheared only when wool is dry and the wool should be kept dry.

(2) Operators of commercial clipping machines do not use as much care in handling wool at shearing time as did the growers who clip their own sheep. Growers are urged to be on hand at shearing time and remove tags and burrs from light burry wool before the fleece is tied up.

(3) Only paper twine should be used. Binder twine damages the quality of the wool.

(4) Straw and trash should be kept out of the fleeces at shearing time.

(5) Black, gray, seedy, dead, light burry, fleece grown and fine or Merino wool should be kept separate from the clear combing wools.

(6) Tie each fleece as soon as it is removed from the sheep. Roll the fleece carefully, with the clean, flesh side out, and with no loose ends. Roll the fleece toward the neck as compactly as possible. Tie only with paper twine.

Extension Circular No. 72 on "Handling the Wool Clip" is available at the county agent's office to all sheepmen on request.

The Boone County Wool Pool has completed more than forty years of service to Boone County farmers. The Boone County Pool is rated as the most successful of its kind in the State. Officers elected for the 1941 year are H. E. White, president; Lillard S. Scott, secretary, and the following as directors: Carlton, Lee McNeely; Grant, Lillard Scott; Petersburg, Charles Stevens; Bullittsville, Clint S. Riddell; Constance, Lloyd McGlasson; Florence, C. F. Blankenbeker; Burlington, H. E. White; Union, Alms Riley; Beaver, J. W. Conley; Walton, B. W. Franks and Verona Walter Johnson.

Growers planning to sell their wool through the pool are urged to sign up immediately with their director. Only signed up wool is eligible to be sold through the pool.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Miller, of Latonia, were visiting Dr. M. A. Yelton and family last Sunday.

PROTECT ROAD FUND SAYS CLAY

SPEAKING AT MEETING OF THE BOONE COUNTY PETROLEUM INDUSTRIES COMMITTEE AT COVINGTON.

A Good Roads Amendment to the Kentucky Constitution was suggested by Herbert L. Clay, of Louisville, Secretary of the Kentucky Petroleum Industries Committee, speaking at a meeting of the Boone County Petroleum Industries Committee in the Chamber of Commerce Building in Covington Wednesday night, April 2.

"For many years the Kentucky road fund has been the object of threatened raids, and before any such raids are successful the road fund should be protected by a constitutional amendment," Clay said.

"Gasoline taxes and motor vehicle license fees are paid by motorists in addition to general taxes solely for the purpose of building and maintaining roads, and the continued use of these taxes for road purposes should be guaranteed by constitutional provision."

The Boone County Petroleum Industries Committee meeting is one of 120 now being held in every county in Kentucky for the purpose of safe-guarding Kentucky's highway program and the interests of highway users.

The meeting was presided over by H. P. Day, Chairman of the Kenton County Committee, who pointed out that 78 percent of Kentucky's 4530 communities depend entirely on motor transportation, a greater percentage than in any other state in the union, and that Kentucky should therefore be particularly interested in promoting and fostering use of the highways.

The meeting was attended by 50 oil men.

Officers selected at the meeting to serve for the current year were: W. T. Renaker, Chairman; W. L. Kirkpatrick, Secretary; W. W. Woodward, Legislative Chairman; Lloyd Rouse, Public Relations Chairman; and Harold Martin, C. H. Clore, Frank Dusing and Jess Gillespie, Vice Chairmen.

1075 FARMERS FILE 1941 PLANS

REPRESENTS APPROXIMATELY 85 PERCENT OF LOCAL FARMERS—150 MORE EXPECTED TO FILE BEFORE APRIL 15.

Approximately 85 per cent of Boone county's farmers have filed farm plans, indicating their intention to participate in the 1941 Agricultural Conservation Program, according to a report today by Mark Cook, chairman of the Boone County Agricultural Conservation Association, who said that plans of 1075 farmers have been completed.

An additional group of 150 plans is expected to be filed by April 15, the final date for registering intention to participate in the 1941 program, Mr. Cook said. There are 1275 farmers in the county eligible to take part in the program.

Most of the plans completed are those of farmers who have ordered conservation materials through the county office, Mr. Cook said. Farmers who have not ordered these materials through the county office or who have not already reported their intention to take part in the program this year should call at the county office or report to their county or community committeemen immediately, he urged.

According to reports from the State AAA Office in Lexington, Mr. Cook stated, approximately 85,851 Kentucky farmers had completed plans through March 15. About 204,716 farmers in the State are eligible to participate in the program.

Stanley Ryle has accepted a position with Virgil Day, of Erlanger as attendant in the Standard Oil Service Station, opposite the new post office. Mr. Ryle was formerly employed by Gulley & Pettit, local grocermen.

GIVE HIM THE CHANCE

It is what you expect to find, that a child upset emotionally at home enters the school room upset mentally. Parents know that many young ones fail in school due to emotional and biological factors outside the school. We know this is a fact. A child who has trouble reading might very well have his mind dwelling on a family up-set th t is fresh in his thoughts and inte ering with his concentration on class room reading lessons. Many school failures can be traced to disruptions in the family life of the student, of disquieting conditions in the home that have left their mark on the child. Where there are brothers and sisters in the family there often comes such a feeling of rivalry and competition among the children of the house that there arises a feeling of jealousy which may lead to a failure in the schoolroom.

When we deal with the subject of education we must dwell on the subject of emotions in education. It is only logical to figure that the surroundings of the home would affect the mental attitude of the child in school. We know there aren't many homes in Boone County that send their young off to school with a handicap of upset emotions that place him at a disadvantage to start with. We are wise enough to use psychology in the rearing of the child., that they may have all in their favor to compete in the keen conflict of acquiring an education.

SPRING TOPPERS

Dame Fashions insists upon shocking men to their depths by continuing to serve the ladies with a spring line of chapeau, termed hats by the more optomistic stylists, that are many ridiculous and many grotesquo. Man is continuously thunder-struck over fashion dictates and has been hopeful that this spring he might be treated to a return of attractive and modest head gear for American women. So heated is the comment that Mrs. Roosevelt comes forth with the insistence of the right of women to exercise their individuality by feeling free to wear whatever design might choose for their heads. A lot of those hats representing a soup ladle fastened to a sink strainer by means of a bunch of carrot tops, have to be explained. So does a picture painted by a surrealist artist where you can't figure if the picture is hanging upside down or inside out. Give us beauty in the work that doesn't need explaining. The hat can act as a frame for an attractive face as the picture of sky, water, sunlight and trees is framed by its simple outline that enhances the beauty contained within it.

Now that the supreme court has handed down a decision which outlaws agreements where women's dress and hat designers can register new creations and then penalize copy of these designs, it may be that those forward and drastic patterns which sold simply because of the "exclusive" label rather than of charm and beauty, might take a back seat in the fashion picture. Now that all such radical lines might be copied for rich and poor alike, perhaps men will be treated to a return of Boone County women in pleasing, personable and plausible hats.

MAPLE SUGAR

We do a lot of talking about Americanism, these days, and there is nothing more American than the making of maple sugar. It is about this time of year that the sap of the maple begins to drip, which not only indicates spring thaws but that maple sugar is to be concocted. We were taught this process by the American Indians who had their sugar-making moon time, sugar making ceremonies for each spring when they hacked the trees with an ax and collected the sweet sap in a hollow log. To perserve our trees there is great care taken of them in order to obtain the yearly syrup. So is the sap collected, boiled down and prepared for the outside markets in sugar or syrup form. Of the ton states that produce 97 per cent of the maple sap in our country, Vermont, New York and Ohio are the first three. Many hours go into the slow cooking in the big fat black pot which hangs over the crackling fire in the woods, where man waits for the sap to thicken to the right consistency. All hail to the old American custom!

FRESH ENOUGH FOR YOU

When we see the green groceries in our local markets, we don't remember those days when it was practically impossible to buy fresh vegetables in a grocery during winter months. It wasn't so long ago that your grocer had difficulty in obtaining radishes, cauliflower, brussel sprouts and strawberries at any time expect when they were in season. When he did get them they carried quite a price on their heads! Today you can go into the neighborhood grocery stores and get almost the same fresh fruits and vegetables as when they reach your table in the summer. This is especially due to improved refrigeration, quicker transportation and many hot-houses catering to winter and early spring trade. We know that the price is slightly higher when you buy vegetables that are out of season and when you will grow them later on in your own back yard, but many housewives in Boone County are willing to cut some place else so that now and then their family can have better health and better taste with fresh vegetables.

CANCER MONTH

In the month of April each year we give special heed and publicize the nation's plea for special recognition of cancer. We dedicate this space to the importance of checking this dire disease in this country. They ask that you educate yourself to recognize cancer in its early stages that you might fight itmore easily and control it successfully. Cancer is not a hopeless case it can be cured if found in time! Dr. Clarence Little, who heads the Society for the Control of Cancer says, "impress upon the public the necessity for this program and the importance of constant vigilance in this fight for humanity, we shall be able to save many thousands of lives."

BLUE LAWS

Here is a thought for your next Sunday! In the state of Delaware there are 500 citizens answering court summons due to violating a 200-year old blue law that has been sleeping peacefully for many years and has just recently been brought to life and the notice of the public. This means that all activity must cease in the way of employment during the Sabbath, lest it concern charity and necessity. The law enforcing officer insists that the old edict either be followed or erased completely from the official records. This brought on the court summons that hit milkmen, motormen, delivery boys, employees of radio and gasoline stations, of restaurants, drug stores and newspapers, even a minister was officially criticised for broadcasting over the radio on Sunday. It has been a goodly number of years since our country was covered by blue laws in certain cities and states. They never were very popular when in their prime and from the action in Delaware we judge they haven't gained in popularity through the years.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

S. S. Lesson for April 13

CHRIST SHOWS HIMSELF ALIVE

LESSON TEXT—Luke 24:13-17, 25-35.
GOLDEN TEXT—I am he that liveth, and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for evermore.—Revelation 1:18.

Certainty and assurance — these are at the heart of our observance of Easter. We declare with Paul, "Now is Christ risen from the dead" (I Cor. 15:20), and that He is "declared to be the Son of God with power . . . by the resurrection from the dead" (Rom. 1:4). We would join the apostles who "with great power gave . . . witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus" (Acts 4:33).

Someone may say, "That's well enough for you who have faith in God, but I'm bewildered, uncertain, fearful, in a disordered world. What shall I do?" Come with us as, in our lesson, we join two men who had become bewildered, who felt that all their hopes had been crushed, that the future was only to be feared.

We join them as they walk wearily along the road from Jerusalem to Emmaus. Suddenly there is Another with the little group. Let us listen to their conversation. First we find

I. Holden Eyes and Slow Hearts (vv. 13-17, 25, 26).

The two sad men who had left Jerusalem to go to Emmaus were disciples of our Lord who had just been through the crushing experience of seeing Him crucified. Now, as the jeering mob held triumphant sway in the city, they left the dead Christ (as they supposed) in the tomb and went their way. True, there had been some reports on the morning of the third day that the women had seen Jesus alive (vv. 23, 24), but their hope and faith was at such low ebb that they could not —or did not—believe. Even when Jesus appeared to walk with them and question them, they did not know Him.

Eyes closed by unbelief; faith hindered by doubt and fear; a despondent heart slow to believe God—how very effectively these shut out the blessing of God and of His Word, even to the believer. Even deeper is the darkness in which the unbeliever finds himself. But all is not lost; there is One here who can open unseeing eyes and warm cold hearts —even Jesus.

II. Burning Hearts and Opened Eyes (vv. 26-32).

Although they did not realize it (how slow we are to appreciate our blessings!) until after He was gone (v. 32), their hearts began to burn within them as soon as He began to expound the Scriptures to them.

What a Bible exposition that was, as Christ Himself opened all that the Scriptures taught concerning Him! Bible teachers have talked about, and it makes one's heart burn just to read their suggestions (see for example Morgan on Luke, page 278). Little wonder that these men were "strangely warmed" as they listened.

The way to have a burning heart is to read God's Word or to have it expounded by a Spirit-filled teacher or preacher. Especially is there blessing in reading and studying what the sacred Book teaches about our blessed Lord.

With the heart "strangely warmed," as John Wesley described his Aldersgate experience, comes the opened eye. "They knew him" (v. 31) in the breaking of the bread. Perhaps they saw the scar in His hand, or possibly they identified a familiar gesture or something in His voice; but until their hearts were warmed they did not see. Paul knew that truth when he declared: "But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned" (I Cor. 2:14).

Some reader who has trouble believing in the resurrection will find the problem solved when he meets Christ and has his heart changed in regeneration. What follows?

III. Quickened Feet and Glad Testimony (vv. 33-35).

The seven miles (sixty furlongs, v. 13) which had passed so slowly were now quickly retraced. They had glorious good news to bring to the disciples at Jerusalem. How swift are the feet of the one who has good tidings to bear (see Rom. 10:15). One wonders why so many professed Christians are so slow about carrying His message. Can it be that they do not yet know the risen Christ? For if we know Him, surely "we do not well" to keep silent in a day of good tidings (II Kings 7:9).

Note in verse 34 that before they could speak, the others gave them the good news of the resurrection. It is proper and delightful that believers share spiritual blessings (Rom. 1:11, 12). That's why we come together in God's house.

Brother in the Lord, Christian sister, how long is it since you had a new and stirring experience of the presence of Christ? Not necessarily spectacular or exciting, but a real spiritual experience. Let's ask Him for it!

The worst part of some separations is that the neighbors can't find out the reason for the separation.

Why Suffer With Your Feet?

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEC"LE'S FOOT COMFORT
9th and Madison Covington

Our years of research have proven that foot comfort depends on foot balance.

For years men have been guessing about foot balance, putting steel supports under feet and elastic bands around feet, all sizes and shapes corn pads, plasters, callous plasters, etc. Yet people continue to suffer with their feet, legs, back and with various other aches and pains, resulting from feet in numerous cases, because they have never had their body weigh properly balanced on their feet with shoes.

Your feet may look regular to you, but, naturally you cannot detect weakness or have any way of testing for unbalance. But remember: "Fat on the ribs" is by no means an adequate criterion of physical well being.

Don't take chances, if you are suffering with leg pains, knee pains, stiffness, back aches or severe headaches, or sleep poorly and are always tired. Your feet may be the cause. Adv.

The morning of April 1 a government grader, J. E. O'Hara came to our school and demonstrated how to grade and market tobacco. He also showed how to use the printed list of prices which the governments prints during the marketing season. He showed samples of poorly graded and the best graded tobacco. He told how the grades used in manufactured cigarettes, chewing and smoking tobacco and the ground tobacco in the sack.

The F. F. A. presented a chapel program Thursday, April 3 with the upper six grades present. We opened with the opening ceremony and then raised Chester Goodridge our school principal and Mr. D. H. Norris, County school superintendent to honorary membership and presented them with a gold plated pin. The program also included committee reports, and we presented Mr. Huey with an Advisor pin. They made a brief acceptance speech and seemed to appreciate this honor. From all indications the students enjoyed the program very much.

DON'T FLY YOUR KITES

near electric wires

The best place to fly kites is in open fields—away from electric lines and busy highways.

It's better to be safe than sorry. Follow these safety suggestions and avoid possible injury:

1. Don't use wire, metallic or wet kite strings.
2. Don't use metal kite sticks.
3. Don't try to rescue kites from electric wires by using long sticks or climbing poles.
4. Don't try to jerk your kite from an electric wire by pulling on the tail or string.

If you see a kite caught in electric wires, call our office. We know how to remove kites without endangering anyone or causing an interruption to electric service.

HOMEMAKERS' NEWS

"Your major project in home improvement is an important part of your 'Live at Home' program," Miss Vivian Curnutt, specialist from the University of Kentucky, said to leaders representing Boone County Homemakers clubs at their meeting at the courthouse in Burlington last Tuesday. She pointed to the fact that in the "Rug Making" project discarded materials may become beautiful and useful additions to the home.

The lesson this month was "Crocheted rugs"—the fourth in a series Miss Curnutt is conducting for the Homemakers. Fifteen leaders were present representing clubs at Bullittsville, Burlington, Constance, Florence, Grant, Hebron, New Haven, Petersburg, Taylorsport and Walton. The meeting began at 10:00 a. m. and continued into the afternoon. Interest was shown as each leader work to learn by application the suggestions given for the successful making of crocheted rugs. The leaders will present the instructions at meetings of local clubs this month.

The Burlington Homemakers met on Thursday, April 3 at the courthouse. There were twenty-four present, counting two new members, whom the ladies were glad to welcome.

The County president, Mrs. Kottmeyer, visited with us at this meeting. She talked to us about the district meeting to be held in Maysville on April 20, also told of the library facilities the club is to have. The Homemakers, we were told, have as part of their program National Defense on the Home Front. The county president told of the many things this covered

Our garden lesson was good, and after having had it, no one should have wilting or dying cucumber vines or bean beetles in the garden.

The exterior beautification chairman had as her topic, "The Prunning of Shrubbery." At this time of the year one is interested in knowing how to do this—there is a right and wrong way to prune, even the smallest bush. To get the pretties and most natural effects, bushes should be pruned accordingly.

The citizenship chairman asked for the cooperation of the ladies in cleaning up and planting the local school grounds. The work is to begin on Saturday, April 5th. All help on that day will be appreciated.

At this point the meeting adjourned for lunch.

After a covered dish luncheon, the meeting was resumed, the roll was called and Mrs. Snyder appointed as Reading chairman. A vote was taken for the Major Project for the next term, but the subject is not decided upon until the Advisory Council meets and votes.

Mrs. Riley in the absence of the project leader gave the lesson which was on Crochet Rugs. The lesson was very interesting and the women seemed quite anxious to learn; all seemed to get busy and practice, and we had very able teachers.

Don't forget the date of the District meeting April 20th, at Maysville.

Reservations must be made by the 23rd for luncheon as well as for transportation. There is still time to file applications for mattresses.

Come out to the next meeting, one is assured of time profitably spent.

SATURDAY

Scenes with snakes and alligators didn't phase Jane Withers during the filming of her latest starring picture for 20th Century-Fox "Youth Will Be Served." But, when romance crept into the script Jane's composure fled.

Jane was required to do a scene in a jungle which was to suggest a budding romantic interest in Joe Brown, Jr., but her blushes and giggles caused several retakes.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Fred Astaire dropped a total of eleven pounds by the time he finished his strenuous routines in Paramount's "Second Chorus," co-starring Paulette Goddard.

The famous dancer's doctor advised him to go on a weight-adding diet and recommended golf and plenty of sleep. That golf wasn't hard to take at all, for it is one of Astaire's favorite diversions.

TUESDAY

Double Feature

An innovation, unusual in the art of motion picture making, was introduced by W. C. Fields, the star during the production of his latest comedy, Universal's "The Bank Dick."

Working in collaboration with his director, Eddie Cline, Fields drew sketches of the action of each scene before it went before the camera, and indicated his movements as the scene would be played. The plan proved very successful in getting the most out of the many comedy sequences the production contains.

Movie crews work fast! Recently, in the space of less than 3 hours a crew changed a rich barley field into an airport.

During the filming of "Charter Pilot," 20th Century-Fox picture starring Lloyd Nolan, a company arrived on location at Rancho Santa Anita, Cal., and discovered that the field chosen several months before was now covered with barley.

Because the field was supposed to represent an airport at Rico, Honduras, the barley was strictly "out of character." But with the aid of two mowing machines and road equipment, the crew cut the barley and levelled the field so that Paul Mantz, noted movie stunt pilot could land a tri-motored plane.

"IF A MAN DIE"

"If a man die, shall he live again?" Nature proves that death in the autumn is not the end of beauty and loveliness, that there shall be the springtime for the resurrection.

Christ lived among men, suffered upon a cross for men and passed his way in faith that this was only the beginning for men. His resurrection on the Easter morn brings the hope for eternal life, the greatest lesson today for Europe, Asia, Africa, in its truth that death has never won a lasting victory. Where death buries joy, faith and love beneath teaching of hate and selfishness, likewise does the stern winds of autumn blow and toss to wither and kill the life that once bloomed in natural glory. But the sun and warmth of spring brings to birth the new blooms that grace our lives and renew our vision. Comes the plant to show the vision of life after death.

The resurrection and the rebirth comes to all men and to all nations whether they have been stamped upon the heel of dictatorship and withered by the cold breath of a beast who trods out their life. There is the crack of the whip and the slave bows his back to the will of the master, he cringes and grovels with his spirit more crushed and beaten than his body. The citizen is perhaps bent under the burden of taxation, trouble between labor and capital, unrest among his neighbors, war between nations. But comes the lifting of the whip hand, the sting ceases while the wound heals. The man stands physically and mentally erect and plans his life anew. He triumphs after his death for he is resurrected and begins living again. He believes in ilfe after darkness for he has come through to see the light and regained his spirit and aspires for the next day.

The prayer for peace and gentleness that falls on our community this Easter is our sign, our aim and an omen to the world's people. With the picture of Christ upon the cross comes the picture of a garden as proof indeed of rebirth in nature. There comes the picture of the mother Mary that typifies new life for mankind, and there shines the lily to illustrate glory and purity. This is our hope for Easter morn.
